GERMAN SURRENDER SEALED IN BERLIN

VINSON LIFTS MIDNIGHT CURFEW AND BAR AGAINST RACING

VIRGINIA IRWIN EXPLORES BERLIN UP TO THE FIRING LINE

TAVERNS, CLUBS TO STAY OPEN TILL 1:30; FAIRMOUNT PLANS TO RESUME

30-Day Meeting Slated to Start May 26—'Setup' Liquor Places to Close at 4 or 5 A. M. — 'Brown-Out' Ends.

St. Louis taverns and night clubs will resume normal operation tonight, and the Fairmount Jockey Club plans to open a 30-day meet on May 26, as the result of a Government order immediately lifting the midnight entertainment curfew and the prohibition of horse and dog racing.

Most bars will remain open until 1:30 a. m., the closing hour set by state law, the St. Louis Tavern Operators' Association announced. Night clubs which operated as "setup" establishments until 4 or 5 a. m. before the curfew became effective last Feb. 26 also will go back to their old schedule.

Chase Changes Show Times.

St. Louis night clubs lost no time in acting on Government permission to resume late hours. The Chase Club, which has been presenting floor shows at 8 and 10:30 p. m. in order to meet midnight curfew regulations, is resuming its 9 and 11 p. m show schedule.

Club Plantation announced return to its 5 a. m. closing hour; the Village Barn will stay open until 4 a. m.

Hotel Jefferson's Club Continental will present its early show at 8:30 p. m. as usual, but its late show will begin at 11:30 o'clock, an hour later than the curfew schedule.

At the Park Plaza Hotel, music will be stopped in the Merry-Go-Round at 1:30 and in the Crystal Terrace at 1:15. Floor shows will be at 8:30 and 11:30 o'clock in the Crystal Terrace.

Restaurants which had discontinued sale of liquor at midnight also announced resumption of normal operation.

In lifting the bar on race meets, Fred M. Vinson, Director of War Mobilization and Reconversion, announced in Washington that his order did not affect restrictions

POST-DISPATCH REPORTER STOPPED BY GUNFIRE IN HEART OF NAZI CAPITAL

Describes Jeep Ride in Smoking City as Russians Comb Out Snipers—German Civilians in Terror; Reds Show No Mercy After Leningrad, Stalingrad.

By VIRGINIA IRWIN
A War Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

This is the second of a series of three on-the-spot reports from Berlin by Miss Irwin, one of the first three Americans to enter the Nazi capital while the battle was still on. The third of the reports will be published tomorrow.

(Copyright, 1945, by the Pulitzer Publishing Co.)

BERLIN, April 28.—I almost had a jeep ride down the Unter den Linden today. After repeated attempts to reach the center of the city, I finally stopped at a Russian infantry command post about 200 yards north of the intersection of the Tempelhofstrasse and Eberstrasse.

To have gone farther than this command post on the northern boundary of the Schoeneberg section of the city would have been suicide. Russian artillery was laying down a merciless barrage on the heart of Berlin. Snipers were everywhere on rooftops, in sewers, and behind road blocks that had been thrown up at all main intersections.

The last 16 blocks that stand between me and the Unter den Linden are too hot to navigate.

With me here in Berlin are Andy Tully, reporter for the Boston Traveler and jeep driver Johnny Wilson. We are the only three Americans here, and even the Russians think we are slightly mad to have dared the trip from Torgau on the Elbe through the Russian lines.

Almost Up to the Firing Line.

It is now about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. We have spent the day probing the main highways that lead into the heart of the city. On our first three tries we were turned back after running into pitched battles.

On the fourth try, we penetrated to within 10 blocks of the Wilhelmstrasse. To get there we drove north, up the Berlinerstrasse, turned left on a Ringbahn near the Templehof and then took a sharp right turn down the Sachsendamm to the Innsbrueckerplatz. There we took another right turn and edged our way about 200 yards down the Eberstrasse to the Russian command post.

The Russians are fighting madly and doggedly beyond this point.

As each block is cleared of organized resistance, there still remains the job of fine-combing the buildings for snipers. The crack of small-arms fire is everywhere. German dead still lie in the streets.

This section of Berlin is not so badly damaged as I had expected it to be. There are still plenty of houses and buildings that remain intact to provide good hiding places and snipers. The few German civilians that have remained are in a state of abject and shivering terror. They know that for them the least suspicion of sniping means death.

The sight of our crude Russian-made American flag from our jeep brings all German civilians running.

'When Will Americans Be Here?'

"When will the Americans be here?" is their one question.

Several Germans who spoke English have begged for the answer and it has given me considerable pleasure to reply: "The Americans will not be here. Berlin belongs to the Russians."

At this command post today we were told that somewhere in this section were two American flyers who had escaped from a prison camp and were fighting with the Russians. We spent about an hour trying to find them, but it was no use—hunting anybody in Berlin is like trying to find a dime on the bottom of the Atlantic.

At one point we thought we were within reach of them. We found a German woman who spoke English, but she was too frightened to be coherent and when we tried to follow her directions we were hopelessly lost.

This German woman tried to tell us how the Russians were treating the civilians in Berlin, but we paused only long enough to get the information about the American flyers. For us to be seen talking to a German behind the Russian lines might easily have meant death for us.

One look at this German woman told more than she could have said in words. There were circles under her eyes so deep and dark that they might have been etched there with lamp black. She shivered like some one with the ague.

Russians Show No Mercy.

The Russians have shown no mercy. They have played the perfect game of tit-for-tat. They have done to Berlin what the German Army did to Leningrad and Stalingrad.

Last night in the artillery command post where we three Yanks were guests of the Russian Guards—Maj. Nikolai Kovaleski, I heard from Russian officers the staggering numbers of Russian civilians killed in the battles of Smolensk, Sevastopol, Leningrad and Stalingrad; and as they talked the Russian artillery boomed the revenge of these cities.

Last night was a fantastic night. The artillery barrage went almost all night long. Between rounds there were unearthly sounds—the cracking of machine-gun fire tearing the night, the rumbling sounds of great buildings collapsing under the battering of the artillery barrage.

But in the guard-major's command post there was a great celebration. By the time the great feast was over, we had established beyond doubt in the guard-major's mind that we were not spies, but only three foolhardy Yanks who had taken our lives

PLANS TO INVADE JAPAN STARTED, NIMITZ SAYS; AIR BLOWS BIG FACTOR

26 U. S. Light Ships Lost in Okinawa Campaign, Admiral Discloses — 3000 Jap Planes Destroyed in Ryukyus.

By ROBBIN COONS

GUAM, May 9 (AP).—Twenty-six minor United States fleet units, ranking from ammunition ships to landing craft, have been sunk by Japanese aerial attacks during the Okinawa operation "but these losses have not slowed up the Pacific campaign," Adm. Chester W. Nimitiz said today.

"I don't think the results they (the Japanese) are achieving compensate for the losses they are taking," the Admiral told correspondents at a press conference. Some 3000 enemy aircraft have been destroyed since start of the Ryukyus campaign March 1.

"They know how Germany has been devastated, whole cities wrecked and industries pounded into the ground," Nimitz said. "If they can see the handwriting on the wall . . . they know what is in store."

But the American high command is not looking for surrender now.

"It is necessary for us to go ahead on the assumption that it will be necessary for us to invade Japan," Nimitz continued, adding that such plans are in the making.

He gave no hint of where the next blows may fall, calling the future "a wide open book."

"Whatever shows the best prospects for bringing the Japanese to unconditional surrender will be done," he told the correspondents. "There is no part of Japan that cannot be reached by carrier aircraft. That is significant."

No Change on Okinawa.

In a communique issued just prior to his press conference, Nimitz reported there were no substantial changes in ground positions on Okinawa, due largely to adverse weather conditions. Heavy battleships and cruisers, however, heavily bombarded the enemy for the second successive day Tuesday.

Nimitz told correspondents there isn't enough of the Japanese fleet left to oppose either the American or British Pacific fleets in a major action.

He also said the British had been invaluable in protecting the southern Okinawa flank from attack from Formosa, adding that it had taken the British "remarkably little time" to adapt themselves to American fleet practice.

Nimitz described Okinawa as the largest and closest "rung in the island ladder approach to Japan," and said Japan's expenditure of its remaining air forces in persistent suicide attacks on American shipping off the island is proof it regards Okinawa as highly important and is "making sacrifices to defeat us there."

"I hope they are shooting the

Goering and Kesserling Caught By Yanks; Quisling Jailed in Norway

Reichsmarshal Says He Escaped After Hitler Ordered His Death for Suggesting Surrender.

PARIS, May 9 (AP).—Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering, Field Marshal Albert Kesselring and Gen. Ritter von Epp, one of the original Nazis, have been taken in custody by United States Seventh Army troops, and reports from Oslo disclose that puppet Premier Vidkun Quisling has been arrested by Norwegian authorities.

German Lt. Gen. Berger of the Waffen S. S. also is in the hands of the Seventh Army, a dispatch from Sixth Army Group headquarters reported.

The Oslo dispatch said it had been reported by Germans that Josef Terboven, German commissioner in Norway, and S. S. Gen. Rediess of the occupation forces there had committed suicide.

Goering's Story.

The capture of Goering and Kesselring was announced in a Sixth Army Group statement, which said:

"The Sixth Army Group headquarters announces that Hermann Goering, Reichs Air Marshal, and Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, commander in chief of the Western Front since early March, are now in custody of Lt. Gen. A. M. Patch's Seventh Army. Goering, who had been Hitler's right-hand man, and supposed successor to the Fuehrer, said he had been condemned to death by Hitler for suggesting on April 24 that he take over. He declared he had been arrested by S. S. troops, but was rescued by members of his Luftwaffe."

Goering's wife and child were taken into custody with him.

Kesselring was the last German commander in chief on the Western Front. He was shifted from Italy to succeed Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt, captured earlier by the Seventh Army.

GOERING SEEMS AT EASE, TALKS FREELY

By A. I. GOLDBERG

SIXTH ARMY GROUP HEADQUARTERS, May 9 (AP).—Hermann Goering was captured last night by the American Seventh Army and declared today that he had been arrested by the Germans on orders of Hitler because he wanted to conclude a surrender.

Goering said he was seized by the Germans on April 27, held at Berchtesgaden and ordered executed. He last saw Hitler on April 22 in Berlin, he asserted. He said he believed Hitler died on April 27 or 28.

Goering surrendered personally to Brig. Gen. Robert Stack, assistant commander of the Thirty-sixth (Texas) Division, on a road east of Kitzbuehel last night. He, Mrs. Goering and their child also appeared to be in good health, although his wife cried frequently.

Driven in Own Car.

Shortly after noon today, Goering's Mercedes Benz automobile, driven by his own chauffeur, a Lt. Schultz, swung into a hotel driveway as one unit of a motor procession and the pudgy and immaculately dressed Marshal of Germany's vanished Luftwaffe stepped out.

From a United States car at the head of the procession, Gen. Stack emerged. He and Goering went to the second floor of the building to await the arrival of Maj. Gen. John E. Dahlquist, divisional commander.

Goering was accompanied by his aide, Col. Berndt Brauchitsch, son of a German General. The Colonel had come from Goering's hideaway three days ago with a

ZHUKOV SAYS EISENHOWER IS 'ONE OF THE GREATEST GENERALS OF ALL TIME'

BERLIN, May 9 (AP).

MARSHAL GREGORY K. ZHUKOV, deputy commander in chief of Russian forces, praised Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today as "one of the greatest generals of all time, and one of America's outstanding sons."

Zhukov, who turned back the Germans at Moscow and led troops capturing Berlin, spoke of Eisenhower during a banquet in the same room where the surrender documents had been signed a while earlier.

SHAEF 'FIASCO' IN HANDLING OF SURRENDER STORY

Bungling Charged — Virginia Irwin, Andy Tully Disaccredited for Getting to Berlin.

THE following dispatch by Raymond Daniell of the New York Times was made available to the Associated Press by the Times.

PARIS, May 8.—The dawn of peace in Europe found SHAEF press relations officers in a state of open war with newspaper correspondents. For the manner in which the last big story of this war was covered for the American people under the direction of Brig. Gen. Frank Allen can only be described as one of the greatest fiascos in a long history of blundering bureaucracy.

And so, while mobs outside the Hotel Scribe, which is SHAEF press headquarters, shouted themselves hoarse in the streets, correspondents were losing their voices too in angry meetings trying to "whereas" Gen. Allen into limbo and squabbling among themselves over what punishment should be meted out to those among them who had violated the rules and

STALIN ORDERS 1000-GUN SALUTE TO MARK VICTORY

Proclaims Germany's Capitulation in Final Order of Day and Broadcast to People.

LONDON, May 9 (AP).—Premier-Marshal Stalin tonight issued his final order of the day to the Red Army and Navy personally proclaiming the unconditional surrender of Germany, and ordered a triumph salute of 30 salvos from 1000 Moscow guns.

Climaxing a great day of celebration in the Soviet Union, the order followed shortly after Stalin himself broadcast to the Russian people, and declared Germany's final act of surrender in Berlin "is not only a piece of paper" but a "true capitulation of Germany" forced "to her knees by the Red Army and by the troops of our Allies."

Still earlier, he announced the liberation of Prague and for that ordered a salute of 24 salvos from 324 guns, the maximum for any single victory until the thundering ovation from 1000 guns to mark the war's end.

His final order of the day to Soviet fighting men said:

"I congratulate you on the vic-

'Glad to Get Rid of Damn Nazis,' Eisenhower Said After Surrender

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP).—Among 17 correspondents who were in the school room at Reims and watched the Germans sign the documents of unconditional surrender early Monday was one woman, Margaret Ecker of Vancouver, war correspondent for the Canadian Press.

In a broadcast from Paris yesterday she said Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's first words after he dismissed the Nazi emissaries were:

"I'll certainly be glad to get rid of those damn Germans."

Miss Ecker added that the signing was "probably the most impressive thing I have ever seen, or perhaps ever will see."

"We found it awfully hard to believe that those ordinary sheets of paper passing from hand to hand were really the surrender and the end of the war which has devastated the lives of our generation," she said.

Miss Ecker related that the German officers appeared arrogant when they began the negotiations, but were "very subdued" when the ceremonies ended.

Bill Shadell Columbia Broadcasting System correspondent, reported that Gen. Omar Bradley, commander of the United States Twelfth Army Group, was awakened in the early dawn Monday by a telephone call from Eisenhower. According to Shadell, the conversation ran like this:

"Brad?" the chief asked.

"Yes," Bradley answered.

"Well, I've put it over. The surrender will be effective one minute after midnight on Tuesday night."

Bradley promptly began calling his four army commanders to tell them the news. Because Gen. George E. Patton's Third Army was advancing in an attack through Austria and Czechoslovakia, he was the first to be notified, Shadell said.

"Get word to all your units and stop them in place," Bradley told him. "No sense in taking casualties now that it's over."

HITLER'S CHIEFS OF ALL MILITARY SERVICES SIGN BEFORE ZHUKOV

Ratification Ceremony Held at Headquarters of Soviet Marshal — Keitel Is Arrogant to the Last.

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG JR.
For the Combined Allied Press.

BERLIN, May 9 (AP). — The final seal was set on the Wehrmacht's defeat and humiliation before the world early this morning by Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, titular head of the once proud German high command.

Brought to Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's headquarters in the devastated German capital, he signed the formal ratification of Germany's unconditional surrender.

I witnessed the signature in the large white-washed hall of an army technical school in the eastern residential suburb of Karlshorst, now used by Zhukov as his headquarters.

The document was more or less identical in terms to that signed at Reims on Monday morning, with certain additions requested by the Russians defining more closely the details of the surrender of German troops and equipment.

On the Allied side it was signed by Marshal Zhukov for the Russians and by Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder on behalf of Gen Dwight D. Eisenhower and was witnessed by Gen. Carl Spaatz and Gen. Jean de Lattre de Tassigny. On the German side Keitel, as Oberkommando der Wehrmacht, signed together with Adm. Georg von Friedeburg, commander in chief of the German Navy, and Col. Gen. Paul Stumpff, commander in chief of the Luftwaffe.

Keitel Arrogant.

With signatures of the heads of all the German armed forces appended, this historic document forestalls forever any future German claim that the German Army ended the war unbeaten.

Keitel, a tall, haughty and gray-haired figure wearing the full dress uniform and red striped pants of a German Field Marshal, maintained his Prussian arrogance to the end.

After his signature already had been appended to the document and while the Allied chiefs were signing, Keitel made a last-minute attempt to play for time. He beckoned the Russian interpreter to him and began haranguing him, bitterly protesting there was insufficient time to notify the forces under his command of minor modifications in the capitulation text and asking for another 24 hours grace before it became effective.

"I insist you go to the Colonel-General—I mean Marshal Zhukov

JAPAN'S 'IMMINENT DOOM' FORECAST BY EISENHOWER; SPECULATION ABOUT RUSSIA

PARIS, May 9 (AP).

HOSTILITIES in Europe ended, American, British and Canadian soldiers already are talking about the job of defeating Japan.

"Imminent doom" was predicted for Japan by Gen. Eisenhower, who has 90 divisions to send into the Pacific war if the Allies decide to hit Japan with everything in the book.

The two questions being asked on all sides are:

1. "Will Russia declare war on Japan?"

2. "What will be Eisenhower's role in the Pacific?"

Dispatches from the Pacific report a belief prevalent around Gen. MacArthur's headquarters that Russia's entry would enable the Allies to smash Japan within two months.

(Editor's note: The above is the same, except for a few extra clauses insisted on by the Russians and the names of the signers, as the surrender agreement signed on May 7 at Reims.)

VICTORY BELONGS TO ALL WHO DID DUTY, EISENHOWER SAYS

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP).—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said today the victory in Europe belongs to every citizen of the United Nations "who has done his or her duty whether in uniform or in civilian life."

The Allied Supreme Commander made the statement in acknowledging a message of cangratulations and praise from Secretary of War Stimson. His message stated:

"To have my own performance of duty so signally approved by the head of the War Department and by one whose wisdom, courage and determinatio I hold in such unbounded respect will be to me for the rest of my life a source of deepest satisfaction."

SHAEF 'Fiasco' on Reims Surrender Story Disclosed

regulations prescribed for their behavior by the Army.

Resolutions of protest were a dime a dozen in the lobby all day yesterday and today and credentials were being lifted and restored at such a pace that when one newspaperman met another, instead of commenting on the weather, they were more likely to ask: "Are you still accredited?"

In the Dog House.

The Associated Press was very much in the dog house for spilling the beans prematurely in alleged violation of censorship and the most solemn agreements. For most of the day its whole staff was "suspended" and forbidden to attend any briefings or to send even messages to the New York office explaining this sudden and unaccustomed silence.

The A. P. correspondents were reinstated, however, before the official announcement that the war was over—all of them that is, except Edward Kennedy, their bureau manager, who made no bones about the fact that it was he who evolved the method which Army intelligence is still investigating for beating the gun on the surrender story.

The Associated Press staff was not alone in the doghouse. There were other correspondents in there, too, for having visited Berlin and writing about what they saw in the Russian zone of occupation without official SHAEF chaperonage.

Editor's Note: These correspondents were Virginia Irwin of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and Andy Tully of the Boston Traveler, whose stories of their trip to Berlin on April 27-28 are now being published in the United States. Miss Irwin and Tully were suspended for a week and their articles were held up for eight days by the censor. Yesterday the censor finally released their stories after admitting that no security violation was involved. Then Miss Irwin and Tully were disaccredited. They are returning home immediately.

Gen. Allen Under Fire.

The correspondents themselves were building their own doghouse to house only Gen. Allen, who so arranged things that out of 15 places for correspondents at the signing of the surrender, only three went to American newspaper agencies, and not one individual newspaper was represented legally, although space was found for four American broadcasters.

As the aftermath of that, the correspondents held an indignation meeting this morning at the Scribe, and Charles Wertenbaker of Time introduced a resolution which was seconded by Drew Middleton of the New York Times, declaring that reporters at SHAEF no longer had the slightest degree of confidence in the Public Relations Division of SHAEF or in its director, Gen. Allen. However, action on this resolution finally was deferred.

Gen. Allen defended himself on the ground that the Anglo-American Press Committee had approved the list of correspondents who were admitted to the room where the surrender took place.

There were two things wrong about that, however. The first was that the American correspondents upon whom the list had been imposed by the Army last December had made reservations in writing.

And another was that the plan that was used for the surrender story had been drawn up originally for an entry into Berlin, which was quite a different matter, because that was a story that could be covered in phases. In other words, if only a few correspondents could have been landed in Berlin the first day, others could have been sent in overland soon afterward.

Dieppe Agreement Scrapped.

The correspondents never liked the Army's plan, but they accepted it with reservations. What made them especially angry, however, was the fact that when the time came for surrender, it was the Army's plan for coverage in Berlin that was adopted instead of an order of precedence drawn up at Dieppe by the newspaper representatives and followed ever since until last Sunday night by the Army where space was limited.

So, at Reims last Sunday night, when the Germans signed on the dotted line, the only American newspaper witnesses present were representatives of International News Service, the United Press and the Associated Press, except for Price Day of the Baltimore Sun, who won his place by the flip of a coin after the British Exchange Telegraph Agency representative decided that he had a prior engagement.

To even things up, after it was pointed out to him that Day's presence put other representatives of newspapers behind the eight ball, Gen. Allen ruled that Day could write his report for Exchange Telegraph in London but not for his own American newspaper. Later this edict, like most of the others that have been issued by the SHAEF public relations office, was retracted, and Day was able to file his own story to his own paper and pay the cable tolls. Otherwise Exchange Telegraph in London would have had to do this for him and bill his office.

Preliminary Fumbling.

These are just a few examples of the conditions that have prevailed at SHAEF Public Relations Division since the Germans first made gestures of surrender last Friday. First, it was decided that two public relations officers, one British and the other American, would serve as observers for the entire world press. That was given up as a bad idea and a hand-picked group of the Army's choosing was selected to witness and report the historic event.

This consisted of four American radio broadcasters and three wire service representatives from the United States. All the rest were British, French or Australians. The last named were included on express orders from London, a SHAEF spokesman said.

BRIG. GEN. FRANK ALLEN Director of SHAEF's Public Relations Division.

When the allocations were criticised, Capt. Harry Butcher, Gen. Eisenhower's seagoing aide who used to be an executive of the Columbia Broadcasting System, said he had no intention of debating decisions already made. Then, when Lieut. Gen. Frederick E. Morgan came along and found representatives of most of America's great newspapers standing on the sidewalk, he said it was a disgrace and he would see to it that something was done.

Chased Away by Allen.

The British General was a man of his word. In a few minutes M. P.s came out of the schoolhouse where the surrender was signed and ordered all except five of the correspondents to get into jeeps and "get the hell out of there."

Later it was learned that Gen. Morgan went to Gen. Allen and said it was disgraceful to keep the cream of British and American journalism outside, and Gen. Allen interpreted that to mean that he wanted them chased away instead of admitted to the proceedings.

That is not all. The five who were spared and permitted to hold their vigil on the sidewalk were five, including this correspondent, whom Gen. Allen named arbitrarily as those with whom he would treat on the whole question of coverage.

But this committee never did see the chief of the SHAEF's press section until it was all over, and then he apologized, saying there was nothing "personal" about the obvious bungle. Then he admitted that his governing thought on coverage was to restrict the number of correspondents present to a minimum.

General's Explanation.

Space was limited in the room where the surrender occurred, he said, but he conceded that even at that, with all the 20-odd girls and other friends who were admitted, there was still room for another half-dozen correspondents, but unfortunately he had completely forgotten the deputation waiting outside. Anyway, he said, to admit five more would have been merely to decrease the number of those who were sore, although there were only nine men and women left outside in Reims.

Then came the aftermath. One of those privileged princes of the press who had been taken to the scene of the surrender strayed off the reservation. This was Kennedy of the Associated Press, who says he thought the American people had such a right to know what was going on that he was willing to risk SHAEF disciplinary action for the sake of being first to tell them.

So tonight he is disaccredited and the story that he got out before the release time is being held up here, although it has been printed in every language, including the Scandinavian, already.

Besides that, his telephone in the Hotel Scribe is disconnected, and he has to go to a neighbor's room every time he wants to call his floor waiter.

Question of Ethics.

Meanwhile, there is a spirited row going on between the correspondents and their Army shepherds, and among the correspondents themselves, over such issues as freedom of the press and the ethics of journalism.

Kennedy says he never promised to keep his mouth shut until it was opened officially and that, instead of being ashamed for violating a fundamental tenet in journalism's code of ethics, he is proud of what he did.

His fellow-correspondents, however, take a different view. With two exceptions, they voted today to send a letter to Gen. Eisenhower denouncing his behavior and that of his organization. These working newspapermen and women rejected the idea that in this instance the Army was jeopardizing freedom of the press, and held that Kennedy's action and that of the Associated Press in distributing the story throughout Europe before the release time that had been agreed upon not only put a premium on dishonesty but also put a brake upon free coverage of historic events in the Europe of the future.

As for the ethics of what has happened, there is the testimony of Boyd Lewis of the United Press, a competing organization, it is true, but whose story is confirmed by others in the official party to witness the surrender.

Story of Pledge on Plane.

Lewis says that in the plane on the way to Reims, Gen. Allen briefed all correspondents, and that Kennedy took notes. He quoted Gen. Allen as follows:

"This group represents the press of the world—this story is entirely off the record until the heads of the governments have announced it.

"I therefore pledge each of you on your honor not to communicate the results of the conference or the fact of its existence—until it is released on the order of the Public Relations Division, SHAEF."

The bulk of the correspondents at SHAEF signed the letter to Gen. Eisenhower, declaring that in their opinion the Associated Press had behaved very badly and that the only people whose freedom to report the news had been infringed were those who kept their word and followed the rules.

JAPAN 'REGRETS' NAZI LOSS, STEPS UP DEFENSE PLANS

Reich Surrender to Cause No Change in Determination to Fight on, Tokyo Says.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9 (AP). The Japanese Government announced today the collapse of Germany "will not bring the slightest change" in Japan's determination to fight to the finish.

This was reported by the Tokyo radio, which also announced new preparations to meet an invasion of the home islands. One broadcast recorded here said the Japanese Army has simplified its "air defense conscription in order to prepare for the possibility of our mainland becoming a battlefield." Another said barricades would be constructed throughout the nation "in the event of an enemy landing on Japan proper."

The "official statement" on Japan's war policy was adopted at a special meeting of the full cabinet, called by Premier Adm. Baron Kantaro Suzuki, and approved by Emperor Hirohito. It said:

"The Imperial Government of Japan expresses its deep regret on the surrender of Germany, which shared the common objective with the Imperial Government of Japan."

"The objective of the war of the Imperial Government of Japan, of course, lies in the interest of her self-existence and self-defense. This is the unwavering confidence of the Imperial Government of Japan and the sudden change of the war situation in Europe will not bring the slightest change in the war objective of the Imperial Government of Japan.

". . . Japan will devote her total effort toward the complete destruction of the unjust ambition of the United States and Britain . . ."

Two newspapers, the Mainichi of Osaka and the Nippon Times of Tokyo, editorialized on the causes of Germany's downfall.

Mainichi concluded that Hitler made the fatal mistake of "underestimating the power of the Soviet Union" in plunging into a two-front war.

The Times ascribed Germany's defeat to the unwillingness of German armies to fight "to the last man."

Ranking government officials attended memorial services for Hitler at the German Embassy in Tokyo today, a broadcast said.

MUSSOLINI'S WIDOW, TWO OF CHILDREN IN CUSTODY

WITH THE U. S. FIFTH ARMY AT THE ITALIAN - AUSTRIAN FRONTIER, May 9 (AP). — Signora Rachele Mussolini, widow of Il Duce, was taken into custody last week somewhere in northern Italy, it was learned last night.

Two of the Mussolini children, not identified by name, were also picked up and taken with her to Monte Catini, west of Florence, but no other information was immediately available. One unconfirmed report said Vittorio Mussolini, a son, had been seized near the Swiss border.

Goering Caught, Quisling Jailed

message for Generals Eisenhower and Jacob L. Devers—Sixth Army group commander—in which the Marshal offered to surrender

Goering chatted a few minutes with Gen. Stack and this correspondent, speaking through an in the language well.

Wears Medals, Jewels.

The former air marshal was dressed in a green hued coat of his Hermann Goering panzer regiment, light riding breeches and brown boots. He wore two rings on the third finger of his right hand. A single emerald ring was on the third finger of the left hand. A small first aid bandage was on the thumb of the right hand.

From his neck was suspended the Grand Cross of the Knight's Cross of the Iron Cross with diamonds and brilliants. The decoration was the only one of its kind in Germany. He also wore the order of Pour le Merite. From his left breast dangled a chain of Luftwaffe cross decorations.

Goering complained that he had lost more than half of his decorations in the bombing of Berchtesgaden, where he said he was held prisoner on orders from Hitler.

His weeping wife had been left behind at Fischhorn castle near Bruck, along with Gen. Ritter von Epp, erstwhile defender of Munich and governor of Bavaria, who joined Goering on the road last week.

Flown in Cub Plane.

After lunch with Gen. Dahlquist, Gen. Stack, Goering and Col. Brauchitsch were flown in Cub planes to United States Seventh Army headquarters so Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch might see the Marshal.

There was some discussion about whether Goering could be fitted into the little plane because of his girth.

"How many people can it (the Cub plane) carry?" Goering asked.

"Only one," Dahlquist answered.

Goering grimaced slightly. The General finally convinced him he could be fitted into a Cub plane and then seemed anxious to start.

Dahlquist asked Goering if he wanted to wash, and the Marshal saidsaid yes. Then the photographers came and Goering posed with Dahlquist and Stack.

He was flown to Seventh Army headquarters soon after a lunch of chickens and peas.

Tells of Talk With Hitler.

Goering said he was in Berchtesgaden on April 24 and talked to Hitler by telephone, recalling Hitler's previous assertions that Goering was to be his successor. Goering said he suggested to Hitler that perhaps that time had arrived, as "it looks like the end."

Goering said Hitler was enraged and accused him of losing faith. Goering added that Hitler told him he had signed his death warrant, "but if you renounce all of your titles and high honors, you will be forgiven."

Goering said he complied, but that Hitler ordered SS. troops to place him under arrest. His Air Force followers shot their way through the SS. men and took him to a mountain hideaway, Goering said.

The Marshal indicated he did know what was in store for him. His spirit semed high and he told his captors to "guard me well."

One of his first requests was for food "because I am hungry and want to eat."

Lt. Golden C. Sill of Salt Lake City commanded the detail guarding Goering. Lt. Jerome Shapiro, New York City, guarded Goering's door last night.

The corpulent 51-year-old Goering is the self-styled "most faithful Paladin of the Fuehrer" and had been designated by Hitler as his successor. But that was before the Reichsmarshal fell from favor in the closing months of Nazi Germany. He is one of the world's greatest collectors of medals, uniforms and art—the latter largely pilfered from countries which Germany overran.

Among other things, he was Prussian Prime Minister, Minister of Aviation, President of the Reichstag, Minister of Forestation, Reich's Master of the Hunt, Director of the Prussian State Theaters and Opera, President of the German Academy of Aviation, director over foreign exchange and raw materials and plenipotentiary in charge of the four-year plan.

His arrested wife was the blond, blue-eyed former actress, Emmy Sonnenmann who in earlier days was Hitler's leading hostess.

Gen. von Epp was reported involved in the April 28 revolt against Hitler's leadership in Munich. A broadcast from there said rebels under his charge had seized power in the city and asked the Americans to send help to a "free Bavarian movement."

Von Epp, one of Hitler's early followers, at one time ordered hundreds of workers put to death to stamp out a Socialist movement in Bavaria, of which he was governor.

VIDKUN QUISLING

QUISLING, 6 AIDS PUT IN OSLO JAIL

OSLO, May 9 (AP). — Vidkun Quisling, whose name became a synonym for treachery in the war, was held in jail today and probably will be arraigned publicly either today or tomorrow under Norwegian law.

The Norwegian Nazi chief, broken by the swift events which toppled his five-year rule in Norway, drove up to the Oslo police station in a bullet-proof car with six of his cabinet members.

The Norwegian home forces rounded up 400 other collaborationists throughout the capital. Meanwhile, plans to remove German troops to central assembly points for moral surrender were discussed by Brig. Gen. R. Hilton, chief of the Allied Control Commission, and Maj. Gen. Holte, chief of staff to the German commander in Norway.

Quisling was assigned to a cell in the famed Moellegatan 19 prison, from which hundreds of his own political prisoners have been released since Germany's capitulation.

Besides Quisling, Propaganda Minister Fogelsang and the minister for sports and forced labor, Axel Stand, are held at Oslo prison, the official Swedish telegraph agency said.

300 JAP PLANES DESTROYED IN THREE WEEKS BY B-29S

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP).—Superfortresses have destroyed more than 300 Japanese planes during the last three weeks in raids upon 17 enemy airfields within range of American forces on Okinawa, the War Department reported today.

Striking at the rate of once every 36 hours, the Marianas-based B-29s also have wrecked or seriously damaged repair and supply facilities at the fields on Kyushu and Shikoku Islands.

Photographs show, the Army said, that hangars, repair shops, supply and storage buildings and barracks have been destroyed. Large holes also have been blown in runways, making them temporarily useless.

GERMANS BATTLE GERMANS IN FOREST NEAR HAMBURG

WITH THE BRITISH SECOND ARMY, May 9 (AP).—Germans fought Germans in the small battle of Segeberg 25 miles north of Hamburg today.

More than 300 fanatic S.S. Marines had turned the forest there into a little redoubt, declaring themselves against German civilians who surrendered.

The territory was made out of bounds for British troops, and German soldiers were sent into the redoubt by their commander to clear it out.

VAGUE REPORT REDS FOUND HITLER'S BODY

Some Servants Identified It, One Declared It Was Double's, Account Says.

LONDON, May 9 (AP).—Dispatches from the British Second Army front quote an unidentified Russian general as saying a body reported to be that of Adolf Hitler has been found by Soviet troops in the ruins of Berlin. The general was reported to have said that photographs taken of the body would be studied in Moscow.

There was no confirmation from the Soviet capital. Moscow dispatches said Russian troops still were searching the city for Hitler's body, which apparently had not been unearthed from a vast underground headquarters discovered in the area of the Reichschancellery, where the Germans asserted Hitler died May 1.

During a meeting several days ago between Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery and Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky, dispatches said, Russian officers asked Col. Anotoly Pilugin, Tass agency war correspondent attached to the British Second Army, whether the British believed Hitler was dead or alive.

Pilugin was said to have replied that there was mixed opinion and then a Russian general, whose identity Pilugin did not disclose, stated flatly that the Russians had found in Berlin the bullet-torn and battered body of a man identified as Hitler.

All Hitler's domestic help who fell into Russian hands viewed the body and all except one of the chauffeurs and maid servants identified its as that of Hitler, according to the account. The one servant declared that the body was that of one of Hitler's cooks, and that he believed the "cook double," whom he knew intimately, had been assassinated while Hitler himself escaped.

The general was reported to have told Pilugin that bodies, supposedly of Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels and his wife and children, also had been discovered but Goebbels' was so badly burnt it was not recognizable.

CONTROLS STAY, START ON SOME RECONVERSION TO BE MADE AT ONCE

Vinson Says There May Be More Civilian Gasoline, a Few New Autos in 6 to 9 Months—No General Tax Cut.

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP).—Wartime controls over production, rationing and pricing will be continued until Japan is defeated, the administration said today, but "some reconversion will start immediately."

The program was outlined at a White House news conference by War Mobilizer Fred M. Vinson at the same time that he announced suspension of the bar on horse and dog racing and the midnight entertainment curfew, effective tonight.

Highlights of Program.

Highlights of the program are:

1. Release of enough materials and manpower, no longer needed for the Pacific war, to produce a few new automobiles within six to nine months.

2. Some prospect of an early increase in gasoline allowances for civilian motorists.

3. Vinson said he saw no indications of any early general improvement in the civilian food supply situation.

4. No general reduction in taxes until final victory is won.

"Moderate" manufacture of washing machines and refrigerators will be permitted and more electric irons, stoves will leave production lines in three to six months.

Vinson said the Army plans to reduce its strength by 1,300,000 in the next 12 months, but this will have to be done slowly at first because "first priority on shipping must be assigned to the men and material going to the Pacific."

In a report entitled, "The War, Phase Two," Vinson said the major homefront battle will continue to demand strongest public support against inflation and rising prices and added that a wage stabilization policy must be maintained during the reconversion period "to avoid a postwar deflationary trend which might destroy wage standards."

8 Pct. More Gasoline Likely.

As to gasoline, Vinson said his best estimate is that there will be from 100,000 to 200,000 more barrels available daily for civilian use—an increase of 8 to 16 per cent—as a result of the European victory. Even this increase may be only temporary.

Added gasoline supplies will be divided among A and commercial card holders and it may be possible to increase the mileage of B-card holders who can show need.

He predicted the total number of persons thrown out of employment by Germany's surrender probably will not exceed more than two to two and a half millions at the end of the next 12 months, as compared with a present total of about one million.

"There will be severe local unemployment problems, side by side with actual manpower shortages in areas where war production remains at a high peak," he said. "Strict manpower controls will continue to be necessary, especially in such areas."

Vinson emphasized that transportation restrictions must continue in full force indefinitely and that there can be no lifting of the requirement that conventions be cleared through the ODT.

Food Requirements to Increase.

"Military requirements for food will not decrease, and relief needs will be greater," he continued. "Domestic demand for food will continue at high levels. As a result, no general improvement in the civilian food supply situation can be expected. Food production must be continued at record levels."

He said the Administration has recommended that no general reduction in taxes be made until after Japan is defeated and that "new tax programs are being planned for the post-V-J day period to stimulate reconversion and new enterprises."

Vinson said the Little Steel wage formula and all other wartime pay stabilization policies will be continued indefinitely. The specific wage control program will be announced by George W. Taylor, War Labor Board chairman, and Economic Stabilizer William H. Davis. Davis already has outlined his views to reporters and Taylor will hold a news conference tomorrow.

One major V-E industrial relaxation was in aircraft. WPB notified plane builders they were free to build ships for commercial airlines, provided there was no delay in the output of military planes. The airlines have reported their need as about 300 transports.

WOMAN HIT BY STREET CAR WHEN CROSSING TRACKS, DIES

Miss Mary Powers, 75 years old, died at St. John's Hospital early today after being struck by a westbound Midland street car last night at Gilrose avenue and Midland boulevard, Overland. She suffered head injuries.

A brother-in-law, Nicholas Spar, 8445 Midland boulevard, who walked with her to the street car after a visit, said he ran across the tracks to hail an eastbound car and she was struck as she followed him. She was a matron at Father Dempsey's Hotel, 1421 Hogan street, where she also lived.

in our hands to get to Berlin. Once all suspicion was gone from the minds of the officers in the party, there was an air of camaraderie that is hard to describe.

Keys to the City of Berlin.

They practically gave us the keys to Berlin. The guard-major insisted that "our brave and courageous Sergeant" Johnny Wilson have a seat of honor near the head of the table. Johnny was without appetite in the excitement, but the guard-major slapped his gun, pointed to Johnny's plate and roared good-naturedly "Mange, mange." Johnny understands a little French and knew that the Major was commanding him to eat. So, wide-eyed and almost choking with emotion over being the first American GI to enter Berlin, Johnny ate.

After the dinner, there was dancing to a beaten-up victrola. One young Captain was the Russian equivalent of the American jitterbug and danced, not only with me, but with Johnny. I am still puffing from the exertion.

At about 1 o'clock in the morning we three exhausted Yanks begged off from more dancing and vodka drinking and the Major showed us to our rooms. Still the perfect host, he gave up his bed to our Sergeant. While Johnny slept in style, the Major disposed himself on a divan in the living room.

Everywhere today the sight of three Yanks in Berlin was the sign for great mobs of Russian soldiers to gather around us. I have shaken hands until my right wrist is paralyzed. I have smiled and laughed until my ears ache.

VINSON REMOVES MIDNIGHT CURFEW AND RACING BAR

of the Office of Defense Transportation on shipment of race horses. He referred inquiries regarding these restrictions to ODT officials.

Fairmount officers said their plans were subject to confirmation by the Illinois Racing Commission. About 100 horses already are stabled at the track, in good condition, and several hundred additional applications from horse owners have been received, they added.

An ODT official in Washington said shipment of race horses would be permitted, but emphasized that travel restrictions in effect prior to the bar on race meets would continue. "The setup will be just the same as before the bar," he stated.

'Trolley-Car' Basis.

This means that race tracks will be expected to co-operate in keeping such major events as the Kentucky Derby on a "trolley-car" basis, with no special trains or equipment authorized.

Because of the redeployment of troops from Europe to the Pacific war theater, ODT predicts the travel situation in the next 12 to 15 month will be the most critical so far.

Today's action means that racing's "triple crown"—the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes—will be run this spring and summer. The Derby probably will be held June 2 or 9, with the Preakness the next Saturday and the Belmont Stakes two weeks later.

Racing spokesmen said that easing of the War Manpower Commission's "zero" employment ceiling for race tracks would be removed. This will not automatically authorize tracks to hire workers, but will permit local WMC officials to establish above-zero ceilings "in the light of the needs of war industries" in particular areas, it was said.

Bright lights, under partial eclipse since the "brown-out" began Feb. 1, shone again in St. Louis last night. Theater marquees glittered as the end of the war in Europe brought removal of coal-saving restrictions on outdoor illumination, but some store windows remained dark because personnel on holiday were not on hand to turn the lights on.

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP).—President Truman today proclaimed the week beginning July 22 as National Farm Safety week.

SERVICEMEN RIOT IN HALIFAX, LOOT STORES OF LIQUOR

Victory Celebration Damage in Three Towns Estimated at Million.

HALIFAX, N. S., May 9 (AP).—An outburst of "victory riots" in Halifax and in two other Nova Scotia towns last night caused damage of more than a million dollars, unofficial sources estimated today.

Two buildings were set afire and damaged here, the entire business section was smashed and looted, and dozens of persons were injured. Scarcely a window was intact in the business section. Thousands of dollars worth of goods and an uncounted amount of liquor and beer were looted from shattered stores.

Some sailors asserted the rioting represented a protest for the way they and their families had been treated by the city.

In Kentville, a mob of 1000 soldiers and civilians raided the liquor store. Troops from Aldershot Camp dispersed them.

BAKERIES URGED TO HIRE, TRAIN 70,000 NOW SERVICES' BAKERS

The Associated Retail Bakers of America were urged by Philip Talbot of the War Food Administration at Washington to assume the training and employment of 70,000 partly trained bakers to be eventually released from the armed services, in a message read yesterday before 300 members from the St. Louis area at Hotel De Soto.

The meeting, sponsored by the St. Louis Master Bakers' Association, was one of 102 to be held throughout the country in lieu of a national convention.

A program of classroom and shop training for returning veterans is being formulated, Charles W. Koch, operator of a bakery at 2903 South Jefferson avenue, and president of the national organization, said. He urged removal of governmental controls from the baking business as soon as practicable, and protested against pending cuts of 15 per cent in sugar and 20 per cent in fat allowances to bakeries.

Pershing Still 'Quite Sick.'

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP).—The Army reported today there was no change in the condition of Gen. John J. Pershing, World War I hero who is ill at Walter Reed Hospital. Pershing, 84 years old, was described yesterday as being "quite sick."

COTE BRILLIANTE USE BY NEGROES APPROVED

200 Spectators Protesting Against School Board Action Ordered From Room.

The Board of Education last night voted eight to four in favor of converting the Cote Brilliante School, 2616 Cora avenue, into a school for Negroes.

By its action, taken after a half hour of debate between representatives of white and Negro groups living in the neighborhood of the school, the board ended five months of deliberation and discussion over the disposition of the unused building.

More than 200 white residents of the neighborhood greeted the vote with ill-concealed displeasure. Most of the criticism was directed against Dr. Herbert O. Winterer, who, as chairman of the Instruction Committee, had brought in a majority report in favor of the conversion. Last night Winterer moved for a vote on the question after the Rev. Dr. Oscar Johnson had tentatively suggested the matter might be postponed for further consideration.

When the protests against the board's action and against Dr. Winterer in particular became more vociferous, President Irma Friede ordered the room cleared of spectators.

Recorded in favor of the conversion were James J. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Friede, Dr. Rudolph Hofmeister, Dr. Johnson, J. Harry Pohlman, Dr. Francis C. Sullivan, Dr. Winterer and Elmore M. Putney. Those voting against it were Fred H. Beck, Charles J. Dyer, Frank P. Nagel and William Schumacher.

FRISCO'S OPERATING REVENUE FOR LAST YEAR $121,244,213

Operating revenues of the Frisco Railway last year, which amounted to $121,244,213, were virtually three times as large as those of 1933, the low point of the depression, it was shown in the road's annual report, issued today. Last year's receipts set a new high record, comparing with $112,961,746 in 1943, $90,079,599 in 1942 and $61,835,203 in 1941.

However, net operating revenue dropped from a peak of $39,258,508 in 1943 to $38,619,267 last year, while taxes, which fell as low as $2,865,334 in 1935, reached a new high of $19,707,769 last year, compared with $14,349,749 the year before. The amount credited to the surplus fund at the end of last year was $6,365,969, after allowance for fixed charges.

The report stated that a policy of full maintenance and improvement of roadway, rolling stock and buildings was continued, with no deferred maintenance of consequence except some due to scarcity of materials and labor. A new line was placed in service Feb. 2 between Dixon and Jerome, Mo., reducing the route by 1.3 miles and eliminating steep grades which required helper engines and curves equivalent in total to three full circles. The work cost $1,343,000.

MISS PERKINS OUT; POST OFFERED TO SCHWELLENBACH

Truman Accepts Secretary of Labor's Resignation—Plans to Enlarge Cabinet Job.

By EDWARD A. HARRIS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 9. — The resignation of Frances Perkins as Secretary of Labor has been accepted by President Truman, who has offered the Cabinet post to Lewis Baxter Schwellenbach, United States District Judge of the Eastern District of Washington, the Post-Dispatch learned authoritatively today.

Schwellenbach, who was appointed a Federal Judge by the late President Roosevelt after serving in the Senate from 1935 to 1941, has asked for a few days to think it over, but announcement of his acceptance is expected in the near future.

It is understood that President Truman told Schwellenbach that he intends to give teeth to the Labor office by enlarging its functions, restoring to it such services as the Immigration Service (now in the Department of Justice) that were removed several years ago, and generally modernizing its activities. In this role Schwellenbach would in effect be a labor czar, in contrast to the relatively ineffectual power held by Secretary Perkins.

Appointment of Schwellenbach would place a far Westerner in the cabinet and serve to pacify Westerners who have complained that their section had no representation in that body. It will be recalled that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, in his campaign swing to the West Coast last September, pledged that if elected he would name a Westerner to the cabinet.

Schwellenbach, 50 years old, was born at Superior, Wis., attended grade and high school at Spokane, was graduated from the University of Washington in 1917, and served as a private in the Twelfth Infantry in the first World War. In 1919 he began the practice of law in Seattle, was elected State Commander of the American Legion in 1922, married Anne J. Duffy in 1935, and was elected to the United States Senate on Nov. 6, 1934, where he became well acquainted with another freshman Senator, Harry S. Truman.

A Democrat, Schwellenbach did not run for re-election at the expiration of his term, reportedly because of a local party rift that would have made re-election difficult.

Tremendous importance is attached to the selection of a successor to Secretary Perkins because of the new power Truman is expected to give to the office and because of the giant strides labor has made in the last decade. Innumerable management-labor problems and postwar labor conversion questions also will confront the new labor secretary.

LONG CALLS TO COST LESS

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP).—Reductions amounting to $21,000,000 annually for telephone calls over distances of more than 790 miles will be effective July 1. Calls between New York and San Francisco will be reduced from $4 to $2.50, and between New York and Denver from $3.25 to $2.35.

The Federal Communications Commission has ruled that interstate earnings produced a return greater than could be justified, the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., said today in announcing the reductions.

Okinawa Yanks Hear of V-E Day Amid Bullets, Blood and Death

Fighting Men Shoot, Inch Forward, See Comrades Fall in War That Has Yet to Be Won.

By GORDON COBBLEDICK
War Correspondent of the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

OKINAWA, May 8 (delayed) (AP).—We stood in the rain this morning and heard the voice from San Francisco, only half believing. There had been so many false reports. But this seemed to be the McCoy.

"Confirmed by Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters," the voice was saying. "Prime Minister Churchill proclaimed May 8 as V-E day."

Artillery thundered and the planes roared low overhead and we couldn't hear all the voice was saying.

So this was V-E day. It was V-E day in the United States and Great Britain and Russia, but on Okinawa the ambulances skidded through the sticky red mud and bounced over rutted rocky coral roads. Some of the men who rode them gritted their teeth behind bloodless lips and let no cry escape them. Some stared into space through eyes that were dull with the look of men to whom nothing mattered greatly. Some screamed with pain that the morphine couldn't still. And some lay very quiet under ponchos that covered their faces.

A Shot, Blood, Death.

It was V-E day all over the world but on Okinawa. Two doughboys lay flat behind a jagged rock and one said: "I know where the bastard is and I'm going to get him."

He raised his head and looked and then he stood, half crouched, and brought his Garand into position.

When he tumbled backward the rifle clattered on the rocks. The boy looked up and smiled sheepishly and said, "I hurt my arm when I fell," and the blood gushed from his mouth and ran into a quick torrent over the stubble of beard on his young face and he was dead.

It was V-E day at home, but on Okinawa men shivered in foxholes half filled with water and waited for the command to move forward across the little green valley that was raked from both ends by machine-gun fire.

It was V-E day but on Okinawa a very young Marine cried like a frightened child and his "voice rose shrilly, "I can't stand it any more. Oh, Jesus, I can't stand it." A grizzled sergeant watched him for a minute, half in compassion, half in contempt, and then called, "Corpsman, take him back. He's no good up here."

It was V-E day but on Okinawa a staff officer sat looking dully at the damp earthen floor of his tent. A young lieutenant, his green field uniform plastered with mud, stood awkwardly beside him.

"I was with him, sir," the lieutenant said. "It was a machine-gun bullet, sir. He never knew what hit him." He paused. "He was a good Marine, sir."

The staff officer said, "He was the only son we had."

Cold, Mud and Shells.

On Okinawa a flame-throwing tank lumbered across a narrow plain toward an enemy pillbox. From a cave a gun spat viciously and the tank stopped and burst into fire. When the crewmen clambered out machine guns chattered and they fell face forward in the mud and were still.

It was V-E day everywhere but on Okinawa. The forests of white crosses grew and boys who had hardly begun to live died miserably with the red clay of this hostile land.

It was a day for celebration, but on Okinawa the war moved on. Not swiftly, for swift war cannot be waged against an enemy who burrows underground where bombs and shells and all the instruments of quick destruction can't touch him. Not gloriously, for there is little glory in any war and none at all in cold and mud. But the enemy wouldn't wait and the war moved on.

Sgt. William R. Compton of 5878 Plymouth avenue, St. Louis, commented he didn't think the victory in Europe would "do us much good out here for a long time."

The veteran of the Aleutians, Kwajalein and Leyte, where he was wounded, added: "This is the third anniversary of my coming overseas, so I'll remember the day."

'SO THEY WILL OPEN UP RACETRACKS AND TO HELL WITH US,' SAYS G. I. JOE

By GORDON COBBLEDICK.

OKINAWA, May 8. (Delayed) (AP).

IT was V-E day and on Okinawa a soldier asked, "What were they going to do back in the States—get drunk and forget about us out here?"

Another said, "So they'll open the race tracks and turn on the lights and give people all the gas they want and the hell with us."

Another said, "They'll think the war is over and they'll quit their jobs and leave us to fight these bastards with pocket knives."

You told them it wasn't so. You said the people would have their day of celebration and then would go firmly back to the job of producing what is needed so desperately out here.

And you hoped to God that what you were saying was the truth.

100 NEW BUSSES EXPECTED TO BE DELIVERED NEXT MONTH

The first 100 of 300 new busses being manufactured for the St. Louis Public Service Co. are expected to be delivered sometime next month, it was announced today.

The new Diesel-powered busses, with a seating capacity of 40 passengers, are being built by the Yellow Coach Division of General Motors at Pontiac, Mich. Construction has been completed except for a few critical parts. The second 100 busses on order are scheduled for delivery before the end of the year and the remainder are to be delivered in the first part of next year.

Also scheduled for delivery before next year are 100 new street cars being produced by the St. Louis Car Co.

ARMY CONTRACT CANCELED, 1200 TO LOSE JOBS HERE

National Carbon Co. to Close Plant Making Battery Cells for Signal Corps.

The National Carbon Co., 4417 Oleatha avenue, which employs 1200 persons, today was ordered to discontinue manufacture of battery cells for the United States Army Signal Corps. The company will discharge a majority of its employes today and release the remainder by June 1, it was announced by A. S. Johnson, superintendent.

This was the first major layoff in St. Louis since the ending of the war in Germany. It was ordered without previous notice.

Johnson said victory in Europe cut down the need for battery cells. He pointed out that their perishable nature made it impossible to build up stockpiles.

The company has no plans for reopening the plant.

Officials of the War Manpower Commission said that due to the shortage here of 15,000 war workers, persons laid off by National Carbon could be placed in other war jobs immediately. They were asked to apply for work at the United States Employment Service office at 410 North Broadway.

The company began producing for the Signal Corps last December. Since then, it has manufactured nearly 38 million cells. They are used in walkie-talkie and other communications equipment.

Brig. Gen. Edgar L. Clewell of Washington, assistant chief of Signal Corps procurement and distribution, said in a message to the company's employes that victory in Europe was the result in large measure of the efforts of such workers

EISENHOWER ON KENNEDY: 'A BREACH OF CONFIDENCE'

A. P. Correspondent, However, Denies He Admitted Wrongdoing in Sending Story of Surrender.

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP).—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in a message sent through War Department channels to Kent Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press, said yesterday that Edward Kennedy's suspension for filing a dispatch reporting Germany's unconditional surrender was "due (to) self-admitted deliberate violation (of) SHAEF regulations and breach (of) confidence."

Cooper in reply last night urged abolition of military censorship in Europe now that the war has ended and requested that Kennedy, chief of the Associated Press Paris bureau, be permitted to state his case concerning how he broke the story of Germany's surrender a full day ahead of the official announcement. Cooper also asked Gen. Eisenhower to state the supreme headquarters' position respecting the elements of security involved in the surrender story.

Eisenhower's headquarters has notified Robert Bunnelle, managing executive for the Associated Press in Britain, that he is suspended as a war correspondent in the European theater of operations. Kennedy's story was relayed from Paris through the A. P. office in London. Morton Gudebrod, of the A. P. staff in Paris, who helped Kennedy transmit the story, also is under suspension.

Denies Confidence Breach.

A message from the Paris bureau of A. P. today quoted Kennedy as saying it was "completely incorrect" to say that he had admitted any breach of confidence.

Kennedy, who was not permitted to communicate directly with his home office, distributed this statement to correspondents accredited to SHAEF and the Paris press:

"I saw the representative of the existing German Government sign the agreement of unconditional surrender.

"I was informed by a representative of SHAEF public relations that, although no issue of military security was involved, SHAEF public relations intended to suppress this news from the public until a later time.

"I informed a representative of SHAEF public relations that I could not accept this view, since it had been conceded that no military security was involved and that I intended to send this story.

"I sent the story."

Brig. Gen. Frank A. Allen Jr., director of supreme headquarters' public relations division, declined to comment on Kennedy's statement.

A telegram from Relman Morin of the Paris A. P. bureau to Cooper conveyed this message from Kennedy:

"He says it is completely incorrect to say that he has admitted any breach of confidence. He says he did what he considered was his duty and is still of that opinion."

For six hours and 20 minutes on Monday, the entire Associated Press staff in the European theater was under suspension, but this was lifted for all except Kennedy and Gudebrod.

Lifting of the general suspension order against the A. P. followed a request by Cooper to Secretary of War Stimson and a message from Cooper to Eisenhower inquiring as to the circumstances.

Eisenhower's Message.

Gen. Eisenhower replied to Cooper's original message as follows:

"Associated Press suspended during investigation of method transmission of release of unauthorized story this date unsubmitted SHAEF censorship channels, reference your message to Gen. Eisenhower dated 7th May.

"Suspension filing privileges Associated Press revoked and authority now granted correspondents other than Ed Kennedy to submit material for transmission.

"Kennedy suspended due self-admitted deliberate violation SHAEF regulations and breach confidence. Investigation filing story by Kennedy continues and report results of findings will be communicated you as soon as practicable."

Cooper's Reply.

Cooper sent the following reply to Gen. Eisenhower:

"This is acknowledgement of your reply to my message May 7 with appreciation for your explanation of the decision revoking suspension of Associated Press privileges. I respectfully and urgently request your consideration of the following:

"First, that every facility be afforded Edward Kennedy to state his case personally and to transmit the fullest report thereof to me as requested in my message to you yesterday so that the American people as well as members of the Associated Press may be apprised completely of the facts connected with Kennedy's transmission of the German surrender story instead of being limited to the brief unilateral and undocumented statement contained in your reply;

"Secondly, that the position of Supreme Headquarters be stated as respecting the elements of military security involved in connection with this story, particularly in the light of German broadcasts proclaiming the surrender which were published generally throughout the world approximately one hour before the Associated Press received Kennedy's first dispatch;

"Thirdly, that you make equally available to the Associated Press and representatives of all other news and radio organizations a precise statement setting forth categorically reasons for maintaining what can now be only military censorship over civil affairs, since there is no longer any European enemy. I suggest this because there is general concern over possibility of continuance of censorship over political matters in a Europe at peace, and anything you can do which will give immediate effect to removal of such censorship will be hailed by the American public, which, from expressions received here, considers of transcendent importance the removal of any obstacle to coverage of news of the European reconstruction."

Larry Rue, Chicago Tribune war correspondent at Supreme headquarters, sent a dispatch to his paper quoting Kennedy as saying:

"We are interested in giving the public the news and not in pleasing SHAEF public relations officers. We tried to play our part and send the story, but were prevented from doing so by the public relations division, which has forbidden us even to send service messages not intended for publication.

"Since we have been assured the purpose of military censorship is for security, and we now know there no longer is any military security involved, I wonder why SHAEF censorship should be permitted to exist. I, for one, am in favor of its immediate abolition."

A published statement by 54 rival correspondents accused Kennedy of "the most disgraceful, deliberate and unethical double-cross in the history of journalism."

Two accredited correspondents at SHAEF refused to sign the protest petition. They were Rue of the Chicago Tribune and John

DRAFT EXTENSION SIGNED, CALL-UPS STILL TO BE LARGE

Deferments Under 30 to Be Rare—Truman Opposes Curb on Use of 18-Year-Olds.

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP).—President Truman today signed into law the bill extending the Selective Service Act one year, and it was officially announced that draft calls "will continue to be large."

The latter announcement came from the Office of War Mobilization, which said:

"Deferments for men under 30 will continue to be relatively few and will become fewer as more veterans return to industry and the farms."

President Truman, in signing the extension, made plain he would have vetoed, if he could, a section forbidding the use of 18-year-olds in combat without six months training. He objected that this "places added restrictions on the War and Navy departments in their management of the fighting forces."

"Still Needed Against Japan."

"I signed the legislation only because the immediate extension of the Selective Service Act is of compelling necessity in the continuance of military operations against Japan," he said in a statement.

The bill extends the draft for 12 months beyond May 15, 1945, or until the end of the Pacific war, whichever comes sooner.

In a report on "phase two" of the war, Fred M. Vinson, head of the Office of War Mobilization, said almost every soldier in this country, except those who have already been overseas or who were physically disqualified, already was earmarked for foreign service.

More Draftees Needed.

At the present time, Vinson's report continued, about 1,400,000 are in training to go overseas. However, "only part of the needs can be met from the ranks now in the United States."

He said that adjusted service rating scores, based on time in the army, time overseas, combat credit and parenthood would form the basis on which demobilization will proceed.

To mount the final phases of the war against Japan and occupy conquered territories, the Army plans to maintain the total force of 6,968,000 for a year and the Navy to maintain an authorized strength of 3,389,000, beginning June 30.

KENNEDY BROKE CONFIDENCE, SAYS GEN. EISENHOWER

O'Connell of the Bangor (Me.) News.

Rue asked a meeting of the correspondents, "do the correspondents here really want to cut off the news of 1400 newspapers and still take the position that they do not believe in suppression of news?"

O'Connell said the protesting correspondents "may find that they are in a peculiar position with their own newspapers, which through the Associated Press story were able to give American readers news of the peace without delay."

Statement by Cooper.

In response to a telegraphic request from San Francisco signed by Helen Rogers Reid, vice president of the New York Herald Tribune, that he make a statement, Kent Cooper said:

"The observance of all obligations coluntarily assumed is, always has been, and will continue to be a cardinal principle of the Associated Press and its employes. But there will be no prejudgment of Edward Kennedy by me. I have not as yet had the advantage of a personal meeting with him or the military authorities to obtain the detailed information that I should like to have. Any implication that any prejudice whatever is indicated by this statement would be entirely unfair."

CHAMBER URGES EXTENSION OF RECIPROCAL TRADE ACT

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP).—The Chamber of Commerce of the United States asked Congress today to extend the Reciprocal Trade Act for three years and to give the President additional tariff-cutting powers.

Clark H. Minor of New York City told the House Ways and Means Committee the organization's directors had indorsed the legislation unanimously.

Appearing for President Eric Johnston of the Chamber, Minor said "I am a Republican who has learned through bitter experience that if we want prosperity and full employment with a rising standard of living we have to co-operate with other nations in promoting the exchange of goods and services."

GEORGE J. SCHOENEMAN NAMED TRUMAN ASSISTANT

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP).—President Truman today appointed George Jeremiah Schoeneman of Rhode Island as one of his six $10,000-a-year administrative assistants.

The White House announced Schoeneman will succeed William H. McReynolds as assistant in the post of liaison officer for personnel management.

HITLER ORDERED ARMS SECRETS GIVEN TO JAPAN

Spite Move Made Apparently at Time of Rhine Crossings—Radar Findings Involved.

By B. J. McQUAID.
The Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch Special Radio. Copyright, 1945.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, May 9.—Adolf Hitler gave the Japanese Germany's most jealously guarded secrets of technical and V-weapon warfare as one of the last of his spiteful savage crimes against western civilization.

In the case of the German electronics industry, technical investigators for the American Air Forces have uncovered an order, signed by Hitler himself, directing that every scrap of the latest information unearthed by the industry's researchers be made instantly available to Japan's scientists.

In addition, German radar experts were ordered to make available to the Japanese working models of the latest-type apparatus.

There is evidence that German and Japanese scientists have been in direct communication on radar and other technical subjects, but no one can say whether Hitler's order has been fully executed. The order appears to have been issued at the time of our Rhine crossings, late in March. Before then Germany seems to have withheld from its Pacific ally the best and latest scientific discoveries.

If Hitler's command has been carried out, it could, conceivably, affect the future course of the Pacific war profoundly. American naval radar, immeasurably superior to Japanese radar, has contributed heavily to our superiority in that theater. German radar, though behind both American and British radar, was fast catching up with ours when the European war ended.

NO-TRUE BILL ON CHARGE CORONER DEMANDED 'LUG'

A no-true bill was returned yesterday by the Circuit Court grand jury after investigating the charge that Coroner Thomas Francis Callanan had offered to appoint Michael J. Schultz to the position of city undertaker in return for a $200-a-month payment.

Assistant Circuit Attorney William Geekie said the no-true bill was voted after the jury heard four witnesses. Those who testified were Schultz and Robert J. Ambruster, operators of undertaking establishments; Henry E. Luaders, Ninth Ward member of the Democratic City Central Committee, and John E. Cope, former employe of Peetz Brothers, who have served as city undertaker.

Schultz, who operates an establishment at 1819 Sidney street, had asserted that Callanan demanded "a flat fee" when he and Luaders called on the Coroner to discuss the appointment last November. Callanan, in denying the charge, said he "never heard of Schultz."

STATUE OF LIBERTY RELIGHTED

(Picture in Everyday Magazine.)

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP).—Tears came to many eyes last night when the torch of the Statue of Liberty pierced the darkness of New York harbor with a light twice as brilliant as the one she held aloft before Pearl Harbor.

In Washington, the Capitol and the Washington Monument gleamed white and austere in the unaccustomed light now that the "brownout" is over.

Surrender Sealed in Berlin

—and tell him I must demand another 24 hours respite," he said.

The interpreter hesitated and appeared uncertain what to do and finally went and consulted members of Zhukov's staff. As no reply was conveyed back to Keitel it appeared that the Russians ignored the request.

Zhukov's Day of Triumph.

For Marshal Zhukov the ceremony was the triumphant climax to a bitter 1000-mile battle from the ruins of Stalingrad into the heart of devastated Berlin.

Zhukov's headquarters were established at Karlshorst because there is not a single building in the devastation of Central Berlin which could house even a company headquarters.

Keitel, too, had the final supreme humiliation of being driven in a Russian staff car to meet Zhukov through the blasted shambles of Central Berlin, which witnessed the greatest triumph of his and Hitler's forces a bare three and a half years ago.

Flight From Reims.

Tedder, Spaatz and other members of the Supreme Allied Headquarters delegation left Reims yesterday morning and touched down on the airstrip at Stendal near the Elbe at 11 a. m., where a rendezvous had been made with a Russian fighter escort and a plane bringing Keitel and Von Friedeburg from Flensburg.

Stumpff, who once commanded the German air force group in Norway and Finland and later had an important western front command, rode with Tedder from Reims. A party of eight American, British and French correspondents and broadcasters flew with Tedder.

Keitel's plane was late for the rendezvous and it was not until 12:30 p. m. that all five planes took off again. Almost immediately they were joined by an escort of six Russian Yaks, which flew circles around the slow transports all the way into Templehof airport in Berlin.

Buildings Still Burning.

As the planes circled slowly over Berlin preparing to land, the city underneath looked like an incredible, Wellsian setting. Mile after mile of gaunt, roofless, gutted shells of houses stood silent and skeleton-like. There was no traffic in the streets except Russian military vehicles. Over the whole dead capital there was a thick smoke haze and columns of smoke from buildings still burning could be seen curling lazily into the still air over the city.

The Allied delegation was met at the airfield by a guard of honor of a Soviet Guards' regiment with flags of the Soviet Union, United States and Britain. Cameramen and newsreelmen swarmed around the delegation.

The day was warm and sunny. The band played the three national anthems and a guard of honor in beetle-browed Russian helmets and carrying long-bayonets fixed on their rifles gave three hurrahs and staged a formal parade.

The planes landed at 2 p. m. Immediately after the ceremony the Allied delegation and the newsmen were whisked off in a cavalcade of cars through Berlin's devastated east end.

Received by Zhukov.

At 4:30 p. m., Tedder, Spaatz and their staff paid a formal call on Zhukov in his office, a small, simply furnished room with a red flag and maps as the only decorations on the wall.

In a brief informal ceremony, Tedder presented Zhukov with a silken SHAEF banner sent as a personal gift by Gen. Eisenhower and Zhukov replied with a brief speech of thanks.

Zhukov, medium sized and stocky, with his hair close cropped and thinning on top, wore a marshal's full dress uniform and was a dignified soldierly figure throughout. He spoke only Russian and all the conversation between him and the Allied personnel had to be interpreted.

Differences on Text.

Keitel and the Germans, meanwhile, had been escorted to a nearby villa to await the capitulation document. Zhukov asked Tedder to stay behind and confer alone with him for a few minutes. The two remained closeted about a half hour while Tedder gave Zhukov the draft of the capitulation terms embodying certain changes which the Russians desired. At 5:30 p. m. they came out and Zhukov asked Tedder to give him until 8 p. m. to consider the exact wording.

A long wait then began. At 8 p. m. Zhukov and the Supreme Allied Headquarters experts had not yet agreed on the final text. At one point Tedder was called away to confer again personally with Zhukov. It was not until shortly before midnight that the document was finally completed, typed and presented to the Germans.

At midnight Zhukov notified the delegates to enter the hall for the signing.

Seating of Delegates.

The large, white-washed hall of the former Army technical school was brilliantly lit with kleig lights, spotlighting the Soviet, American, British and French flags immediately behind the chief Allied delegates. The long tables were arranged like a letter "E."

Zhukov, stern-faced, took the middle seat, with Tedder and Soviet Assistant Foreign Commissar Andrei Vishinsky and Adm. Sir Harold Burrough, the Allied Supreme Naval Commander, on his right, and Gen. Spaatz followed by Gen. de Lattre de Tassigny, who had arrived independently, from the French First Army.

Other members of the Allied delegation included American Maj. Gen. H. R. Bull, head of the SHAEF G-3, and British Maj. Gen. K. W. D. Strong, head of SHAEF G-2. The newsmen were escorted by Capt. Harry Butcher, U. S. N. R., Brigadier W. A. S. Turner and Col. Ernest Dupuy, of SHAEF public relations.

The delegates spent several minutes posing for the Russian photographers, who swarmed all over the hall. At 12:07, Zhukov rose and read the text of the capitulation document and then ordered the German delegation to be brought in.

Keitel Carries Baton.

Keitel walked in and was followed by Adm. Friedeburg and Gen. Stumpff. Keitel, haughty and self-possessed, his face slightly flushed, slammed his marshal's baton down on the table and took a seat, looking straight ahead, ignoring the photographers who swarmed around him.

Once or twice he fingered his collar and nervously wet his lips. He was determined however, to carry his old school Potsdam arrogance through to the bitter end. The Germans sat at a separate table near the door with four uniformed aides and two Allied interpreters standing behind.

Tedder Puts Question.

When he was seated Tedder rose and asked in a cold voice in English:

"I ask you: Have you read this document of unconditional surrender? Are you prepared to sign it?"

After the translation Keitel picked a copy of the document off the table and replied in a harsh Prussian accent in German, "Yes, I am ready."

Zhukov then motioned him to come over to the table. Keitel picked up his cap, his marshal's baton and gloves and slowly and carefully inserted his monocle in his right eye, walked over and sat down to sign in a long scrawling hand the single word "Keitel." The first signature was appended at 12:15 a. m. central European time (6:15 p. m. Tuesday, St. Louis time).

There was a total of nine copies to sign—three each in Russian, English and German, of which

Public Service street car and bus operators . . . and the maintenance men who have kept vehicles in tiptop shape . . . have won national recognition for their excellent safety record in 1944. And they are mighty proud of the honor.

The award . . . a certificate of honorable mention presented by the American Transit Association . . . places Public Service street cars and buses among the safest in American cities of more than 600,000 population. During the last three years, the Public Service safety record has improved 26 per cent.

This honor has been earned by the men of Public Service . . . by operators who put safety above all else in handling street cars and buses . . . by maintenance crews which give special attention to keeping equipment mechanically safe.

20,000 VICTIMS OF NAZI BRUTALITY FREED NEAR LINZ

Ex-Prisoners of Mauthausen Camp Describe Horrors — Captives Driven to Cannibalism.

By WILLIAM H. STONEMAN
The Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch Special Radio. Copyright, 1945.

MAUTHAUSEN, Austria, May 9.—In a grim valedictory to the world's most vicious war, between 20,000 and 30,000 more victims of Nazi bestiality were freed Saturday when a patrol of the Eleventh Armored Division stumbled across a series of concentration camps in the Mauthausen area, just east of Linz.

It was another Buchenwald, worse in some respects than its famous counterpart, replete with gas chambers and two crematories where tens of thousands of helpless Nazi victims had perished.

The camp at Mauthausen itself contained 16,000 survivors when we visited it Sunday. Other thousands had fled the neighboring camp at Grusen—a so-called Russian camp—where prisoners, frenzied by intolerable hunger and become bestial by years of maltreatment, had engaged in cannibalism on April 25 and 26.

Prisoners from this camp poured down the roads toward Linz, ragged, sick, starving, and heading for nowhere. Yet they still smiled, cheered, or clapped when we passed them.

An American captain, who had been here under sentence of death, and a Russian major of the NKVD (former OGPU) showed us the camp and testified to its horrors.

Gasoline Injected in Veins.

Statistics have not been completed but their testimony coincided to the effect that both American and British soldiers had been gassed to death. According to the American captain, who had been confined here for six weeks, the Germans used six methods of killing prisoners: Gassing, shooting, injection of gasoline into their veins, or directly into their hearts, exposing them naked in subzero weather, or sicking police dogs on them. He stated that 1147 persons died of gassing or by natural death on May 1, alone.

The Russian major showed us through a special prison for solitary confinement where he had been held, pending execution, for 18 months. In one cell we found an S. S. man, who had been beaten to the point of death.

The Major also showed us the gas chamber from which the Germans had removed the most incriminating apparatus but where they had left the bodies of 12 Polish Jews whom they had forced to work in the gas chamber. They had executed them to prevent their giving evidence, leaving their blood-stained bodies strewn around the floors.

15,000 Died 'Natural' Deaths.

The Major stated that about 15,000 had died "natural" deaths, induced by starvation, and between 15,000 and 20,000 had been executed since April 1.

The American Captain, one of three Americans confined here, said that a burial pit on the hill contained the bodies of 15,000 persons which the Germans could not cremate.

Most of the Jews appear to have been evacuated 10 days ago, but a good many were still here.

Just liberated, the camp was the scene of considerable confusion with Partisan committees attempting to take charge and hundreds of former prisoners armed to the teeth with rifles, machine pistols, and grenades, wandering about. There were some knockdown, drag-out fights over food and over a number of women who had been housed in the camp for the convenience of German convicts, confined here with the foreign prisoners.

That all ended when the American armored infantry moved in with an injunction to the prisoners to stop playing soldier if they wished to eat. Plenty of food for the prisoners was sent to the neighborhood by the Eleventh Armored Division.

360 MILLION MAN-DAYS LOST IN YEAR BY ACCIDENTS

The loss of 360 million man-days last year through accidents demonstrates the need for a continuing "war on behalf of safety" even though the European phase of our military effort has ended, Tom A. Burke of the National Safety Council told a safety conference today at Hotel Jefferson.

The director of programs for community safety councils addressed a luncheon meeting opening a two-day industrial safety conference sponsored by the engineering division of the Safety Council of Greater St. Louis. He pointed to the recent record of a du Pont plant of 16 million accident-free man-hours as showing the value of safety programs and measures.

On the conference program today were panel meetings on metal and metal working hazards, the handling of chemicals in industry and fire prevention and protection. At a dinner tonight the presentation of awards from the National Safety Council and United States Department of Labor will take place. The conference ends tomorrow with further panel discussions.

All on board, among them some Britons as well as Americans, lost their lives when the machine crashed into a hut at a radar post. One person was killed on the ground.

Japs We Face in War

A WARNING to all America that war is not yet finished. A timely, penetrating study of the Jap soldier—the enemy who remains to be totally defeated before this war is won. Written by a twenty-year resident of Japan, Korea, Manchuria—a man who speaks Japanese and knows the Japs.

GRIM as Tarawa is this faithful and entirely new concept of the Japanese soldiery. Its author strips dangerous under-estimation from our ideas of Jap fighting men—bares the reasons for his no-surrender, "banzai" mentality. Describes the Japs' equipment, weapons, tactics and cruelty. Shows why they are well trained, well led, well equipped, intelligent fighters. Factual, authoritative—this article brings you a new realization of the tough road that lies ahead of U. S. men in the Pacific—sharpens your respect for their amazing progress. Don't fail to read—

HUNGER AT THE PEACE TABLE
by William Vogt

HOW soon will hunger ride rough-shod over the world, as soil erosion literally saps the good earth of its sustenance? How soon will increasing population meet decreasing natural resources? A somber, strangely-moving warning—a stern indictment of ignorance and passiveness before a problem more frightening than war. "To control it will require statesmanship of a higher order. Unless it is controlled, there can be no peace." An article to read now as men plan the peace in San Francisco.

RED TROOPS FREE PRAGUE IN NIGHT DASH FROM NORTH

Stalin Announces Liberation — Czechs Earlier Reported Germans Bombing City.

LONDON, May 9 (AP).—Russian troops and tanks liberated Prague at 4 a. m. today, four hours after the official deadline for all Germans to lay down their arms, Premier Stalin announced tonight.

Warfare between Germans and Russians apparently continued beyond the time set for complete cessation of hostilities. Earlier today, a station calling itself the Prague radio said German planes bombed the Czechoslovak capital and three other points in the republic shortly after Russian troops had entered Prague.

Stalin said forces of Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainian Army, striking swiftly at night from the north, "liberated from the German invaders the capital of our ally, Czechoslovakia, the city of Prague." He ordered a salute in Moscow of 24 salvos from 324 guns.

Hostilities in Europe officially ended at 11:01 p. m. yesterday, battle front time. At about the same time the Germans surrendered the three French Atlantic ports and U-boat bases of Lorient, St. Nazaire and La Rochelle. A French communique said they had been occupied. The only Germans remaining unsurrendered on French soil were some 12,000 at Dunkerque, the Channel port through which the British expeditionary force escaped in 1940.

About 79,000 Germans were believed to have yielded in the three surrendered ports—all important submarine bases when German undersea raiders threatened Allied victory.

Actions such as the reported last gasps at Prague were outlawed under surrender edicts, and German participants may be treated as bandits, subect to summary execution.

The unconfirmed Czechoslovak broadcast said German planes attacked Prague, Melnik, Kralupy and a Jewish concentration camp at Terezin, 40 miles north of Prague. The station did not say where the planes came from.

The Prague radio earlier had reported that last-ditch Nazi fanatics reopened fire almost two hours after the agreed deadline for cessation of hostilities and that German tanks moved through the city shooting at civilians. A later Czech broadcast said: "All the German forces have capitulated."

REICH SURRENDER SEALED IN BERLIN BY NAZI CHIEFS

the Russian and English texts were official.

After signing, Keitel returned to his seat and Friedeburg and Stumpff followed immediately afterward. Zhukov then signed for the Russians, Tedder for Gen. Eisenhower, and Spaatz and De Lattre Tassigny signed as witnesses. It was while this was proceeding that the incident of Keitel demanding an extra 24 hours' grace occurred.

As the signing was completed Zhukov rose and said coldly in Russian, "I now request the German delegation to leave the room."

Keitel rose, snapped together the folder in which he was carrying his copy and marched out haughtily followed by the other Germans.

The Allied leaders then shook hands all around. Later Zhukov gave a banquet to the Allied delegation which lasted till 6 a. m. during which no less than 25 toasts were drunk. In one toast to Eisenhower, Zhukov said: "I want him to know how much the Soviet Army and people appreciate his tremendous achievements."

Keitel returned to Flensburg this morning, and Tedder and Spaatz to SHAEF.

The Moscow radio's account of the ceremony in Berlin said that when the Germans entered the hall the gathering was first addressed by Zhukov, who said:

"Gentlemen, the signing of the act of unconditional surrender will now take place. I address myself to the representatives of the German command, with the question: Have they the act at hand, have they acquainted themselves with it and are the representatives of the German supreme command prepared to sign this act?"

The Moscow radio said that the question was then put to the Germans by Tedder. It reported that Zhukov's final words to the Germans were:

"The German delegation may now retire."

'DEAD' FLYER'S WIFE TO SEEK ANNULMENT OF MARRIAGE NO. 2

Second Husband on Duty in Pacific—Woman Awaiting Pilot's Phone Call.

LONG BEACH, Cal., May 9 (AP). — Mrs. Helen Goad-MacDowell is going to ask for an annulment of her marriage to Ens. Robert A. MacDowell, whom she married 18 months after the bomber plane of her husband, Lt. Harold W. Goad, exploded Oct. 14, 1943, over Burma.

Officially reported dead a year later, Lt. Goad nevertheless is alive in a Calcutta hospital. She sent the 27-year-old pilot a cable reading: "Darling, am so glad to hear you are alive. Will see you soon. I love you with all my heart."

Ens. MacDowell is on Pacific duty. His 23-year-old bride is going to her former home in Portsmouth, O., to await a telephone call from Lt. Goad.

The Mountain that became a Gold Mine!
—and the company that has helped build 11,000,000 war-time tires
This pile of discarded automobile tires (the picture was taken in 1936) is as non-existent today as the Big Rock Candy Mountains —where the cigarettes grew on trees and the springs gushed pure lemonade.
Maybe you remember driving past those junk yards where the homeless jalopies used to rust in the rain, and the pile of tires grew mountain-high.
And then, one day in December, 1941, that mountain became a gold mine!
In a few terrible moments, America's access to the raw rubber of the Indies was cut completely.
Throughout America, junk yards, garages, and back yards were scoured for every scrap of precious rubber that could be found. We were on a spot—a bad one.
The fact that we got off the spot is due, to a great extent, to companies such as Phillips. For it was Phillips chemical research ability and Phillips production facilities that produced an important share of the vital butadiene which is so essential to the manufacture of synthetic rubber!
Today, we think we have a well-earned right to stick out our chests—because the Phillips Petroleum Company is one of the largest producers of butadiene in the United States!
With today's ever-increasing emphasis on the chemical production of new and better things from petroleum, let the Phillips 66 Shield remind you that Phillips refineries, in addition to producing gasolines, lubricants, and fuel oils . . . are also gigantic chemical plants pouring out weapons for victory.

U-BOAT SANK SHIP OFF RHODE ISLAND SATURDAY NIGHT

12 Collier Crew Members Missing — Submarine Reported Destroyed by Navy.

BOSTON, May 9 (AP).—A German U-boat attack in the closing hours of the European war sank the 5553-ton American collier Black Point off Point Judith, R. I., Saturday night, May 5. Twelve crew members were reported missing.

An officer of the firm owning the collier said one submarine was reported destroyed by naval action shortly afterward.

En route from Norfolk, Va., to Boston, observers on the collier saw the wake of the torpedo at dusk.

The master, Capt. Charles E. Prior, Belfast, Me., said the explosion on the starboard side "took the entire poop off the vessel." The gun platform "disintegrated." The crew's quarters were crushed.

The Captain was on the bridge and, when the ship began to sink rapidly, ordered all to abandon the vessel. Two lifeboats and one raft were launched. The ship went down in six minutes. The lifeboats were picked up within 45 minutes by three other Allied vessels.

The sinking took place two days before U-boats were ordered to end hostilities by Adm. Karl Doenitz, who succeeded Hitler. The order was broadcast Monday from the Flensburg radio.

The vessel, owned by the Sprague Steamship Co. of Boston, was a bulk cargo collier, 396 feet long. It carried 7759 tons of soft coal.

'Horn Blows At Midnight' Now at Fox

"THE Horn Blows at Midnight," starring Jack Benny, with Alexis Smith and Dolores Moran, headlines the new movie show at the Fox Theater. Benny, returning to the screen after an absence of several years, plays "a trumpet-playing angel, one of the lesser personalities in the Celestial Choir." Also in the cast are Guy Kibbee, Allyn Joslyn and John Alexander. The companion film is "Three's a Crowd," a murder story, with Pamela Blake and Charles Gordon.

"It Happened in Springfield," a short feature, will be shown every day but Sunday. It tells of the plan for religious and racial tolerance adopted by the Springfield (Mass.) schools.

"Salty O'Rourke," starring Alan Ladd, with Stanley Clements, Gail Russell and William Demarest, starts today at the Ambassador. Ladd plays a tough, gun-toting gambler, Clements a wisecracking jockey. Bruce Cabot, Spring Byington and Marjorie Woodworth are in the cast. Second feature is "I'll Remember April," a musical with a murder background starring Gloria Jean.

"This Man's Navy," starring Wallace Beery, opens today at Loew's, in a story about Navy-operated blimps. In the cast are Tom Drake, James Gleason, Jan Clayton, Noah Beery Sr. and Selena Royle. Companion picture is "Gentle Annie," a Western comedy drama, with Marjorie Main, Donna Reed and James Craig.

Opening today at the Orpheum is "The Picture of Dorian Gray," Hurd Hatfield. Starting today at the Shubert are "God Is My Co-Pilot," Dennis Morgan, and "Belle of the Yukon," Gypsy Rose Lee. Beginning tomorrow at the Missouri are "Bring On the Girls," Sonny Tufts, and "Hotel Berlin" Helmut Dantine. The St. Louis is now playing, "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," Dorothy McGuire, and "Flame of Barbary Coast," Ann Dvorak. A holdover, at the Art Theater, 3143 Olive street, is "Merry Wives of Vienna," foreign-made musical.

RICHMOND HEIGHTS REJECTS $750,000 BOND ISSUE PLAN

All six of the postwar public improvement projects proposed for Richmond Heights in a $750,000 bond issue program were rejected in a special election yesterday. Three of the proposals received a simple majority of the 2800 ballots cast in unusually light voting, but none obtained the two-thirds approval required for passage.

The vote by proposals was: $400,000 park program, 1341 for and 1444 against; construction of a $60,000 library, 1388 for and 1389 against; $25,000 municipal building program, 1353 for and 1418 against; $75,000 for bridges and culverts, 1386 for and 1385 against; $90,000 street improvements, 1393 for and 1385 against; $100,000 sewer program, 1405 for and 1340 against.

Plans for development of a 47-acre park brought charges of discrimination from 89 Negro families who would have been forced to move from the park site. Mayor Brainerd LaTourette said he did not know whether the proposals would be resubmitted in another election.

Girl, 3, Injured in 30-Foot Fall. Edna E. Smith, 3 years old, daughter of Mrs. Mattie Smith, 1323B South Broadway, suffered cuts and bruises of the scalp and shoulders today when she fell about 30 feet from a third-floor porch at her home to a concrete sidewalk. Her mother told police the child fell through an opening in the porch railing. She was taken to City Hospital where her condition was pronounced serious.

MILITARY RALLY TO HERALD CITY WAR BOND DRIVE

Demonstration in Forest Park Sunday—B-29 to Be on Display at Lambert Field.

A military rally will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon in Forest Park as a part of the campaign for the Seventh War Loan. The campaign, in which a quota of $156,772,436 has been assigned to St. Louis and St. Louis County, opens Monday.

The rally will be held on the baseball diamonds north of the Express Highway just east of Hampton avenue. There will be a parade by the 757th Military Police Battalion from Jefferson Barracks, infantry and machine-gun drills, a demonstration featuring the K-9 Corps of war dogs, and an exhibition of the judo form of wrestling.

The first local performance by the War Bond Military Caravan, a traveling show scheduled to make a series of neighborhood appearances in the course of the drive, will follow the military drills.

As another illustration of the use of money provided by war bond purchases, a B-29 Superfortress will be available for public inspection at Lambert-St. Louis Field Saturday and Sunday at 2 p. m.

Airplanes will fly over the city and the 757th Battalion will parade through the downtown section when the war bond drive formally opens Monday with a luncheon sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce at Hotel Jefferson and a public rally at Eighth and Olive streets at 12:45 p. m. Lt. James G. Lucas, Marine Corps combat correspondent, will be the principal speaker at the luncheon.

J. B. Powell, native Missouri newspaper man who lost both of his feet while imprisoned by the Japanese at Shanghai, and the three surviving Marines who raised the flag on Mt. Suribachi in the Iwo Jima campaign are scheduled to appear at later programs in the course of the drive here. Other special events include the landing of a helicopter on a downtown street, a chemical warfare exhibit and a show presented by soldiers stationed at O'Reilly General Hospital, Springfield, Mo.

PLANS TO INVADE JAPAN STARTED, NIMITZ DISCLOSES

works and we find fewer planes at other places."

Lt. Gen. Barney Giles, new commander of the Army Air Forces in the Pacific, disclosed to reporters that plans already are under way to transfer United States air units to the Pacific from Europe.

Giles said that as a result of this redeployment, the time is not too distant when more bombs will be showered on Japan than were used in attacks on Germany, a thunderous softeningup bombardment that will precede the actual invasion.

Giles, who observed first hand what happened to Germany under sustained bombing, predicted Japan would lend itself to destruction faster. He declined, however, to make any prediction as to the probable length of the Pacific war.

"We don't plan on the Japanese capitulating until they are thoroughly licked," he explained.

More Air Bases Needed.

Giles said many air wings from Europe would be transferred as complete units, although some would be re-equipped with B-29s. He added that B-17s also would figure prominently.

Giles further disclosed that the "elimination program" on Japanese cities would call for both high explosive and incendiary bombing.

The biggest need in the Pacific now, Giles said, is the development of bases for new units. Enlargement of existing bases also is planned.

"We will use all land masses close to Japan," he asserted. Among new types of planes which may be employed in the Pacific are A-26 strafing and bombing craft, the B-30 which carries a bomb load comparable to the B-29, and the swift P-80 jet-propelled fighters.

18 Jap Ships Sunk or Hit.

His communique reported that Navy planes sank or damaged 18 Japanese ships and smaller craft off Korea and Honshu and that Army Mitchells damaged another off Honshu.

It also reported that the Third Marine Amphibious corps is on the southern Okinawa line along with the Twenty-fourth Army corps, in indicating that the Sixth Marine Division as well as the First Marine Division also has gone into action there.

Nimitz reported that the Second Marine Aircraft Wing, now using Okinawa airfields, destroyed 209 enemy aircraft through Monday.

Some U. S. Troops Already Sent From Italy to Fight Japs.

ROME, May 9 (AP). — Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, American commander in the Mediterranean theater, said today that some American combat troops already had been transferred directly from Italy to participate in the war against Japan.

He said only a relatively small number of troops here would be demobilized and even they probably would not leave Italy for several months. Some will be transferred to the Pacific theater via the United States, he added.

"For most of you," he said to the troops, "your return to civilian life will come only when Japan has been defeated."

BODY FOUND HANGING IN ATTIC

The body of Luther E. Miner, 26 years old, was found hanging from an attic rafter in his home, 334 South Clay avenue, Kirkwood, yesterday after a neighbor, who had not seen him since last Friday, called police.

Police said he had been living alone since his mother, Mrs. Ada Miner, went to Washington to visit relatives last December. He was a son of the late William Harvey Miner, St. Louis book dealer.

STALIN ORDERS 1000-GUN SALUTE TO MARK VICTORY

torious conclusion of the war. Eternal glory to the heroes who fell in fighting for the freedom and independence of our Motherland. Long live the Red Army and Red Navy."

His Broadcast Address.

In his speech broadcast over the Moscow radio, Stalin said "True, one group of German forces in Czechoslovakia still is trying to avoid capitulation, but we must believe that the Red Army will succeed in bringing it to its senses."

(Monitors of the Federal Communications Commission in New York said Stalin declared the end of the war would bring a long period of peace for Europe.)

"Now we can say with full foundation that this is the day of complete victory," Stalin asserted. "All the suffering and the trials of our people in the defense of our Motherland were not in vain.

"Hitler declared three years ago, 'we shall destroy Russia.' Now, three years later, Germany has been completely destroyed."

"On May 7 in Reims the provisional protocol of capitulation was signed," Stalin said, in the first mention to the Russian public of the surrender ceremonies there. Through the day, Soviet announcements had told only of the signing in Berlin.

"On May 8, representatives of the German high command, in the presence of representatives of the supreme command of the Allied troops and of the supreme command of the Soviet troops, signed in Berlin the final act of capitulation, the execution of which commenced at 2400 hours (midnight), May 8," Stalin said.

"Comrades, the great Patriotic War has ended in the complete victory of our great Red Army, which defended the independence of our Motherland," he concluded. "Glory to our great people, eternal glory to the heroes who gave their lives for the freedom and independence of our Motherland."

Stalin's speech, lasting 5½ minutes, made no reference to Germany's only remaining ally, Japan, or to the conflict engaging the United States and Great Britain in the Pacific.

Crowd's Tribute to U. S.

Thousands of wildly-celebrating Muscovites gathered in front of the United States Embassy this afternoon shouting "Long live America" in the greatest spontaneous tribute to the United States ever staged here. "Long live America! Long live Truman! Long live the memory of Roosevelt! Long live the great American people!" They shouted.

Officers, soldiers and members of the diplomatic staff flocked out of the Embassy, joining the demonstration. Russians kissed them, beat them on the backs and lifted them into the air. Renewed enthusiasm swept the crowd when Charge d'Affairs George Keenan hung a Soviet flag besides the American flag, which flew at half staff in memory of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

A tremendous celebration in the Soviet Union was touched off when Russia announced the surrender of Germany early today, 10 hour after the announcements in Washington and London. The announcement was made in behalf of Stalin but not by the commander in chief personally.

(With the signing of the capitulation Russia became the only one of the Big Four among the United Nations at peace with the world. The United States, Britain and China still had the war with Japan. With them in this war were 34 other nations while five more had broken diplomatic relations with the Japanese.)

Russia Declares Holiday.

The Moscow radio said that "in honor of the victorious conclusion of the great Patriotic War of the Soviet people against the German Fascist invaders and the historic Red Army victory that has been gained and that has been ended by the complete defeat of the German Army which declared unconditional capitulation, May 9 will be a festival of victory."

Announcement of the capitulation ended the warfare on the east front where resistance by German forces in Czechoslovakia, in Austria and in pockets of Courland (Latvia) and the Vistula estuary continued up to the last minute. Moscow had ignored the V-E day observed by Britain, the United States and other United Nations after Prime Minister Churchill and President Truman made their formal announcements of the German surrender.

Following announcement of the text of the surrender agreement and the holiday proclamation, the Moscow radio broadcast the Soviet, British, American and French national anthems.

Big Celebration in Moscow.

Thousands of Russians swarmed through Red Square shouting "long live Stalin" and "hurrah for victory" as Moscow turned out to the last man, woman and child to celebrate.

In the center of the cheering, singing throng a group of American G.I.s attached to the United States military mission in Moscow danced on the cobblestones with girls from the factories, which had shut down for the celebration.

It was 1:10 a. m. when Uri Levitan, star announcer for the Moscow radio and the man who has broadcast all of Stalin's orders of the day, came on the air with the glad tidings to Russia's 190 million people. The immediate reaction was typically Slavic.

Most of Moscow's residents were asleep, but the announcement acted like an alarm clock. Thousands poured into the streets, some still clad in pajamas and nightgowns. Many wept openly, some fell on their knees in prayer. Everywhere people were shaking hands, embracing and kissing one another on tear-wet cheeks.

GIRL, 6, INJURED BY AUTO

Penny Kinder, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan Kinder, 5441 Helen avenue, West Walnut Manor, suffered internal and head injuries yesterday when she was struck by an automobile after leaving Fairview School, Jennings road and Emma avenue, Jennings. She was taken to Christian Hospital.

The driver, Frank Bischoff, Chambers road, St. Louis County, told police she ran from behind a parked machine into the path of his automobile.

Molotov Leaves Security Parley, Negotiations With U. S., Britain on Poland to Be Resumed in Moscow

Russians Insist Three-Power Commission Should First Meet With Warsaw Group, Build From There — English, Americans Want to Start by Seeing All Factions.

By HENRY CASSIDY

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9 (AP).

SOVIET COMMISSAR MOLOTOV left the United Nations conference today for Moscow, where negotiations for a broadened Warsaw government may be resumed. The plane of the Russian Foreign Commissar took off from Hamilton Field, an Army airfield north of San Francisco, a few minutes after 10 a. m. Pacific war time.

Before the day is over, the British and United States members of the three-power commission on Poland also are departing for Moscow.

The suspension of negotiations, which the United States and Britain announced after the Russians arrested 16 leaders of the Polish underground, was interpreted in some diplomatic sources to apply only to San Francisco, making possible reopening of the talks in Moscow.

The American and British members of the Polish commission, W. Averell Harriman and Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, ambassadors to Moscow, timed their departures from San Francisco to coincide with Molotov's.

The two ambassadors, in Harriman's plane, may stop in London to consult Stanislaw Mikolajczk, former Premier of the Polish government-in-exile, who is acceptable to the Russians as a member of a reorganized Warsaw administration. Moltov's route back to Russia was not disclosed.

Divergent Viewpoints.

The fundamental obstacle to establishment of a new Polish government was understood to be a difference between Russian and British-American interpretation of the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin agreement reached at Yalta for broadening the Warsaw provisional government.

The Russians insisted the three-power commission should meet first with the Soviet-recognized Polish government, and build a new government around that group, while the Americans and British held that they should start anew, meeting with representatives of all Polish factions.

Molotov's last public appearance in San Francisco was at a cocktail party he gave in the St. Francis Hotel last night for the Ukrainian and White Russian delegations. It was attended by Stettinius, Eden and other chairmen of delegations. The food and drink were entirely American.

Big-Power Harmony.

Molotov, whose two-week stay here has been marked by several stormy sessions over Poland and Argentina, is leaving the conference in an atmosphere of big-power harmony that few would have been willing to forecast within a few days ago. Soviet Ambassador to Washington Andrei Gromyko takes over chairmanship of the Russian delegation.

The presence of Molotov for the first two weeks is credited with having speeded the conference through the first phase of big-power agreement. A brief session of the Big Five last night marked his last official participation.

U. S. Delegates Divided.

Meanwhile, it was learned that the United States is seeking an agreement on control of lands seized in both world wars which will allow the Army and Navy to set up bases at any point in the world considered vital to United States security.

The question is one of the two most critical issues remaining before the conference. The other is how to dovetail the pan-American security system, recently worked out at Mexico City, into the security council of the proposed world organization.

The American delegation is sharply divided on the second question. Some favor giving the pan-American setup no special treatment, but strong opinion appears to be developing for a proposal that the council be given supreme authority over the pan-American system, but be instructed to delegate to it the power to enforce peace in strictly regional disputes in this hemisphere. President Truman may have to make the final decision.

British, U. S. Proposals.

The trusteeship formula which would allow Washington to arrange with other powers for military and naval bases wherever the War and Navy departments think them necessary is in conflict with a British trusteeship plan. The dispute, which is being discussed by a committee of British, American, French, Russian and Chinese representatives, centers chiefly on what to do about internationally held strategic points, such as some of the Pacific islands.

The United States would like to take exclusive control of the points it wants with the right to develop them as it sees fit under remote general supervision of the proposed world security council. The bases thus would be tied directly into the authority of the council to preserve peace by force, if necessary, and evidently would mean that American troops, planes and ships would be standing guard at many distant points.

The British plan makes less of a point about setting up strategic trusteeships. It has been opposed by American representatives as being less effective both from the standpoint of the welfare of dependent peoples and from that of American and world security.

Small Nations to Wait..

The conference yesterday agreed to give priority in its working committees to big-power amendments to the world charter. Proposals of small countries will have to wait their turn for consideration under a pattern of procedure approved by the conference's executive and steering committees.

On the question of voting procedure, the Steering Committee approved a plan whereby all matters except procedural ones shall be settled by a two-thirds vote. This is subject to formal approval of the full conference later.

LONDON, May 9 (AP).—Minister of State Richard Law told the House of Commons today that the British Government did not agree with Russia that the 16 Polish leaders under arrest by the Russians were all saboteurs. A Soviet broadcast had accused the Polish group, led by Gen. Leopold Okulicki, of sabotage behind the lines of the Red Army.

Asked whether the British Government had any "sound reasons" for believing the 16 Polish leaders still were alive, Law said that he regretted that "we have no further information than that with which the House is already familiar."

'Shall Go on to Lasting Peace,' Molotov Says

United Nations Must Consolidate Victory, He Asserts in Broadcast.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9 (AP).

SOVIET COMMISSAR MOLOTOV said last night the United Nations must "consolidate their victory" over Germany "for the sake of the freedom of nations and of the cultural development of mankind."

Speaking in a hastily arranged broadcast just as V-E day drew toward a close, he said: "We have won this great victory under the leadership of the great Stalin and we shall go on toward a lasting peace."

He spoke shortly after it was learned that he would leave San Francisco today for Moscow.

Smiling slightly, Molotov took his place before a battery of microphones. He was accompanied by an interpreter. Blinking in the bright lights, Molotov read his statement without stopping. Then the interpreter stepped to the microphones and repeated it in English.

Text of Address.

The text of the address follows:

"Today the instrument of unconditional surrender of Germany was made public in Moscow. The day of victory over Hitler Germany to which we have been looking forward so long is here. On this day all our thoughts go to those who by their heroism and with their arms have insured victory over our foe, over the mortal enemy of the United Nations.

The memory of fallen soldiers and of the innumerable victims of German Fascism will remain sacred to us forever. We shall honestly fulfill our great duties toward disabled soldiers and orphaned families.

"On the day of Germany's piratic attack upon the Soviet Union, the Soviet Government stated: 'Our cause is a just one. The enemy will be defeated. Victory will be ours.'

Long, Hard Fight.

"We have won this victory in long, hard fighting. The Soviet people have been exerting all their efforts to expel the invaders from their country and to defend their freedom and independence the way the immortal Lenin had taught us.

"Side by side with our democratic allies we have brought our war of liberation in Europe to a victorious conclusion. The victory over German fascism is of tremendous historic significance.

"We have won this glorious victory under the leadership of the great Stalin, and we shall go on toward the establishment of a lasting peace.

"We must consolidate our victory for the sake of the freedom of nations, of the welfare, cultural development and progress of mankind."

M'ARTHUR HAILS VICTORY, CITES 'TASK AHEAD IN EAST'

MANILA, May 9 (AP).—Gen. Douglas MacArthur yesterday hailed the success of Allied arms in Europe, praised those sacrificing on the home front and rededicated his command "to the task which yet lies ahead in the East."

"The survival of the progress of humanity under the burdens this war imposes is only possible if thereby the consciousness of mankind is aroused to a realization that war is inimical to human progress and a more constructive means is sought and found to preserve order and settle disputes among the peoples of the earth," MacArthur said.

MacArthur said, however, a monumental task remains in the east. "With the help of almighty God we shall not fail."

U. S. FLAG RAISED ON IWO FLIES FROM CAPITOL STAFF

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP).—The American flag once planted on the summit of Mount Suribachi, Iwo island, fluttered today from the flagstaff of the Capitol.

With military ceremonies, it was hoisted by the three survivors of the little group of fighting men who carried it to the peak of the volcanic mountain. They were Pfc. Rene A. Gagnon, Manchester, N. H., Pfc. Ira H. Hayes, Bapchule, Ariz., and John H. Bradley, Pharmacist's Mate, Appleton, Wis.

The picture of the flag raising on Iwo, made by an Associated Press photographer, Joe Rosenthal, is being used on the official Seventh War Loan posters.

YANKS IN BRITAIN CAN'T COME HOME ON VICTORY FURLOUGHS

LONDON, May 9 (AP). — All American troops in the United Kingdom will get "victory furloughs"—but not to return home—during May, June, July or August, Brig. Gen. E. F. Koenig, commander of the United States Army's United Kingdom base, said yesterday.

The furloughs will be spent in the British Isles and hotel accommodations already have been obtained in several coastal resort towns, the announcement said. The length of the furloughs was not specified.

Hitler's Palatial Aerie Undamaged By Raids, Expensively Furnished

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

IN HITLER'S HIDEOUT ATOP KEHLSTEIN MOUNTAIN, May 7 (Delayed) (AP).

THE palatial dimensions of Hitler's aerie here atop 7500-foot Kehlstein Mountain expose the myth of the Fuehrer's simplicity.

With two other American correspondents and a group of soldiers I climbed up to the so-called "tea house" where Hitler used to dream of world domination.

We were amazed at its size and expensive appointments. The hideout was completely undamaged by Allied bombing and all of its appointments were intact.

The altitude of Kehlstein Mountain is such that snow still covered the highest part of the well-constructed motor road leading to a point about 800 feet from the top, where cars were stopped before two huge bronze doors.

Formerly, after these swung open the cars proceeded some 25 feet into a tunnel, where a second set of doors opened. Guests alighted here and stepped into a rotunda serving as a waiting room. Thence they entered an elevator which carried them to the top, a six-minute ride.

Two Years to Build.

It took two years to build all this. As we were about to set out afoot for the top we encountered Fritz Bloss, Berchtesgaden electrical engineer, and an American officer coming down the mountain side. Bloss said the elevator had been knocked out when the electric cable connecting the mountain retreat with the power station in Berchtesgaden was cut.

"Every cup of tea drunk atop Kehlstein Mountain cost 10,000 marks," Bloss observed, "if you consider what it cost to build this road, with its six tunnels, and the tea house atop."

Bloss said Hitler had not been there recently.

We were accompanied on our journey to the top of the mountain by Capt. Russell F. Stephens, Los Angeles, an expert on mines. He was with us to search for mines and booby traps, but found none.

We climbed along narrow ledges with deep ravines yawning below us.

50-Foot Circular Room.

When we reached the chalet we first entered a circular living room 50 feet in diameter with walls as thick as those of a medieval fortress. It was constructed of mauve-colored sandstone and had a circular oak table in the center 12 feet in diameter. Around the table were comfortable club chairs.

Five huge windows and one smaller window afforded superb views in every direction.

The ceiling, about 14 feet high, had white oak beams.

There was a huge fireplace of chocolate marble streaked with white, on the inside were figures of medieval knights on horseback and the inscription: "built in 1938."

Eight candelabra, each holding six big candles, lighted the room.

Stepping down nine concrete steps from the main living room

Patton Warns Troops of Hard Fight in Asia

3rd Army Is 500,000 Strong as War in Europe Comes to End.

By EDWARD D. BALL

WITH THE UNITED STATES THIRD ARMY, May 9 (AP).—THE United States Third Army, firing the final shot against the Germans on the Western front, was told by Gen. George S. Patton Jr. yesterday: "We have ahead of us a hard, bitter campaign against the Japanese."

"The same, invincible fighting spirit displayed in Europe," he said in a message to his troops, "will be carried to the Pacific and will hasten the day of victory in the Pacific war.

"With the help of Almighty God and with the inspired leadership of our President and the high command we shall conquer . . . Japan until the last danger to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness shall perish from the earth."

Patton wound up the war in command of the biggest army in American history — 12 infantry and six armored divisions totaling 500,000 men.

His army—the last in action of the Western armies—spent the last day bagging 50,000 Germans who came in of their own accord, and in firing sporadic shots at isolated units which had not heard the news. The latter gave up after brief exchanges.

The final shot was fired by the Eightieth Infantry Division before the "cease fire" order was issued by Patton at 8 a. m. yesterday.

The front Monday night was aflame in celebration from end to end. Bonfires blazed across the picturesque Bohemian landscape. Multicolored flares blazed skyward, ack-ack batteries penciled the moonless night with millions of red tracers.

The main supply routes, where only faintly-glowing lights like cat's eyes had been permitted, looked like Hendrik Hudson Parkway. Headlights were turned on full tilt and the blackout forgotten.

Chaplains held thanksgiving services yesterday, or were making arrangements for them. There was but one thought—home—in the minds of everybody.

Sgt. Robert E. Lee, Campaign, Tenn., of the Fifth Infantry Division—the first infantry outfit overseas and the one in the last fight— summed up the feeling of his fellows:

"I hope our boys of the Red Dia-

Truman's Statement Viewed As Easing Way for Japs to Quit

President's Defining of Unconditional Surrender Held to Indicate Peace Feelers Have Been Received.

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP).

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S statement on unconditional surrender for Japan was widely viewed in Congress today as easing the way for the Japanese to end their futile struggle. Some legislators interpreted it, too, as lending credence to rumors of peace overtures from Tokyo.

Senator Johnson (Dem.), Colorado, said he regarded it as "confirmation" of peace feeler reports. "But you can expect peace overtures at all times in war," he commented to reporters. "They are a part of psychological warfare."

Similarly, Senator O'Mahoney (Dem.), Wyoming, said he would "not be surprised" if there have been peace feelers, adding:

"I think there is a distinct possibility the Japanese will not insist upon destruction of Japan to the extent Hitler insisted upon the destruction of Germany."

Surrender Defined.

The President's statement, issued along with his V-E proclamation yesterday, repeated this country's insistence on unconditional surrender by the Japanese military and naval forces. But Truman then asked what unconditional surrender means for the Japanese people and supplied this answer:

"It means the end of the war.

"It means the termination of the influence of the military leaders who have brought Japan to the present brink of disaster.

"It means provision for the return of soldiers and sailors to their families, their farms, their jobs.

"It means not prolonging the present agony and suffering of the Japanese in the vain hope of victory.

"Unconditional surrender does not mean the extermination or enslavement of the Japanese people."

Senator Taft (Rep.), Ohio, called this a "tremendously important addition to the unconditional surrender formula."

He viewed it as meaning "we will insist upon complete victory" but as stating "the conditions of unconditional surrender, namely that the farms and jobs of the Japanese will not be destroyed and that their soldiers and sailors will be allowed to return thereto."

Senator Hart (Rep.), Connecticut, a former Admiral who has fought the Japanese, commented:

"I am delighted that the President issued that statement. I have nothing to add to it and I would not change it."

Broadcast to Japan.

The President's statement was transmitted yesterday in Japanese over West Coast transmitters of the Office of War Information and relayed at Honolulu and Saipan. The Saipan transmitters, of medium wave, throw a clear, strong signal that can be picked up easily by the average home-owned set in Japan.

Capt. E. M. Zacharias, U. S. N., who speaks Japanese fluently, broadcast that he was beginning a series of talks to "responsible and thinking Japanese." He warned that the collapse of Germany "spells inevitable defeat of Japan." He emphasized that portion of the President's statement which said "unconditional surrender does not mean the extermination or enslavement of the Japanese people."

NEW DANISH PARLIAMENT MEETS; OPENED BY KING

COPENHAGEN, May 9 (AP).—Danish collaborationists will be punished and war incomes confiscated, Premier Wilhelm Buhl told the new Parliament today.

He said Denmark's adherence to the anti-Comintern pact was invalid because the country was forced into it during German occupation.

King Christian X made his first public appearance in two years, and was cheered wildly along the route from the palace to Parliament which he opened in traditional fashion.

12 CONGRESSMEN URGE SWIFT PUNISHMENT FOR ATROCITIES

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP).—Twelve Congressmen returned last night after viewing German atrocities and urged "swift, certain and adequate punishment" for all responsible.

The Senators and Representatives, who made the trip at the invitation of Gen. Eisenhower, announced that they would confer with Secretary of War Stimson and Chief of Staff George C. Marshall. They will report in detail to Congress.

WAR HAS COST U. S. 275 BILLION; END NOT YET IN SIGHT

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP).—This war has already cost the United States Government more than 275 billion dollars. Many more billions will be used up before it's all over.

The Government spent only 173 billion dollars for all purposes throughout the first 151 years of its existence, from 1789 to 1940.

The Treasury says it is impossible to calculate how much was spent in beating Germany and how much has so far gone into the Pacific combat. Naturally the European war has taken more than half.

The Japanese war will gobble up many more billions of dollars. After Japan collapses, there will be war-caused expenses such as caring for veterans, paying pensions and other benefits, and paying interest on the public debt, which now is 236 billion.

To illustrate, Government expenditures in the First World War were $25,729,000,000 through June 30, 1921. Between that date and 1934, an additional 16 billion was paid out for pensions, interest, and other purposes related to World War I, and we are still paying for that war.

In addition to war spending of 275 billion, the Government (including Government corporations) has spent about 30 billions for purposes not labeled "war" since July 1, 1940—bringing total Federal expenditures during that period of less than five years to more than 305 billion.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Society Must Plan

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

It was with genuine pleasure that I read in the Sunday Post-Dispatch the rebuttal of Stuart Chase to Prof. F. A. Hayek's book, "The Road to Serfdom."

Prof. Hayek states: "Democratic assemblies cannot function as planning agencies. They cannot produce agreement on everything." Has the professor not noticed the result of our planning for producing materials of war? Or would he advocate that each individual industry produce what it, under a free-enterprise system, believes is needed for a successful prosecution of the war?

Further, if planning for war production has produced a miracle that even the professor must admit, then why could not the same be applied to our peacetime efforts? Imagine a large and complex industrial enterprise trying to stay in business successfully for more than five minutes without the most intricate planning.

Industry, too, "cannot produce agreement on everything." A new line is planned and produced; if found wanting, it is altered or discarded. Planning and trial and error are of the very essence of progress.

Prof. Hayek says planning defeats its own purpose. Isn't he a bit premature in his assertion? We have been testing and trying the "free" system for hundreds of years, and still have one-third of the nation ill-fed, ill-housed and ill-educated, with the percentage much greater in other sections of the globe.

Who can say to what heights we may rise after 50 to 100 years of giving planning a trial? Only during the Stone Age was man truly free to work or not, steal or not, kill or not. But who wants to go back to those days, with the resultant complete insecurity, and be dependent upon the whims of the elements, his neighbor, the ravages of disease?

As man progresses, his civilization becomes more and more complex, necessitating more and more checks and balances, without which only retrogression and chaos would result. "The Road to Serfdom" is one of the most powerful arguments for the need of planning that has been produced thus far.

ARNOLD P. SCHNEIDER.

We're Still at War

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I commend the Post-Dispatch for including in the long-awaited "Victory! Germany Surrenders" issue a second equal headline: "War With Japs Now Our Big Job."

The only victory we have won in Europe is that the men who would have died tomorrow, had not the war ended, may now live. Now we must lessen the war-filled tomorrows in the Pacific.

FLORENCE THOMSEN.

"Fair Trade" For Whom?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

In your editorial Saturday you ask, "Fair Trade for Whom?" Let me say it is for the protection of thousands of independent merchants who are hanging on the ropes from the punishment they have taken from wartime restrictions and shortages, protection from the knockout blow ready to be delivered when conditions again are normal by the chains and other cutthroat competitors. It offers protection for those thousands of service men who want to operate independent stores when they return.

D. E. WIESENBORN.

An Irishman Is Ashamed

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I was greatly surprised to read in your paper of the condolences sent to the German Minister by Prime Minister De Valera of Eire, of which I am a native.

I feel ashamed, after all the Nazi horrors. I know that most Irishmen from Eire will share my own feelings of hurt at this news.

MARTIN J. WALSH.

Meat-Rationing Leakage

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The present meat shortage might be somewhat less distressing if many were not getting more than their red points justify. I am thinking of those who eat at meetings or organizations and at restaurants when it is not necessary.

Clubs and Ladies' Aids and other organizations continue to receive points. If we cannot meet without eating, we should provide points for food at meetings from our own books. A plan should also be instituted whereby the person whose work requires that he eat at restaurants be given coupons which he may surrender for such meals, and whereby those who have no such coupons be served unrationed foods only.

I think we should insist on the fairest distribution possible, and then stop our griping. A somewhat decreased diet is not worth mentioning compared to the suffering in other countries.

Two Bits for Relief

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The House of Representatives has generously allotted persons on relief the tremendous sum of 25 cents per day. If this doesn't arouse the indignation and wrath of Missourians, then nothing is real—all is pretense. Shame to all of us if we let this thing pass unchanged.

HARRY ADELSTEIN.

Now to Try the Criminals

With V-E day past, public demand for speedy and effective trials of the Axis war criminals is rising. Unfortunately, no court to try these sadistic wretches has been set up, and there are doubts as to whether proper justice will be done.

Misgivings are heard, for example, over the views of Justice Robert H. Jackson, recently named United States chief of counsel in trying Axis leaders whose crimes were committed in several countries. As quoted in the Post-Dispatch last Sunday, he called a month ago for "trials in fact, not merely trials in name, to ratify a predetermined result," and laid down the principle: "You must put no man on trial if you are not willing to see him freed if not proved guilty."

Even some who realize the need for upholding just principles are disturbed by this doctrine. Will it not, they ask, involve the trials in red tape, and possibly let some known murderers go free? Will it not mean prolonged trials, lasting possibly for years, until they are abandoned? Will it not convert the court into a forum for the spouting of Nazi doctrine?

Fair trials are important, to demonstrate that our victory means the return of law and justice to Europe and to establish every crime beyond all doubt. It is essential, to quote the statement of the editors who recently viewed the Nazi horror camps, that "all those responsible for these atrocities must be punished in accordance with the accepted laws of civilized nations." We are convinced such trials and punishment can be provided without the predicted failure, if an effective court with determined Judges and an adequate code of law is created.

For one thing, this will be an international military tribunal, Mr. Truman announced last week. Military courts administer even-handed yet speedy justice; they lack the time-consuming procedure so often found in civilian courts. The hair-splitters who blocked action on World War I crimes cannot dominate such a court.

Evidence is plentiful. The horrifying relics of the murder camps alone are a blistering indictment. Survivors were found in many camps, and will be eager to testify. The Nazi crack-up came so rapidly that records could not be destroyed; many were captured. It is hard to conceive of a known criminal being freed for lack of evidence if the court is alert.

An alert Judge, by keeping a firm hand on irrelevant matter, can keep out the Nazi harangues. The issue will not be, Is this man a Nazi?, but Did he commit this crime? His vicious ideology will be wholly immaterial. Surely no civilized court will consider the plea that it is no crime to starve and torture to death a person of so-called "inferior" race.

Trials are important, real trials conducted on legal principles, to punish the guilty and clear those proved innocent. Summary executions are the Nazi method. But blind subservience to technicalities should not be tolerated. Our objective is, as Mr. Truman has well said:

> A trial procedure which will be expeditious in nature and which will permit no evasion or delay, but one in keeping with our tradition of fairness toward those accused of crime.

Now is the time for swift action in setting up the court so the trials may start at once. It is time for the United Nations Crime Commission to stop its stalling and get down to business. It is time for an outraged society to use its civilized methods and bring to justice the foul beasts guilty of wholesale crimes that have shocked the world.

V for Norway

In a little while now, on May 17, a Norway in mourning for heavy losses will celebrate the fortieth anniversary of its Constitution and the reign of the humane monarch who has administered under its democratic rule. Yet it will be a proud day, for Norway has reached glory through trials of honey and searing acid alike.

Sweetness came first. The Nazis seemed to admire the Norwegians, as true Nordics, out of that great Viking tradition which Hitler sought to appropriate for his own—a race of straight-standing exponents of the vigorous life. Would Norwegians but be good pupils, the Nazis would be gentle teachers in the arts of master-racing.

Except for Quisling and a few henchmen, Norwegians had no taste for such education. Foredoomed military resistance continued two months. When force swarmed over, children ostentatiously threw away German gifts of chocolates. Their elders elaborately faced the other way when Germans passed. Athletes refused to perform; verboten "V for victory" and "H-7" for King Haakon VII symbols went up; the clandestine press made monkeys of the conquerors with Peer Gyntian hoaxes.

Young men escaped by the thousands to join Norwegian legions. Norse ships fought on. Sabotage was artful and thorough. Snubs broke the conquerors' hearts and material resistance drove them crazy. Presently, and thoroughly, came the customary terror, the last resource of the outwitted brute. Norway withstood it all.

At long last, after five years, the uninvited guests are ejected. In this bright May, Norway is free to work out the destiny so auspiciously unfolding until 1940—free, let us pray, forever.

Mystery of the 16 Poles

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.

Once again, the Polish question has arisen to plague the meeting of the United Nations. Despite repeated inquiries by Britain and the United States for over a month as to what became of the delegation of 16 Poles reported invited to Moscow, it was only last week that Mr. Molotov admitted they had been arrested for "diversionist activities against the Red Army." Thereupon, consultation among the Big Four on the Polish question was broken off until the Soviet Government sees fit to explain what Mr. Stettinius calls a "disturbing development" and Mr. Eden calls "most disquieting information."

Throughout this conference, while he was playing a bold poker game on behalf of admission of the Warsaw Government, Mr. Molotov must have known that the 16 Poles had been arrested. Yet he kept the United States and Britain in ignorance.

The time is long past due for the Soviet Government to lay all its cards on the table and to quit playing a shifty, deceptive game. We fully recognize Russia's grave concern over Poland in the matter of its own military defense. Nevertheless, Stalin made an agreement at Yalta to broaden and democratize the Warsaw Government, and he should make it good. If he refuses to do so, a shadow falls on all the agreements signed at Yalta.

The prevailing mood at San Francisco concerning the arrest of the 16 Poles is one of disappointment and cynicism. This is because the immediate issue is transcended by the larger one of good faith among the Big Three.

If Russia persists in unilateral treatment of the Polish question, after agreeing at Yalta to American and British participation, what becomes of a hundred other problems in which multilateral agreement is urgently needed? What effect will the breach over the Polish question have in the attitude of the small powers toward the Big Three? Did Stalin really mean it when he repeatedly said he stood for "a strong and independent Poland"?

These and many other questions are being asked about the mystery of the 16 Poles.

Harding on Armistice Day

On the occasion of the previous German surrender, on Nov. 11, 1918, the following appeared in a statement by Senator (later President) Harding of Ohio:

> It is not so spectacular as a march to Berlin, but it proclaims the end of German autocracy, the end of the German military menace and the dawn of a new era in the world.

Many more than Harding thought this, but it proved otherwise. This time, there has been a march to Berlin, and an occupation of all Germany. It is much more than merely spectacular—it is an impressive lesson to the Germans in the fact that war does not pay.

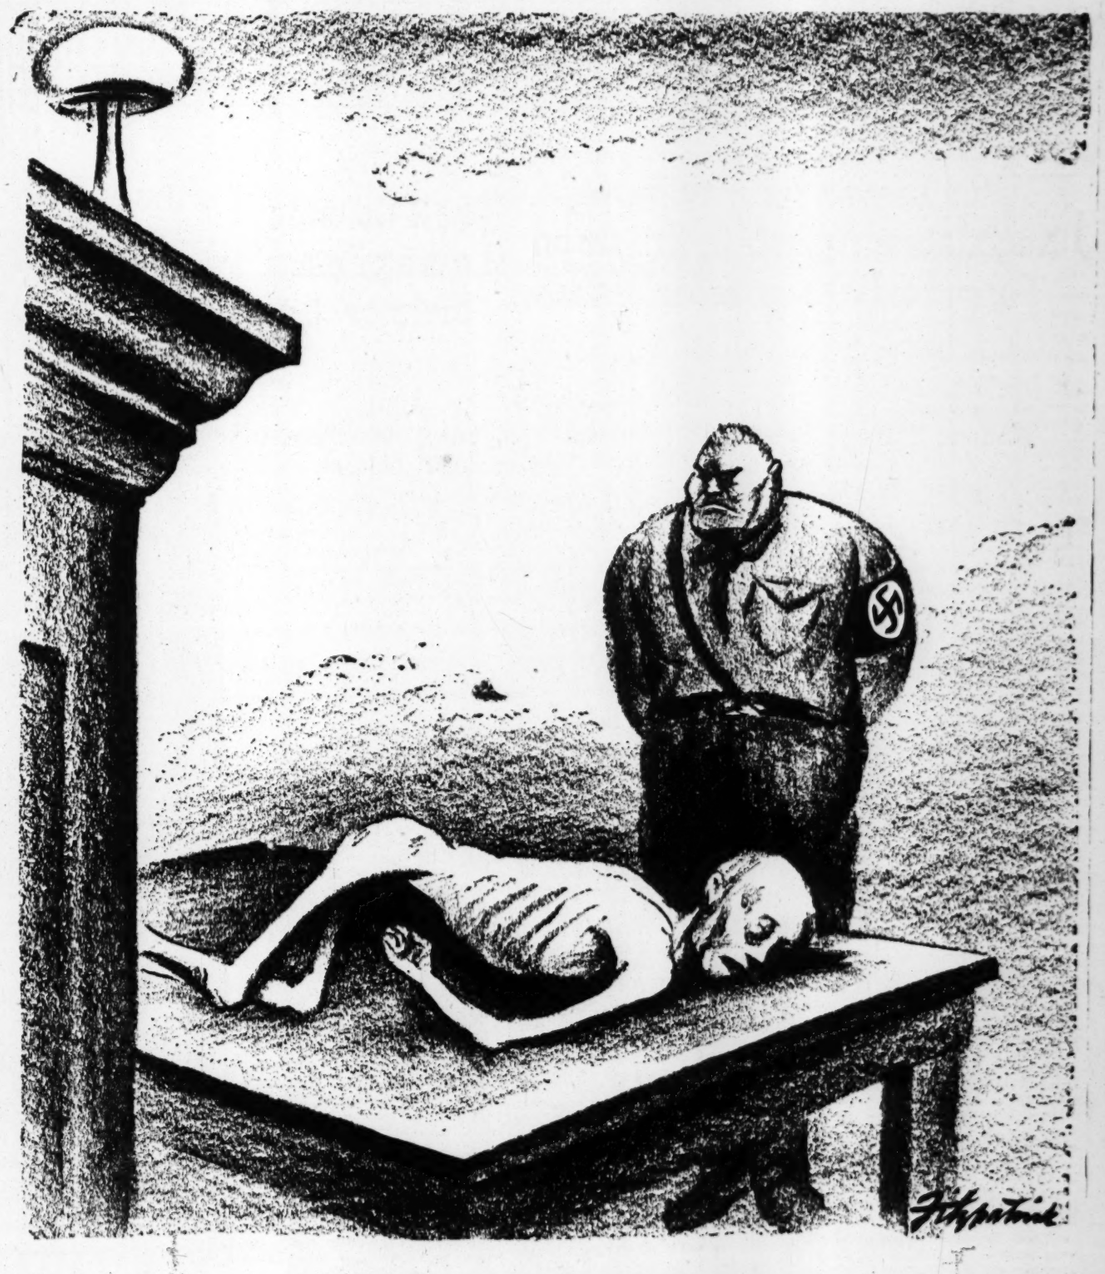
As before, we are hoping that German autocracy and militarism are ended, and that a new era is dawning. Now the all-essential job, at San Francisco and elsewhere, is to make the revived hopes of suffering mankind come true.

Good News From Burma

During the excitement over German surrender, many have overlooked the fine progress of the Southeast Asia Command in the re-conquest of Burma. Last week, after 15 months of bitter campaigning, Lord Mountbatten's men recaptured the great port of Rangoon. They are now pursuing the beaten enemy toward Moulmein.

The China-Burma-India theater—"CBI" in soldier lingo—is highly important for speeding up Hirohito's doom. Japan's attack on Burma and Malaya came right after Pearl Harbor. The Japs have clung to these bastions of distant defense as stubbornly as the Germans did to North Italy. Japan must be driven out of them as she is being driven from the Philippines.

Britain's Fourteenth Army recaptured Rangoon so smartly that the defenders had no time to destroy the port installations. Chinese authorities are properly jubilant over this, because it assures early resumption of the flow of goods through the port to the old Burma, now Stilwell, Road. This should prove particularly helpful in re-equipping the Chinese for the coming battle to drive out the invaders.



CASE NO. 1—THE NAZI MURDERERS

MVA

A CLOSE-UP OF THE MISSOURI VALLEY

By Rufus Terral
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff

The Missouri Valley lost 300,000 of its population in the drouths of the '30s. The loss ranged as high as 60 per cent of the population in some counties of Western Kansas.

If the setback is not to be permanently reflected in restricted opportunities, and if similar setbacks are not to occur periodically in the future, the valley will have to be purposefully developed in the interest of more and better livelihoods.

Development of the valley will first of all provide jobs on the project itself—the jobs that can help to cope with the employment emergency immediately after the war.

TVA, only seven months after it was created by Congress, had started dam-building. Within a year, it was employing 5000 men. At the peak, in the early '40s, 40,000 were in its service. Its lowest employment in its 12 years has been 11,000.

MVA, operating in a region more than 10 times as large as TVA's, would, it has been unofficially estimated, employ as many as 150,000 men and women. Thousands would be needed to clear reservoir lands, to build dam and to build construction villages.

TVA had to build 15 construction villages, one of them large enough to house 5000 workers, at dam sites remote from towns large enough to house a sudden influx of several thousand employes. Most of the projects on the Missouri and its tributaries would be remote from large towns and would require housing for the workmen.

When the construction of dams and reservoirs is completed, there will be permanent jobs for people who will operate them, and for the hundreds of others who will be needed in a large, far-flung system of engineering works for irrigation, flood control, navigation and the production and transmission of electric power.

But this is the less important side of MVA's usefulness as a creator of jobs. More important will be the opportunities the development will create.

New irrigation will help to stabilize existing livelihoods on farms and will make it possible for thousands more to earn a living by farming. The Reclamation Bureau estimates that completion of the 5,000,000 acres of irrigation it proposes would mean 53,000 more farms of 90 acres each, capable of supporting 212,000 persons, and creating 424,000 jobs in towns and cities for the supplying of goods and services.

It might be well to remember that this is 10 times as much irrigation as the Reclamation Bureau has brought about in the Missouri Valley in the last 43 years; that irrigation requires an outlay of $29 an acre, on the average, to prepare the land, and a difficult and fairly long process of education to prepare the farmer. Irrigation will create opportunities, but there are many limiting factors.

Low-cost electric power and low-cost water transportation will open up new industrial opportunities and will increase farm income. Just one among many possibilities is phosphate fertilizer. Low rates for power and transportation could enable it to be lowered in cost, enabling more farmers to use it, providing more jobs for people to manufacture, handle and transport it, and rebuilding the fertility of the soil to yield more and better incomes.

Jobs in MVA itself would be a life-saver to thousands of veterans and discharged war-plant workers right after the war. But MVA's primary importance as a job-provider would lie in transforming a region on the downgrade into a region on the upgrade.

Opinions on the Penalizing of AP

Ted O. Thackrey, editor, and Edward P. Flynn, executive editor, of the New York Post—The news of the German surrender has been deliberately withheld from the public by high Allied officials. This suppression squarely violates fundamental rights respecting freedom of information as well as freedom of access to facilities.

Josephus Daniels, publisher of the News and Observer, Raleigh, N. C., and World War I Navy Secretary—I can see no justification for suspending the Associated Press.

San Francisco News—This suspension is not in the American tradition of freedom of the press as we understand it. The San Francisco News does not, and never has, used the news reports of the Associated Press. But it seems to us wholly unfair that the Associated Press should be penalized in this manner. Its member newspapers and their readers are entitled to reports of whatever news there is.

Newark (N. J.) Star-Ledger—The truth of the story has not been questioned and cannot be questioned. The punishment of more than 1000 American newspapers and foreign newspapers is wanton reprisal by a thin-skinned officialdom. Kennedy was a reporter and city editor of this newspaper before he joined the Associated Press. We know him to be extremely conscientious, reliable and thoughtful. The fault in this muddle, it seems to us, lies in extremely bad press relations in Washington or in Europe or in both places.

John S. Knight, publisher of the Knight newspapers and president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors—This action is in direct conflict with concurrent resolution adopted by both houses of Congress calling for greater freedom of world news.

New York World-Telegram—We regard this action by SHAEF as unconscionable and believe it should be immediately rescinded.

Frank Ahlgren, editor, Memphis Commercial Appeal—Looks like peevishness of somebody who doesn't realize the seriousness of the implications in suspension. The facts do not justify the record.

Hartford (Conn.) Courant—Thanks rather than censure are due the Associated Press for not making the world wait longer for the joyful tiding that the final chapter of Nazi frightfulness had been written.

Jacksonville (Fla.) Times-Union—The matter certainly should be taken up on the floors of Congress, for on the face of things the impression is gained that some of the big shots became peeved because they were denied the privilege of going on the air with the first word of the surrender.

H. F. Wheeler, managing editor, Boston Traveler—The action of SHAEF in suspending the filing facilities of the AP in the European theater was both stupid and outrageous.

John W. Vandercook, NBC—The Associated Press undertook to fulfill its function to bring news promptly to the people, rather than wait upon propaganda agencies and permit them to take over its work. The conduct of the Allied military authorities constitutes grave interference with legitimate news gathering at its source by the most important news agency serving the Allied nations.

Troy (N. Y.) Record—Apparently the authorities are angry with the AP for not waiting "hat in hand" for permission to tell the biggest story of the decade.

New York Post—The Army acted with an arrogance that is foreign not only to our constitutional system, but to American military tradition. And it invites a rebuke. . . . The Army, while lifting the ban on AP, has suspended Edward Kennedy. Will the Army please stop trying to save its face?

The New Orleans Times-Picayune—A prompt statement from authorities who imposed drastic and arbitrary punishment for an offense not defined, upon a news agency which has been given no hearing, should be ordered by the Washington administration or demanded by Congress.

Los Angeles Times—We believe this is most unfair. . . . If there had been any question as to the propriety of releasing it (Kennedy's dispatch), censorship should have intervened before the news was processed and not afterwards.

Richmond (Va.) Times-Dispatch—This suspension was an egregious mistake, and whoever was responsible for it should be taken to task severely by the President.

H. V. Kaltenborn, NBC—My guess is that the surrender of Germany took place exactly as Kennedy reported it from France. Kennedy got the information and by some miracle got it past the censors. Because it was accurate, it could not be denied. Because it was unofficial and unauthorized, it could not be confirmed.

Syracuse (N. Y.) Post-Standard—The most important news story of modern times was mangled by the worst combination of international red tape and governmental stupidity that the present generation has ever seen. Thus millions of Americans who depend on AP newspapers and radio stations were penalized for an unknown violation by one individual.

Robert Trout, CBS—The news was obviously authentic. Ed Kennedy seems to have got himself one of the biggest scoops in the world—he had the right stuff and he sent it.

James G. Stahlman, publisher, Nashville (Tenn.) Banner—The unwarranted un-American action of SHAEF in barring the Associated Press from filing anywhere in the European theater is a disgrace to the American concept of a free press. It is the biggest blunder of the war.

Frank B. Noyes, president, the Washington Star—The suspension strikes a blow at one of the principles for which we have fought this war—freedom of the press and the right of peoples everywhere "to know."

Philadelphia Record—It was a ghastly paradox that, in the hour of triumph for democratic ideals, the public relations office of the United States Army should be guilty of a most undemocratic act—suspension of the right of the Associated Press to transmit its news from the European theater of operations.

Leland Stowe, Blue network—There are no hedges, no weasel phrases in Kennedy's sensational paragraphs. In content they are calm, factual reporting. . . . SHAEF did not deny anything in Kennedy's dispatch. I believe Ed has scored the scoop of a lifetime.

Silliman Evans, publisher, Nashville Tennessean—The American people in this hour of victory over the dictators who denied the freedom of the press are shocked to learn of the unprecedented action of the military in imposing suspension of the Associated Press.

The Oakland (Cal.) Tribune—When our leaders in authority fully wake up to the fact that this is not their war, but the people's war, we may expect an apology to Mr. Kennedy.

A Powerful Novel of the War Has Many Symbols of Tragedy

"Age of Thunder," by Frederic Prokosch. (Harper & Brothers, New York.)

"What will peace bring this time?" asks an old woman at the conclusion of Mr. Prokosch's new novel. "Peace alone brings nothing. Yes, monsieur, my mother said it to me and my grandmother before her, and it is still true—we must learn to love one another or die, and that is the only lesson, and there is no other, and that is all there is."

This, and a great deal more, Mr. Prokosch says in his new book, but it would be a rash reader indeed who thought he knew all that the book implies, or who considered this speech or any other the key that will unlock the whole book. For the novel is a fable of man's inquiring spirit, abroad in occupied France, a symbol of the modern world, seeking the reason for man's repeated failures and his treachery to himself.

He finds the reasons in the souls of various symbolic characters: Quivar, the fine primitive Negro, who has been tortured until he can no longer love anything but Nature, and whose naturalism alone cannot save him; Don Giacinto, who celebrates "the love of man for man, even in the darkest of times," but who is tortured by his own gradual decay and by his fear of death; his wife, Donna Raffaelina, who, despite, her own loneliness, comforts him: "To me death does not seem dreadful, my dear. It is the purest of all processes. It is a release and a return to earth; a caress, a benediction"; and the leading character, Jean-Nicolas, who comes to think that "with his heart and blood, not with his mind, he could discern the inner, invisible rot which was destroying" mankind.

Mr. Prokosch leads us through a world of darkness, a world which symbolizes the tragedy of the contemporary world, and man's gropings therein. This half-lit world is suggestively evoked by a prose style that is always exquisitely but firmly modeled. Its texture is that of lush forest undergrowth, rich with fern and moss and deep unknown growths close to the forest soil. Yet it is not ornate. It evokes perfectly the twilight world of man's darkened spiritual Europe.

Like life, the book is not fully tragic, though the stream of tragedy is strong. It asserts allegorically man's dignity and his hope. As one of the characters says: "Tragedy occurs only to free men; to men who live on the crest of life and who refuse to accept equalization or defeat. Tragedy is the medal which fate pins on the fallen hero; it is the final acknowledgment of man's dignity."

Clearly, Mr. Prokosch's book is surpassingly good; just how good, it would be presumptuous to assert while one is still in awe of its manifest excellence.

An Exchange of Wartime Letters

"Whistle While You Wait," by Fred Howard, with Interludes by Janet. (Duell, Sloan & Pearce, New York.)

This is a series of letters written by a bombardier to his wife during his 16 months overseas, interspersed by some of her letters to him. Janet is fortunate to have a husband who is apparently born with a natural talent for writing, and sends her light-hearted play-by-play accounts of his adventures in the war (strictly censored, of course). Fred is fortunate, too, for Janet writes him all the little things that happen at home, including what Butch, the baby, said in the grocery store today.

The book is highly enjoyable, perhaps because its author's experience is the common lot of so many people these days.

WHERE MR. DULLES STANDS

By RALPH COGHLAN

Editor of the Post-Dispatch Editorial Page

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.

IT is being said half jestingly, half seriously in San Francisco that the United States delegation is being dominated intellectually and otherwise by its Republican members, principally Senator Vandenberg. Since the ghost of 1920, when the United States abandoned the League of Nations, hovers over this meeting, it can readily be seen that President Truman and Secretary Stettinius would lean over backward to guard against sabotage of the world peace settlement by another Senator Lodge or another group of irreconcilables.

Be that as it may, there is no doubt that the Republican party is brilliantly and powerfully represented here.

Senator Vandenberg and Comdr. Stassen are making a fine contribution to the work of the conference. One of the most potent advisers of the delegation is John Foster Dulles, whose mind works with the precision and delicacy of a Swiss watch. Mr. Dulles, as everyone recalls, was Gov. Dewey's adviser on foreign affairs during the last presidential campaign and worked closely with ex-Secretary Hull to keep partisanship on this issue to a minimum.

For World Legal Code.

Mr. Dulles was asked today to give the Post-Dispatch a bird's-eye view of the conference thus far as he sees it. He naturally thinks in legal concepts of the new world organization now being formed, and he regards the formation of an extensive body of international law, far more comprehensive and far-reaching than anything in the past which has gone by that name, as essential to a sound and enduring structure.

His views are well-formed and very definite. Here is the way he looks at it:

The proposals framed at Dumbarton Oaks were purely mechanistic. They set up the machinery for a world order, but there was no indication of the standards by which they were to be applied.

For example, it is a curious fact that the word "justice" did not appear anywhere in the Dumbarton Oaks instrument, except when it mentioned the World Court of International Justice. Similarly, no mention was made of international law, except incidentally, or of human rights.

Most of the talk among the Foreign Ministers of the Big Four has been devoted to the question of filling up this moral vacuum. Proposals to do so came from each member of the Big Four. All recognized independently that you had to give the instrument being fashioned here a moral purpose; that you had to make it a living, vital force. Without a sense of mission or purpose, it was foredoomed to failure. Great progress has been made in this direction.

A Rock of Procedure.

Mr. Dulles thinks that one of the most important single things to do is to direct the Assembly of the world organization to formulate and codify international law, so decisions can be guided by accepted principles instead of by political expediency. These principles will form the rock upon which the nations of the world can stand when considering specific problems.

With the lethargy that is sure to ensue when the war is over, political expediency may give us peace for 15 or 20 years, but if it is not fortified by anything else, the world organization might easily fall apart as each nation, guided only by its own desires and ambitions, goes its own uncharted way or accedes only half-heartedly and grudgingly to common decisions.

So Mr. Dulles thinks we are racing against time; that we must shore up and buttress the new world organization with legal bulwarks.

Up to now, it has been pretty cavalierly assumed that the Big Three, Big Four or Big Five can keep the peace by working together along expedient lines. This, thinks Mr. Dulles, is utterly illusory. So he looks forward hopefully to the formulation and codification of international law by the Assembly. He believes the inclusion of such concepts as "justice," "international law" and "human rights" changes the whole character of the document that came out of Dumbarton Oaks.

Assembly's Tough Job.

The task of the Assembly will be a tough one. It will, of course, draw from accepted rules of the past, but, presumably through a commission of jurists, it will, or should seek to, make new rules and establish new principles. When these are adopted, they will be submitted to member states for adoption.

Mr. Dulles likens the process to numerous model laws drawn up in this country and submitted to the states for adoption. He cites, for example, the stock-transfer law and the negotiable-instruments law. The latter has been adopted by nearly every state.

One of the first tasks of the Assembly would be to define aggression. We think we know what that is, such as Japan's attack on Manchuria and Hitler's various marches into Czechoslovakia, Austria, Poland and France. But in the future, there may be less overt and more cunning methods of aggression. We ought to be told exactly what it is, so that the machinery now being devised against aggression can be set into motion.

The Panama Canal Grab.

One of Mr. Dulles' favorite illustrations of how international law has been deficient in the past is the case of the Panama Canal. The United States had to have a Panama passage through the isthmus for security and commercial reasons, so that ships would not have to take the long trip around Cape Horn. Panama was owned by the Republic of Colombia, which said No when asked for the right to build the big ditch. Theodore Roosevelt then felt he had to improvise means to do so.

The Republic of Panama was set up, the United States quickly recognized it and work on the canal was started. It was a very phony deal, as the country admitted many years later when Congress voted to indemnify Colombia against the loss of the Panama territory. If the world had had a Security Council in those days, it might have stopped us from the course we pursued.

Mr. Dulles foresees similar situations arising in the future, when nations need land for security or other purposes, and he proposes that, in order to get it peacefully and legally, there should be an international law of eminent domain.

How Plan Would Work.

If such a law were set up, and an air field were needed somewhere, it could be obtained by orderly procedure. If a man or a corporation owned an island and refused to grant the right to construct a needed lighthouse, he or it could be compelled to do so under proper procedure, accompanied by suitable compensation.

So, in Mr. Dulles' view, the new world organization cannot function on a sound basis until a body of law is created which is recognized by all nations. Otherwise, with the war over, and the nations once again feeling their oats, there is no telling what might happen. This body of law, once agreed to by member nations, would be enforced by the Security Council, acting as the executive arm of the world organization.

Mr. Dulles was asked where the World Court came in. He recalled that the old World Court, in its many years of existence, decided very few cases. Its only really important decision refused Germany and Austria permission to form a customs union. By a majority of one, the court voted No on the ground that such a union would be a violation of the Treaty of Versailles and the Treaty of Trianon.

The decision was bitterly criticised all over the world, and it gave aid and comfort to Hitler. He was able to say that the cards were stacked against Germany in the Court of International Justice, and he later proceeded to obtain by force what had been denied Germany by legal processes. Only he went much further than a customs union and destroyed Austria's separate identity.

Court in a Vacuum.

Mr. Dulles said the old court had all the robes and trappings, but the trouble was it had so little law to interpret. It and its predecessor, the Hague Court, functioned more or less in a vacuum.

For example, neither court, if it had existed at the time, could have decided the Panama Canal problem because no law on the subject existed to be judicially interpreted.

On the other hand, the new World Court—or the old one reconstituted—can be a very important part of the new world setup if it is given a basic set of principles to guide it—just as our own Supreme Court bases its decisions on interpretations of the Constitution of the United States. If such a document did not exist, how could the court function in an orderly manner?

If the world wins the race against time, if we can build up a body of international principles, laws and regulations binding upon all nations—instead of trying to traverse the quicksands of political expediency—Mr. Dulles looks forward to the future not only with hope but with confidence that San Francisco will endure.

WREATH FROM TRUMAN LAID ON GRAVE OF ROOSEVELT

HYDE PARK, N. Y., May 9 (AP).—In a rain-drenched garden, a wreath was laid yesterday on the flower-decked grave of the late President Roosevelt—a victory day tribute from President Harry S. Truman. After announcing the European victory to the nation from Washington yesterday morning Truman ordered flowers placed at the grave on the Roosevelt estate.

Maj. Gen. Francis V. Wilby, superintendent of the Military Academy at West Point, carried out the request. Thirty soldiers from the academy and the military police detachment stationed on the estate stood at attention while Gen. Wilby placed the three-foot wreath of red carnations, daisies, larkspur and lilies.

The only spoken words were those of the Rev. John D. Walthower, West Point Protestant chaplain, who prayed that the nation reconsecrate its effort to bring the late President's "dream to actuality."

ST. LOUISAN UNHURT IN OKINAWA BLAST

Japanese Shell Blows Up Artillery Unit's Ammunition Dump.

Marine Pfc. Lewis B. Hunter, 4008 Garfield avenue, was in a gun crew on Okinawa when a Japanese shell blew up the artillery unit's ammunition dump, a Marine Corps dispatch reported today.

Camouflage netting over his head was shredded by the blast, shell fragments flew past him, the gun was nicked and a seven-foot crater replaced the dump—but Hunter and eight comrades escaped with no more than a shaking up from the concussion. Damage to the gun's sights kept it out of action for a day.

One Busy Day on Iwo.

Pfc. Arthur Meixsell, 1492 Stewart place, went in on the Iwo invasion at 6 o'clock one evening and was being evacuated at the same hour next day. In that 24-hour period, he had waded through sulphur-steaming clay, shot a Japanese in the neck, listened to the scream of a comrade whose hand had been hacked off by a Japanese, volunteered to cross an air strip under intense fire and received a shell fragment wound in the arm. He is now recovering at a hospital somewhere in the Pacific, where he was interviewed by Sgt. Edward F. Ruder, Marine Corps combat correspondent from St. Louis.

Wounded, Aids Others.

Another dispatch by Sgt. Ruder told of heroism by a Marine medical corpsman from St. Louis, Pharmacist's Mate Second Class Joseph P. Dolan, 4777 St. Louis avenue. It quoted another Marine, who saw Dolan in action, as saying: "Just as we hit the beach we were caught in an enemy artillery and mortar barrage. Dolan plunged through the smoke and dust and treated the wounded Marines wherever they fell. Finally he was struck in the back by a shell fragment.

"Though he was bleeding badly, the corpsman refused help. He kept going to the aid of other wounded men until he collapsed 30 minutes later. He was evacuated and hospitalized."

Y. M. C. A. EXPLAINS GIFT CUP FOR GERMAN SOCCER TEAM

German prisoners of war in the United States in the last few months have voluntarily contributed more than $20,000 to the Young Men's Christian Association to pay for such items as the loving cup donated for the best soccer team at Camp Clark, Mo., the international committee of the Y. M. C. A. stated today in defending its offer of the cup.

The money contributed by prisoners pays for more than two-thirds of all supplies provided for them by the Y. M. C. A., and helps defray general expenses of the organization's service to all war prisoners, Eugene E. Barnett, general secretary of the international committee, said in a statement issued in New York.

The statement was issued after Lt. Col. E. N. Frakes, commanding officer at Camp Clark, heatedly denied prisoners were receiving privileges and announced he was returning the "damn little two-buck hunk of pewter" to the donor. "Providing of trophies and awards to American prisoners in Germany would would not have been possible without a similar service being performed for German prisoners in the United States," Barnett stated.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

WITH all arrangements completed in two days to coincide with brief leaves of both the bridegroom and the bride's father, Miss Katherine Burnes Gatch, daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Hayward Hutchinson Gatch, and Cpl. James Busch Orthwein will be married this afternoon at the Gatch home, 2 Fordyce lane, Ladue.

Maj. Gatch, an Army transportation officer, arrived in St. Louis last Wednesday from Camp Beale, near Sacramento, Cal., to which he will return tomorrow, and Cpl. Orthwein reached here Monday from the New Orleans Army Air Base on a two weeks' leave. The ceremony, at 5:30 o'clock, is only for the two families. Half an hour later an informal reception will be held for additional guests invited by telephone.

The bridal party will descend the stairway and proceed to the living-room mantel where the Rev. Dr. Clifford Stanley, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, will perform the ceremony. White flowers—Easter lilies, stock and snapdragon—will afford the chief decoration. Clustered in vases, they will be arranged about the rooms and will fill two large urns on the mantel ledge. The fireplace is filled with greenery. A small string ensemble will play the wedding music.

Today's bride will wear the simple white duchesse satin gown in which her sister, Mrs. William Upthegrove, (Caroline O'Fallon Gatch) was married. Fitted smoothly to the hipline, the skirt is gathered on full both in front and back and lengthens into an extensive train. The long-sleeved bodice is finished with a modified square neckline. The coronet which will hold her long tulle veil in place is heirloom rose point lace. The bride's bouquet is made up of gardenias and stephanotis.

Mrs. Upthegrove is to be matron of honor and Miss Katherine Hill, the bride's cousin, bridesmaid. They will be dressed alike, their gowns combining talisman-colored faille bodices, made with draped sleeves ending just below the elbows, and square necklines, with full white marquisette skirts over white taffeta. Their headdresses match their bodices and their flowers will be talisman roses and copper-toned snapdragon.

Cpl. Orthwein, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy J. Orthwein of Huntleigh Village, will have his father as best man. Cpl. Andrew Johnson Shinkle, just home from service in Italy, and Hayward F. Gatch Jr., the bride's younger brother, will be ushers. Lt. Adolphus Busch Orthwein, U. S. N. R., the bridegroom's brother, is on the West Coast.

Mrs. Gatch will wear royal blue crepe with a small flower hat and lavender orchids, while the bridegroom's mother will wear black crepe with touches of white and a small black hat trimmed with black velvet streamers. Her flowers will be white orchids.

Reception guests will be served in the dining room from a table centered with a silver wine cooler filled with white spring flowers.

Out-of-town members of the families were unable to reach St. Louis in time for the ceremony, but the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. August A. Busch, who annually spends her summers in Cooperstown, N. Y., is still in St. Louis and will be present.

Cpl. Orthwein and his bride will spend their brief time together near St. Louis. Better known as Kay, she is a graduate of Mary Institute and attended the Masters School, Dobbs Ferry, N. Y. Her grandparents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Elias S. Gatch and the late Col. and Mrs. Joseph Gilman Miller. A former student at St. Louis Country Day School and a graduate of Choate School, Wallinford, Conn., the bridegroom attended Washington University.

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD S. FUNSTEN, 550 McKnight road, have as their guest Mr. Funsten's niece, Miss Florence Forbes, who arrived yesterday from her home in Bronxville, N. Y. She will be informally entertained during her two weeks' stay.

Another visitor in St. Louis will be Mrs. Wilbur C. Golz, who will arrive tomorrow to spend several days with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Landrith B. Parker. Mrs. Golz is en route from San Diego, Cal., where she has been with her husband, a seaman, first class, in the Naval Reserve, to her home in Aurora, Ill. Mrs. Parker, the former Miss Jane Gale Henderson, makes her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gale Henderson, 11 Granada Way, Ladue. Her husband, an Army lieutenant, is on duty in the Pacific area.

The Hendersons' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Homer A. LaBarr, and their two young daughters, Barbara and Susan, returned recently to St. Louis after having lived for several years in Litchfield, Ill., and are also guests at the Henderson home. They will take possession Monday of their new home at 600 Atalanta avenue, Webster Groves. Mrs. LaBarr is the former Miss Alice Henderson.

POPE GIVES THANKS FOR PEACE IN EUROPE

ROME, May 9 (AP). — Pope Pius XII, in an eight-minute broadcast marking the end of the European war, declared today his conviction that "if we want to build a lasting and a safe peace, it must be built on justice, comprehension and confidence."

Voicing gratitude to God for the arrival of peace in Europe, he prayed, also, for the end of the war in the Far East "according to justice."

The Pope called on God to enlighten Allied leaders in bringing about a peace founded on the equality of all nations weak and strong.

The Pope stressed the need for speeding the work of reconstruction, asserting that gigantic problems and difficulties beset Europe which must be solved if peace is to endure.

He advocated the release and return to their homes as "soon as possible" of all prisoners of war and internees, who could aid in the vast task of rebuilding wrecked Europe, and could help prevent continued "misery and and hunger."

"To all of them we say: Do not falter; go back to work and participate in the necessary work of reconstruction. The task ahead is a big one. Misery and hunger, indiscipline and disorders must be brought under control."

"We remember all those who have fallen in this war," he said. "And we feel that the fallen are warning the survivors and express their hope that justice and quality of right among all states, big and small, strong and powerless, may be brought about after this war."

BLOOD DONATION CENTER HERE WILL BE CLOSED MAY 19

The St. Louis Red Cross Blood Donor Center, 1006 Olive street, will be closed May 19, as a result of the end of the war in Europe it was announced today by Dr. Borden S. Veeder, chairman.

The St. Louis center is one of 19 that will be closed. The 11 centers which will remain open are on the West Coast and in the largest cities on the East Coast where facilities are provided for collection of whole blood as well as blood plasma. The new plan will meet the requirements of the Army and the Navy, reduced from 90,000 pints to 45,000 pints of blood a week, and will release about 400 nurses and 45 doctors for other duties, Red Cross officials said.

Dr. Veeder pointed out that the St. Louis Red Cross Blood Donor Center opened Dec. 8, 1941, and has collected 420,327 pints of blood. Collections will be continued here until May 19, Dr. Veeder said.

Brecheen Batted Out In the Sixth Inning; Birds Lose to Dodgers

By J. Roy Stockton
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

BROOKLYN, May 9.—The Cardinals lost their first game of 1945 against eastern competition this afternoon, bowing to the Dodgers in their series opener here.

The score was 6 to 4.

Brecheen was hit by a pitched ball in the third, advanced on a sacrifice and scored on Hopp's pop double to left. Kurowski doubled to open the sixth and scored on a single by Buster Adams, who had just reported after being obtained from the Phillies in a trade.

Stanky opened the Dodger sixth with a fly to right that went for a single when Bergamo lost it in the sun. Bordagaray doubled Stanky to third and both scored on Galan's single to left and when Adams missed connections with the ball, Galan continued to third. Walker's triple to right center scored Galan and sent Brecheen to the showers, Byerly taking over the mound. Headed for the Derby

Hispanos' Team Play Beats Rafterys, 3 to 2

By Herman Wecke

Raftery players had the speed, but the Hispanos of Brooklyn showed better teamwork and ball control and in the end team play and ball control won, as the national soccer champions defeated the St. Louisans, 3 goals to 2, in an exhibition match at Walsh Stadium last night. The attendance was announced at 2800, with 2500 cash customers.

At that, with a few breaks the Rafterys would have trimmed the Easterners. This was especially true in the early part of the match, when the St. Louisans missed at least two wide open shots. On one of these especially, with the goalie down on the ground out of his territory, Travis missed connections.

From the stands it appeared that Syl Raftery, in an effort to give all his players a chance against the champions, broke up his team-play by numerous substitutions in the second half. In the first half, with the regulars playing, the Rafterys held their own, but faded just enough with reserves in the lineup to permit the Hispanos to put through a goal in the last three minutes to decide the issue.

Gonsalves Still Dangerous.

Hispano did not loom up as well as other Eastern clubs which have appeared here. It seemed that Rene Rodriguez, the goalie, left his position entirely too often. Several times he was sprawled on the ground out of position, but the Rafterys could not take advantage of these openings. Then the fullbacks did not appear especially strong. Billy Gonsalves is slower now than when he played with the Stix, but he's still dangerous. One of his tremendous shots hit the upright, while another just missed.

Much to the delight of the fans who turned out for the benefit for Father Jimmy Johnston's charities, the Rafterys had the Hispanos on the defensive from the start, but it was not until some 20 minutes had been played, that Travis scored on a cross from Kirchhoefer. Late in the half, Marchetich equalized on a pass from Salcedo. That's the way the half ended.

In the second, the visitors went into the lead when Salcedo scored on a pass from Barrie. However, the Rafterys drew even when Bohlman made good on a penalty shot, awarded when Abajian charged Travis from behind in the penalty area. Salcedo objected so strenuously that he was ejected from the match. Only three minutes remained, when Marchetich tallied on Conde's corner kick.

Shaw Wins Title.

Shaw School won the Grammar School championship by defeating Harrison, 2 to 0, in the preliminary.

J. Pruha, who played outside left and center forward for the Hispanos, has only one arm.

Bewteen games, Dan Murphy, captain and fullback of the Rafterys, was awarded the "most valuable" player trophy. Last year the honor went to Bobby Corbett.

Next match for the Rafterys will be a Western open cup competition semifinal against the Vikings in Chicago, May 20.

Correction—In Monday's Post-Dispatch it was stated that a foul called against Paul Douglas gave First District its chance to score the winning goal against Fifth. This was an error. The foul was against Fullback Ralph Stocker.

Racing Saturday In East; Date for Derby Undecided

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP).—With the lifting of the ban on horse racing today, track officials lost no time announcing plans for reopening of their plants.

The thoroughbreds definitely will start running at Narragansett Park in Pawtucket, R. I., Saturday and the trotters will get under way on the same day at Hamburg, N. Y. Racing also may be resumed at Sportsman's Park in Chicago Saturday.

Matt Winn said he wouldn't decide on the date for the Kentucky Derby for a few days, pending consultation with operators of other tracks. However, it is likely to be run either June 2 or 9 with the Preakness at Pimlico following a week later. The Maryland tracks are expected to open a ten-day joint meeting at Pimlico May 16.

The New York season will open at Jamaica May 21 if the New York State Racing Commission approves the dates asked by the five state racing associations.

The California Racing Commission will meet tomorrow to pass on dates for Santa Anita, Bay Meadows and Hollywood Park with the former planning on renewing its rich Santa Anita handicap, Derby and San Juan Capistrano Handicap during the summer months.

Delaware Park at Wilmington and Garden State Park at Camden, N. J., will open their gates as scheduled on May 29 and July 13, respectively. Delaware will shut down for one day in June on the day the Preakness is run.

Meantime, the Detroit Racing Association is preparing an appeal of the circuit court injunction making racing illegal at the fairgrounds.

Lifting of restrictions on the sport also will permit the trotters and pacers to operate in such standard-bread centers as Ohio, Goshen, N. Y., Saratoga and Westbury, N. Y. The $40,000 Hambletonian is scheduled for Aug. 8 at Goshen.

Fairmount May Open On Regular Schedule.

Fairmount race track near Collinsville, Ill., may open its spring meeting right on schedule, May 26, officials indicated after lifting of the racing ban. The spring dates originally alloted are May 26 through July 7, and fall meeting dates Sept. 1 through Oct. 6.

SHORT—WAVES

Comm. JACK DEMPSEY, back in New York after a three-month tour which took him around the world and on which he inspected the results of his handiwork as physical director of the Coast Guard, reports the morale of the boys in the Pacific is high, although some of the isolated islands had not had a visitor in 22 months. . . . Dempsey went ashore on the second day of the invasion of Okinawa.

Football breaks into the news with the signing of GEORGE TRAFTON, former line coach of the Green Bay Packers, for a similar job with the Cleveland Rams. He also will be assistant to Head Coach ADAM WALSH. . . . The boys at UCLA had to look twice to recognize BERT LA BRUCHERIE, their new coach, because he had shaved off his mustache which he had worn for 10 years while coaching at Los Angeles High School. Apparently he felt he needed a clean start.

Browns Game With Senators Off; Play Tomorrow Night

By Harold Flachsbart

Nelson Potter, the Browns' hard-luck pitcher of the young American League pennant race, yielded a scratch hit and a run in the first inning of last night's V-E day game with the Washington Senators, but after that he retired 20 consecutive batters at one stage of the frigid contest, and his mates came through with enough base hits to give him a well-earned 7-1 decision, his second of the year against one defeat.

The pride of Mount Morris, Ill., who lost a 1-0 duel to Alton Benton and the Tigers in his first start of the year and hurled one-run ball for 12 innings against the Cleveland Indians last week, only to see the Browns lose in 13 innings, wound up with a three-hitter, as two Washington singles in the ninth inning were rendered harmless by a good stop on the part of Don Gutteridge and a strikeout of Joe Kuhel, Potter's seventh of the evening.

It was the Browns' first battle with an Eastern club, and Luke Sewell's men settled the issue with three-run outbursts in each the second and third innings against their old teammate, Johnny Niggeling, and then added a tally for good measure off Alejandro Carresquel in the seventh.

Three Hits for Martin.

Coming through with the chief punch was Boris (Babe) Martin, former McKinley High School athlete, who burned up the American Association while playing with the Toledo Mud Hens last season. Martin entered the game with a puny .138 batting mark, but slapped out a triple, double and single in four trips to the plate, drove in one run, and when it was all over, Manager Sewell remarked, "I think he's hit his stride. He's ready to go now."

Third Baseman Leonard Schulte, another former Toledo player, drove in two important runs with a double, Gutteridge accounted for one with a double, Potter for one with an outfield fly, one scored on a wild pitch, and another on an error.

The second game of the series scheduled for tonight was called off because of rain and chilly weather. The two teams are slated to play tomorrow night when it is likely Jack Kramer will pitch for the American League champions against Marino Pierreti of the Senators.

Case Opens With Hit.

Fleet-footed George Case opened last night's game with a hit over second which Gutteridge stopped without a play. He stole second, went to third on Myatt's sacrifice and scored on Kuhel's fly to Byrnes. Potter walked Clift in the second (his only pass) but Harlond was erased on a double play. Twenty straight batters went down before Rick Ferrell and Pinch-Hitter Ventura singled in the ninth, with no one out, but Case forced Ferrell, Gutteridge's fine play retired Myatt and Kuhel struck out.

Hits by Martin started both the Browns' three-run rallies. He singled to start the second and stopped at third on Mancuso's two-bagger to left. Gutteridge walked to fill the bases but Potter tapped to Niggeling, who started a double play which went from home plate to first. Byrnes was intentionally passed, again filling the bases, and Schulte in this clutch doubled past third, scoring Mancuso and Gutteridge. After Kreevich drew another pass, Byrnes scored on a wild pitch, but Stephens made his first of four straight outs to end the frame.

With one out in the third, Martin belted a double to left and Mancuso walked. Jose Zardon, the Nats' new left fielder, tried for a shoe-string catch on Gutteridge's fly to left, but missed connections, and it went for a double, scoring Martin, Mancuso stopping at third. He scored on Potter's fly to Brinks, on which Gutteridge also took third, and Don crossed the plate when Myatt missed Byrnes' grounder.

That ended Niggeling's tenure on the mound, and Carrasquel hurled three hitless innings before the Browns added their seventh tally in the seventh on a pass to McQuinn and Martin's triple to right-center.

BROWNIE NOTES

Perhaps because the weather was better suited for football, the V-E night attendance was only 3600, including 3241 cash customers, 306 military and only 53 blood donors.

Interesting spectacle for the fans in pre-game practice was the performance of Burt Shepherd, the one-legged discharged P-38 fighter pilot, who is signed as a Washington coach. Shepherd's right leg was amputated between the knee and ankle, but he still shows speed with a plastic, artificial limb. He met the Browns' one-armed Pete Gray prior to the game.

Tennis Match Tomorrow.

Rained out twice, the Concordia-St. Louis University tennis match is scheduled for tomorrow on the Concordia courts.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Well Anyway, Herb, You Asked for It.

YOU'D think that Herb Pennock had enough grief, as general manager of those Phillies. . . . Not Herbie. . . . He has invited all the grandstand managers in Philadelphia to help run the club. . . . He has, in other words, asked all Philadelphia fans to tell him what he ought to do about his team.

At first thought, this sounds like a plot to promote a riot. . . . It's bad enough to have a board of directors stepping in and telling you what to do with your ball club. . . . But a grandstand full of advisers! . . . That sounds like great grief.

However, there's another angle. . . . Probably Pennock argues that the grandstand managers are there, in any case. . . . Why not make friends of them? . . . That might produce sympathetic criticism instead of the usual invective. . . . And, besides, after all the suggestions are in, there's always the old waste basket awaiting them—just as usual.

We are thinking of enrolling as a long range member of the grandstand pilots of the Phils. . . . Our suggestion, right off the bat, would be: Don't try to change the Phils. . . . The world always enjoys a good laugh.

Incidentally, if they want any remodeling ideas over there, this long-range grandstand manager suggests the following amendments, to apply in 10 other major league cities, too:

Free score cards for customers.

Public address systems that provide the pay customers as much information as the radio gives its free listeners.

Regular store prices for all concession goods sold.

And so on, far into the night.

He'll Be Sorry

HERB PENNOCK, general manager of the Phillies, who has invited Philadelphia grandstand managers to tell him how to run his club.

When Did Jeffries Lose His Fight Title?

JIM JEFFRIES was 70 years old a few days ago and his birthday gave rise to a number of questions sent in by correspondents, from various fronts. . . . One of the inquirers wanted to know: "To whom did Jeffries lose his title?" . . . This query is due to quite a common misconception.

The answer is: He didn't lose his title to anybody. . . . The natural comeback is: Wasn't he still unbeaten when Jack Johnson stopped him in 15 rounds in Reno, July 4, 1910?

The answer to that is: Yes, he was still unbeaten at that time; but he was not champion.

Here's the story, if you are interested: After stopping Jack Munroe in two rounds, Aug. 26, 1904, Jeffries retired unbeaten. . . . But, for a consideration of $1000, he was prevailed on to referee a match between Marvin Hart and Jack Root in Reno, Nev., July 3, 1905, and surrender his title to the winner.

Of course, he had no right to do this, but that's what happened. Marvin Hart, who in March, 1905, had gained a 20-round decision over Jack Johnson in San Francisco, stopped Root in 12 rounds and so became legatee of Jeffries' title. . . . There being few heavyweights of merit at that time, he was accorded a sort of ho, hum acknowledgment of his honors.

THEN along came Noah Brusso, Canadian heavyweight, fighting under the name of Tommy Burns and beat Hart in a 20-round decision contest.

After that Burns toured this country and Australia, pushing over several fighters of little merit. . . . He was even referred to as a "cheese champion," although, next to Joe Louis, he defended his title more frequently than any other heavyweight champion.

Jack Johnson pursued Burns around the world, and finally cornered Tommy in Australia. There, in Sydney, on Dec. 26, 1908, Johnson fought and stopped Burns in 14 rounds and it was there that Johnson gained the world title.

After that, the "white hope" epidemic began to rage. . . . Folks wanted Johnson beaten. . . . So who but the unbeaten Jeffries, then 35 years old and out of the ring for six years, was dragged out of retirement to face the Negro. . . . At Reno on July 4, 1910, Jim still unbeaten, but not champion, fought and was thoroughly outclassed and soundly whipped.

* * *

To all but prejudiced persons it was obvious from the making of this match, the first in which a purse of six figures ($101,000) was ever guaranteed, that the rusty, ageing and indifferently trained Jeffries would have no chance. . . . And he didn't. . . . In the ring that day he acted as if he were doped and, in fact, one famous sports writer sent out a story that he had been "poisoned." Jeffries' trouble was merely that his reflexes weren't working.

Morgenthaler of McBride Sets Junior Shotput Mark

The last batch of preliminaries in the district high school track and field meet will be run off this afternoon at the Public Schools Stadium. The finals will take place there Friday night.

Today's schedule will include the senior high hurdles, junior low hurdles, senior 880, junior 880, senior 220, junior 220, junior broad jump, senior shot put, junior discus, junior relay and senior medley relay.

Action yesterday featured a broken record, a spill in the hurdles, a leap of 22 feet, two inches, in the broad jump and four close races.

Ed Morgenthaler of McBride established a new mark in the junior shot put when he heaved the weight 56 feet, 9½ inches to better the mark of 56 feet, ⅞ inches, made by Hilmer of Roosevelt in 1935.

In the senior broad jump, Bob Mengerson of Beaumont went 22 feet 6 inches, four and one-half inches short of the existing record.

Bob Mattox of Kirkwood and Forest Suess of Roosevelt were sure of first and second, respectively, in the fourth heat of the senior 200-yard low hurdles when Mattox tripped on the last hurdle and collided with Suess, both going down six yards beyond the hurdles and failing to qualify.

The junior dashes were close. Guy Steele, Kirkwood speed flash who broke three marks in the University City meet, barely came in first in the third heat of the 50-yard event. Jerry Canis of Soldan was second to Steele and a few sideliners believed Don Schwartz of Beaumont was a first or second. Three of the four 50-yard dash heats, including Steele's race, were clocked at 5.8 seconds, and the other at 5.9. Steele turned in the best 100-yard dash performance, taking the third heat with a 10.5 time.

Vernon Baum of St. Charles won the other final held on the program, taking a first in the senior discus throw with a distance of 136 feet, ½ inch.

Alderman Proposes Three New Recreation Fields for Youngsters

Alderman Vernon Riehl of the Seventh Ward has plans for three new stadiums and athletic fields in the north, south and central sections of St. Louis which he will propose to Mayor Kaufmann and the city planning commission, he announces.

Riehl believe that it would be better to locate recreation facilities in the different areas of the city rather than have a large stadium on the river front, for which there has been considerable agitation recently.

He said that his plan would depend upon "post-war construction for recreation purposes becoming a reality," and that "good fields would reduce injuries to our youngsters."

Kansas City Boxers Arrive Tomorrow

Coaches and members of the Kansas City boxing team which meets St. Louis in eight intercity bouts on the War Dads' fight program Friday night at Kiel Auditorium will report tomorrow morning and do their local training at the Typo Athletic Club.

There are several Mexicans on the visiting team, Fernando Rivera, Charles Angeles, Eddie Martinez, Jack Henrion and Orland Pennell being the boys of foreign extraction.

LATE STOCK SELL-OFF; SOME AIRCRAFTS UP

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP).—Late selling hit the stock market today and sent most favorites to losses of fractions to more than 2 points.

Brokers attributed the decline to a technical correction after recent advances which have sent some leaders to 8-year highs. Profit-taking was in evidence. Although part of the gains were reduced, some aircrafts managed to retain fractional increases.

Until the final 20 minutes, operations were quiet with the trends mixed and with airplane manufacturers leading rails and selected industrials in modest improvement.

In the late downturn, dealings picked up.

Among Late Losers.

Tranfsers were 1,490,000. Shares compared with 1,580,000 shares yesterday.

Of the 978 issues traded in today, 634 were lower, 172 higher and 172 unchanged. There were 61 new 1945 highs and two new lows.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed down .6 of a point at 64.5.

In the past two sessions trading has been mainly confined to a shifting from war-enhanced shares to those expected to benefit from a partial reconversion to peacetime production now that V-E day has arrived. Late selling was described as an expansion of this trend.

Losers included Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, J. I. Case, International Harvester, Westinghouse, General Electric, Santa Fe and New York Central.

Resistant were Douglas, United Aircraft, Bell Aircraft and American Telephone.

Trend on the Curb.

Ahead in the curb were Clayton & Lambert, Colonial Airlines, Electric Bond and Share, Raytheon Manufacturing and Ryan Aeronautical. American Republics and Creole Petroleum were backward.

The War Production Board's announcement that aircraft manufacturers could resume production of transport planes for domestic airlines as long as such output did not interfere with military schedules gave impetus to activity in those groups.

Caution prevailed in many sectors as brokers sought the answers to questions concerning the availability of materials in the coming months, labor's attitude on reconversion, the administration's views on pricing and the supervision of a change from war on two fronts to one.

Day's 15 Leaders.

BONDS IRREGULAR ON LIGHT SELLING IN RAIL GROUP

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP).—The bond market drifted irregularly lower today under light selling in the rails.

At the start of the final hour there were a substantial number of minus signs ranging from fractions to more than a point against a smaller number of unchanged or higher issues.

A half dozen loans of the Missouri Pacific were among the heaviest losers along with International Great Northern 6s, Seaboard 6s, Baltimore & Ohio stamped convertibles of 1960 and Rock Island convertibles 4½s. Holding higher positions were Illinois Central 3½s, International Hydro Electric 6s, Katy first 4s and New Haven 3½s and 4s.

A big patch of new stock and bond offerings diverted some interest from existing high priced corporates but investors continued to round out portfolios in anticipation of the Seventh War Loan drive which starts next Monday. U. S. Governments were at a standstill.

Great Northern 5s traded at the 1945 peak of 137¾ and northern Pacific 4½s changed hands within a fraction of the old top 101½. Others selling at around recent highs included Youngstown Sheet and Tube 3¼s at 105¼. Pittsburgh Coke & Chemical 3½s at 104 and Montana Power 3¾s at 105¾. Limited interest in foreign dollar bonds centered in the Latin Americans, including issues of Brazil and Chile.

The market underwent little change from its earlier pattern in the final hour. Central of Georgia 5s were under pressure, losing 1⅞ at 20⅛ and St. Paul Adjustment 5s extended earlier losses to 1⅜ points at 24½. Cleveland Union Terminal 4½s ended up a fraction at 105⅝ and Maine Central 4½s were up ⅝ at 80⅝.

GRAIN MARKETS SHOW LOWER PRICE SWING

CHICAGO, May 9 (AP).—Grain prices slipped from minor fractions to nearly 2 cents a bushel in futures markets today. The liquidation was not heavy but offerings increased on the minor upturns, holding prices in check.

Analysts attributed the easiness in wheat to several factors, including:

Easier cash markets, lower futures prices at Minneapolis, and a Government report that winter wheat generally was in good to excellent condition.

Buyers also appeared cautious, indicating a belief that recent sharp advances in prices may have weakened the technical position of all markets.

The May deliveries showed the greatest resistance to the downtrend. Most dealings in that contract now are devoted to evening up market positions. Trading in that option will end May 22, and a large open interest, particularly in wheat and rye, remains.

Commission houses and pit traders had May wheat for sale throughout the session with a fair demand developing at $1.74½. At Minneapolis the May option was off as much as 1¼ cents.

The rye market was extremely nervous and prices were affected by the break in wheat. Local operators and commission houses led the selling and the chief support came from professionals who recently have been prominent on the bull side and from pit shorts.

At the finish wheat was ⅝c to 2⅛c lower than yesterday's close, May $1.74½. Corn was up ⅛c to down ¼c, May $1.15@1.15⅛. Oats were off ⅛c to ¾c, May 65⅞@⅝c. Rye was ⅜c to 1⅞c lower, May $1.38⅜@1.38. Barley was down 1c, May 96¾c.

St. Louis Cash Grain.

Sales made on the floor of the exchange were:

Local wheat receipts were 34 cars local and 39 through; corn 91 local and 26 through; oats 2 local; soybeans 11 local; rye 1 through and barley 1 local.

12 PER CENT RETAIL SALES GAIN ALL IN THE PRICE

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP). — Retail stores showed an estimated $6,350,000,000 in March, an all-time record.

This was reported today by the Commerce Department which said the retail sales were influenced by:

1. The April 1 date of Easter, throwing all of the holiday buying in March.

2. The concern of consumers over the possible disappearance of higher-quality apparel because of a war production board order relating to textile products.

March sales were 14 per cent above the corresponding month of last year. Even after adjustment for the earlier Easter this year and the additional Saturday in March, sales were 10 per cent above year ago.

During the first quarter of 1945, retail store sales amounted to $16,970,000,000, or 12 per cent above the first quarter of 1944. The Commerce Department said this gain was the result of price increases and shifts of purchases to higher-priced lines—and that "available information indicates no probable increase in the actual volume of goods sold."

Chain store and mail-order sales for March totaled $1,442,000,000 or 16 per cent above March a year ago.

COTTON CLOSES MIXED

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP).—Cotton futures moved through a quiet but steady session today as traders awaited fresh developments on price control legislation and the Government program for next season. Light mill buying, short covering in May and local demand met only limited hedging and commission house liquidation.

Steadiness was imparted by tightness in spot cotton supplies, generally unfavorable weekly weather report and prospects of continuing heavy textile demand.

Late afternoon values were 5 to 30 cents a bale higher, May $22.95, July $22.74 and Oct. $22.24.

49 KILLED IN SHIP BLAST OFF COAST OF NEW ENGLAND

Two St. Louisans on Eagle Boat Missing — Sinking Laid to U-Boat or Depth Charge.

(Picture in Everyday Magazine.)

CAPE ELIZABETH, Me., May 9 (AP).—A Navy court of inquiry today was investigating an explosion which shattered a Navy eagle boat and took the lives of 49 men three miles offshore April 23.

Details of New England's worst naval disaster of the war were released by the Navy last night as Capt. Ernest J. Freeman, U. S. N. R., commanding officer of the United States Naval Station, Portland, led an investigation into the incident.

Among the missing were two St. Louisans, Carpenter's Mate 3-C Joseph P. Gegan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas T. Cegan, 1312 Laurel avenue, and Coxswain Arthur A. Grosch, son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Grosch, 1023 Theobald avenue. Listed among the survivors from this area are Seaman John E. Luttrell Jr., whose parents live at 4471 St. Louis avenue, and Oscar F. Davis, machinist's mate third class, of Illmo, Mo.

Surviving were "the lucky 13," only members of the crew of the patrol ship PE-56 to escape.

They told vivid stories of the explosion which came at 12:14 p. m., during a lull in target practice maneuvers.

Some men were trapped below decks. Others struggled through debris-cluttered passageways and plunged into the cold waters of the Atlantic before the 430-ton vessel sank.

The few survivors whose numbed hands still retained a hold on boxes, oil drums and shoring floating amid the wreckage when they were picked up 17 minutes later, were reported to be suffering from internal injuries, cuts, and shock.

Naval authorities said that of the 49 men lost only two bodies were recovered. The other 47 were listed on Navy records as "missing" and presumed to be dead.

Survivors had conflicting theories of the explosion. Some thought they had seen a submarine lurking nearby and one was positive that it was not a torpedo that struck the ship. Some thought the explosion sounded like that created by a depth charge or a mine.

A rescue destroyer dropped depth charges where survivors reported seeing a submarine, but it was the eagle craft's grave marked by two huge oil slicks and a large debris-filled area.

The PE-56 had been in target maneuvers with aircraft from the Brunswick Naval Air Station off the entrance to Portland harbor.

Lt. (jg) John P. Scagnelli, of New York, was the only one of the ship's six officers among the survivors.

Machinist Mate John L. Breeze Jr. of Seattle, said he owed his life to Seaman Luttrell, 20 years old, who "held me when I thought I was going down."

Second Time St. Louisan Survived Ship Explosion.

Seaman Luttrell was aboard another ship which was damaged by an enemy torpedo off the Florida coast in January, 1944. He is the husband of Mrs. Barbara Luttrell, of Portland, Me. Davis is the son of Mrs. Maggie E. Davis, of Illmo.

GROUP NAMED TO DRAFT BILLS ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS

JEFFERSON CITY, May 9 (AP).—A 21-member committee of the House, including 16 House members and five outside advisers, was appointed today by Speaker Howard Elliott to draft all bills to revise state laws dealing with local government. Representative Douglas Mahnkey, Taney County, is chairman.

One of the advisors was William L. Bradshaw of Columbia, who was chairman of the constitutional convention's local government committee. One section, of four Republicans and three Democrats, will deal with county government laws. Bradshaw and Erwin F. Vetter, St. Louis County counselor, will assist them.

Eight other representatives, five Republicans and three Democrats, will rewrite laws on city government. To help them Elliott chose George L. Stemmler, St. Louis City Counselor; Glen H. Mohler, Clayton City Counselor, and J. Marcus Kirtley of Kansas City.

mond Division can go home now."

Even to the last, the Third Army was uncovering Nazi horrors. The Forty-third Cavalry Reconnaissance Battalion of the Third Cavalry Group found another concentration camp near the Austrian town of Ebensee which Col. James L. Polk, El Paso, Tex., described as "the worst yet."

"I've seen some others which were ghastly enough," Polk said, "but this one makes the others look like a Sunday school picnic."

Gen. Patton held a final press briefing yesterday and handed correspondents the following letter bearing his signature:

"I desire to take this opportunity of extending to all of you the thanks and appreciation of myself and all members of the Third Army, past and present, not only for the generous and efficient manner in which you have reported our activities but also for the uncomplaining way in which you have shared our vicissitudes and accommodated yourself to our way of life.

"We feel that your successful efforts in reporting to the people at home where we were and what we were doing had a profound effect not only in alleviating their anxiety about us but also in stirring us to greater efforts because of the knowledge that our deeds were known and appreciated."

HITLER'S PALATIAL AERIE UNDAMAGED BY ALLIED RAIDS

we entered a 16-foot coffee room with comfortable lounging chairs for six persons. Ascending again from the coffee lounge we reentered the living room and then climbed six steps into the dining room, which was done in white oak panelling with walnut table and 30 chairs.

Directly behind the dining salon was the smoking room, with red leather chairs and walnut-panelled walls and ceiling.

Behind the smoking room was the kitchen. It had the latest culinary gadgets with electric stoves, meat slicers, coffee makers, refrigerators and countless gadgets such as would have delighted any housewife.

To the left of the kitchen was the servants' combined lounge and dining room.

Linens Marked 'A. H.'

The chinaware for the main dining room consisted of costly Meissen fabric manufactured near Dresden with a Chinese dragon motif. The linens and wine glasses all bore the monogram "A. H."

Running parallel with the three-story building, one of whose stories was underground, was a veranda eight feet wide and 64 feet long with five arches where Hitler's guests could drink with the most picturesque scenery in all Bavaria before them.

Along the western ledge were powder rooms and wardrobe closets.

There were immense wine and liquor cellars stocked with the finest of beverages, including cognacs dating back to 1832 and the rarest of French champagnes. There were also vast stocks of food.

The first American soldier to reach the aerie was Sgt. Frederic H. Butts of Newton, Mass.

A preliminary investigation of the caves and tunnels branching out from Hitler's hideaway so far have failed to reveal any Nazi records or important documents, but there are reasons to believe they are hidden in this area.

WAR DAMAGE TO BRITAIN PUT AT MORE THAN 4 BILLION

LONDON, May 9 (AP).—Sir John Anderson, chancellor of the exchequer, told the House of Commons today that a "safe" estimate of the war damage to Britain would be well over four billion dollars.

Home Security Minister Herbert Morrison announced the revocation of a large number of defense regulations, including the controversial 18-B providing for the detention of persons considered dangerous to the state. He warned, however, that many security controls must remain until after Japan's defeat.

Morrison said all persons still held under the 18-B regulation would be released immediately with the exception of "one alien who is to be deported." He did not name the alien.

Is it moisture-repellent? How much will it shrink? Is it mothproof?

We're curious... so you can be carefree

They're certainly doing wonders to fabrics these days! Materials are treated to repel water, outwit moths, resist creases, reduce shrinkage!

Glittering promises attract you on every hand.

But, before you make a choice, you'd like to know how well the performance comes up to the promise.

We—at Good Housekeeping—have that same curiosity, on your behalf.

For we want you to regard Good Housekeeping as a source of dependable information. We want you to feel that you can rely upon what you read in Good Housekeeping—whether it's in an advertisement or on an editorial page.

So we refuse to tell you about textiles—or anything else—until we first investigate, analyze, and study, to see how well performance matches promise.

It takes a sizable staff of engineers, technicians, home economists, and researchers to satisfy this curiosity of ours. But we think it's well worth the cost—to win and hold your confidence.

The case of the "Carefree Cottons"

There are fourteen pages of cotton dresses shown in the May issue of Good Housekeeping.

Before one page was set in type, we insisted upon satisfying ourselves that these cottons would give the service you ask of them.

To do that, we first got samples of all the fabrics, then washed them—and investigated each for light fastness, color fastness, and shrinkage.

We've named them "Carefree Cottons"—and we're not afraid to do so. For they came through the tests with flying colors—and strictly limited shrinkage.

Will a water-repellent fabric shed water like a duck's back—after it's been dry-cleaned? When blankets are called "mothproof," does that mean a moth will only nibble—or not even sniff?

If a skirt is made of "crease-resistant" material, can you unpack and wear it, with a mere quick shake?

We satisfy ourselves on such questions in the only way we know—by putting things through the double-barreled inspection that is typical at Good Housekeeping.

And what we find—in such studies—we pass on to manufacturers. For we think our service to you can go beyond the pages of our magazine—right into the shops where you buy.

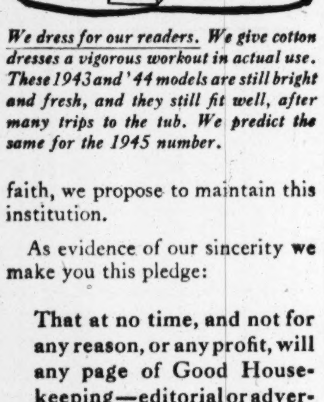
We urge manufacturers to tell you—on fabric and garment tags—how to wash or clean a material, and what you may expect of it, with efficient use. And we are prepared to help them by providing such data.

Costly procedure?

Yes! But procedure that is designed to save you money, time and needless trial and error.

Procedure that is designed to win your lasting friendship, by winning and holding your faith.

Upon that faith, we have built a unique institution. Upon that



We dress for our readers. We give cotton dresses a vigorous workout in actual use. These 1943 and '44 models are still bright and fresh, and they still fit well, after many trips to the tub. We predict the same for the 1945 number.

faith, we propose to maintain this institution.

As evidence of our sincerity we make you this pledge:

That at no time, and not for any reason, or any profit, will any page of Good Housekeeping—editorial or advertising—trade unfairly on your trust.

Joe Burke

The Lieutenant Who Captured a General

By Herbert Bayer

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., May 9.

"JOE never cared much for hunting when he was growing up. But he did bring in some big game in Germany, didn't he?" It was Mrs. Joseph E. Burke speaking, the gray-haired excited mother of Second Lt. Joseph E. Burke Jr., the 28-year-old Floridian who personally captured the famous German Field Marshal Gen. Karl von Rundstedt.

LT. JOE BURKE

"Imagine!" she said, "Joe out capturing a German general while I thought he was having a rest in some nice quiet, French village."

It was Lt. Burke who surprised the Field Marshal at his home in the little spa of Bad Toelz, about five miles from Munich, just after he had finished dining with his family the night of May 1.

At 3 a. m. the following morning, Burke appeared with Von Rundstedt at the command post of Maj. Gen. John Dahlquist, commander of the Thirty-sixth Infantry Division.

Gen. Dahlquist received the Junkers general in his pajamas.

Mrs. Burke and her husband, a prominent Jacksonville, Fla., sales executive, are anxious to hear about the capture from their son. All they know is what they have read in the papers.

"His last letter said he was having a rest in a village in the French Alps," his mother said. "He wrote us from there on April 24. He certainly must have gone back to duty quickly after writing us."

BURKE HAD BEEN overseas for nine months and was on his first combat assignment as a commissioned officer when he captured the General. He had been promoted from Private, first class, only three weeks before for his heroic action in helping save a lost battalion of 270 soldiers trapped by the Germans last March.

What he did then, maintaining liaison between the trapped men and a nearby company in the Vosges foothills, yet gives his mother "chills" to think about.

"Joe received the Bronze Star and a citation for that," his mother said. "It's a wonder any of them came out alive."

For seven hectic and hellish days, Burke's battalion of the 141st Infantry "Texas" Division of the Seventh Army stuck it out without food, water or ammunition on a thickly wooded hill surrounded by approximately 700 Germans.

For seven days they dug in deeper, tended their wounded, buried their dead and sent radio messages:

"No rations, no water, no contact with headquarters . . . four litter cases . . ."

IT WAS Lt. Burke's task to keep contact between the isolated battalion and the main Seventh Army force not far away. His citation said he did it at "great risk to himself" time and time again, presenting himself to enemy snipers and dashing through curtains of mortar fire.

When it was over, and the lost men were back at a bivouac area, Lt. Burke wrote his parents some of his experiences. "I don't want to get in another such spot," he said. He told them his outfit and the Germans were so close that both forces drank out of the same mudhole.

"It was dirty, stagnant—but it was water. We had to crawl to it in the blackest part of the night. The Germans were able to use it in the daytime."

WHEN BURKE entered the Army Dec. 31, 1943, after unsuccessfully trying to get into the Navy, he had no idea he would ever be a commissioned officer.

"He felt pretty bad about being turned down by the Navy for color blindness after volunteering," his mother said. "He told me he was going in a Private and would stay one. He said he didn't plan to make the Army a career."

Born in Jacksonville, he was in his teens when his family moved to Tampa. Tennis and golf were his sports. He sang in the boys' choir of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church. From high school he went to Tampa University for a semester. Then he enrolled as a pre-medical student at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn. At Vanderbilt, where he spent the years 1936-38, he worked at odd jobs helping pay his way. He found time to sing with the glee club.

DURING the summer vacation of 1939 he met and married pretty Betty Stokes of St. Petersburg. His family had moved to that city from Tampa while he was in Vanderbilt. Instead of returning to college he went to work as an investigator with a finance company. Later he moved to Columbia, S. C., where he was an official with his company when his induction orders arrived. Mrs. Burke now lives with her parents in St. Petersburg. The Burkes have no children.

With the Seventh Army, Burke went into Italy, then into France and later into Germany. He never wrote his parents detailed letters of his exploits and they doubt if he will have much to say of his capture of Rundstedt.

"He's such a grand boy," said his mother. "Neither he nor Charles (a brother who is in the Navy) ever gave me a moment's trouble. I know he'll brush off the part he played in taking the General. I've already written him that I know all about it."

FRENCH LEADERS FREED FROM GERMAN PRISON

Leaders of France prior to its occupation by the Nazis pose, after their liberation from a German prison in Itter Castle, Austria, with Maj. Gen. Anthony M. McAuliffe (third from right), commander of the American 103rd Division and hero of Bastogne. In the group, from left, are: Edouard Daladier, premier in 1939; Madame Maxime Weygand and Gen. Weygand, army commander during the fall of France; Gen. McAuliffe; Paul Reynaud, premier in 1940, and Gen. Maurice Gamelin, army commander at the start of the war.

Case Records

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE F-264: Paul G., aged 23, is a former student of mine, now a Lieutenant in the United States Navy.

"I'm to be married in a few weeks," he informed me with a happy grin, as he entered the office.

"My girl is wonderful and I want to keep her ideally happy all her life.

"Back in class at Northwestern you used to tell us about the basic hungers or instincts of mankind, and how to motivate people most successfully.

"How does that apply right now to my desire for making my wife think I am wonderful till our Golden Wedding day?"

DIAGNOSIS: There are five fundamental hungers of a wife that must be satisfied if you are going to make her perfectly happy.

She may remain married to you even if you don't gratify all of these five, for some women will stick to their husbands when the latters' batting average is only .200 to .400 on this test.

Woman's first instinct or basic appetite is self-preservation, for that is true of all animals, human and infra-human.

This means she craves food and water, clothing and shelter—in short, economic security. Can you bring home the bacon and keep the bill collectors from hounding your door?

The second basic instinct is love, including poetry and honeyed phrases, candy and flowers, etc.

A WOMAN'S concept of love is much different from a man's. She likes coquetry and finesse, complimentary phrases and evidences of gallantry. She wants you to be devoted to her even if sex were ruled out entirely.

"Do you love ME or only what you can get out of me?" is the chronic question lurking in the margin of every normal woman's mind.

A woman's third hunger is maternal. She wants to care for some defenseless creatures, such as babies. In lieu of them, dogs and cats are partially effective, or she may sublimate this hunger in her work for hospitals, Red Cross and missionary activity of the church.

WOMEN ALSO have a gregarious hunger. They want to be well thought of among their neighbors, so they crave social life, parties or amusement in groups. They are usually not fond of hermit recreations like hunting or fishing.

Finally, there seems to be an inherent spiritual hunger in the female that craves expression in religion, music, art and cultural things.

The Record Makers

By Charles Menees

THERE is even news in the record business this week—instrumental discs from two major companies. The records are not jazz milestones, but they are welcome relief from a raft of waxings with vocals. Artie Shaw's best postban disc for Victor has Trumpeter Roy Eldridge featured on "Little Jazz," a Buster Harding opus named for Eldridge. Roy's horn is vibrant and sincere, but the tune is one of those which opens promisingly, gets no better, no worse, thus preventing an Eldridge masterpiece. Flipover is an adroitly-scored version of "September Song" from "Knickerbocker Holiday." Though not another "Begin the Beguine," it has some typical Shaw clarinet, neat choir work, an interesting passage by Guitarist Barney Kessel and the trombone section. Lionel Hampton's new Decca disc pairs "Loose Wig," waxed over a year ago, and "Overtime," both minus the usual Hampton punch. "Loose Wig" has some Cat Anderson trumpet screaming, good tenor by Arnette Cobbs, and "Overtime" has nice tenor that sounds like Al Sears, who, like Anderson, is now doing well with Ellington. Hampton's vibes are heard briefly; the bass is well recorded and Fred Radcliffe's drumming is praiseworthy.

SINGLES INVENTORY: COLUMBIA—Frank Sinatra's "Dream" and "There's No You" are what one would expect. Those who like Ginny Simms will appreciate her "Stardust" and "Cuddle Up a Little Closer." Horace Heidt's now-defunct crew is just average on "My Baby Said Yes" and "Anywhere." Nelson Eddy, on a 12-inch Masterworks platter, sings Pfc. Frank Loesser's "Rodger Young" and "Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition." DECCA—Bing Crosby and Xavier Cugat's band debut together nicely on "Baia" and "You Belong to My Heart." Jimmy Dorsey finally has a good swingy instrumental in "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning," a nice "There! I've Said It Again" and just fair versions of "Dream" and "El Rancho Vegas." Carmen Cavallaro, best pianist of his type, solos a lot as his band does "In Acapulco" and "The More I See You." Fred Waring's group does "Let's All Sing Auld Lang Syne" and "Sweetheart of All My Dreams." VICTOR—Dinah Shore's "Along the Navajo Trail" and "Counting the Days" are among her best. Sammy Kaye's "I Miss Your Kiss" and "The More I See You" offer nothing.

Try and Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

THIS "pearl necklace" story has been told at one time or another about every big department store in the country, although most narrators insist it happened "to their own cousin." Anyway, it starts with a woman and her daughter sauntering along Fifth Avenue.

In front of an exclusive jeweler's, the girl's "pearl necklace" breaks. She gathers them up and suggests giving them to the jeweler for restringing. "We can't do that," protests the mother, "the whole necklace only cost $12.98 at Blanks."

But they enter the exclusive place. The man at the repair desk takes one look at the loose pearls and calls the general manager who offers the startled woman $50,000 for the lot. The explanation? The president of Blank's has smuggled in the strand of pearls for his wife by hiding them with a shipment of cheap imitations. The special markings on the real pearls has been lost and the strand mixed up with the others. The honest woman brings them back to Blank's just in time to clear the saleswoman who has been accused of stealing them. Of course, a story like this could have happened in real life. Reasonable odds against it: 4000 to 1.

My Day -o- By Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK, TUESDAY.

ALL day yesterday, as I went about New York city, the words "V-E Day" were on everybody's lips. Part of the time, paper fluttered through the air until the gutters of the streets were filled with it. At Times Square crowds gathered—but that first report the other night had taken the edge off this celebration. No word came through Washington and everybody still waited for official confirmation. Today it has come.

Over the radio this morning President Truman, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin have all spoken—the war in Europe is over. Unconditional surrender has been accepted by the Germans. I can almost hear my husband's voice make that announcement, for I heard him repeat it so often. The German leaders were not willing to accept defeat, even when they knew it was inevitable, until they had made their people drink the last dregs in the cup of complete conquest by the Allies.

EUROPE is in ruins and the weary work of reconstruction must now begin. There must be joy, of course, in the hearts of the peoples whom the Nazis conquered and who are now free again. Freedom without bread, however, has little meaning. My husband always said that freedom from want and freedom from aggression were twin freedoms which had to go hand in hand.

The necessity to share with our brothers, even though it means hardship for ourselves, will now face all of us who live in the fortunate countries which war has not devastated.

I cannot feel a spirit of celebration today. I am glad that our men are no longer to be shot at and killed in Europe, but the war in the Pacific still goes on. Men are dying there, even as I write. It is far more a day of dedication for us, a day on which to promise that we will do our utmost to end war and build peace. Some of my sons, with millions of others, are still in danger.

I can but pray that the Japanese leaders will not force their people to complete destruction, too. The ultimate end is sure, but in the hands of the Japanese leaders lies the decision of how many people will have to suffer before ultimate peace comes.

WHAT ARE our ultimate objectives now? Do we want our Allies in Europe, and later in the Far East, to have the opportunity to rebuild quickly? Looked at selfishly, we will probably gain materially if they do. That cannot be our only responsibility, however. The men who fought this war are entitled to a chance to build a lasting peace. What we do in the next months may give them that chance or lose it for them. If we give people bread, we may build friendship among the peoples of the world; and we will never have peace without friendship around the world. This is the time for a long look ahead. This is the time for us all to decide where we go from here.

Veal Chops

In certain methods of cookery, veal has almost the flavor of chicken. It is, as a rule, even leaner than chicken, and, like chicken, responds kindly to the addition of more fat. Dredge four veal chops in two tablespoons flour and brown on both sides in two tablespoons hot shortening. When nicely browned, season with paprika, salt and pepper. Add one-half cup water and one cup sour cream; cover tightly, and cook very slowly until done, about 45 minutes. Remove to a hot platter and make sour cream gravy by thickening drippings and adding more milk as needed. Serves four.

Economical Menus for Tomorrow

By Meta Given

THE lattice top is a perfect one for juicy rhubarb pie. The rhubarb can do all the violent boiling it must while the pastry is baking at 450 degrees to its crispest, flakiest quality without having to break through the lower and upper sealed crust and spill out all over the oven. The lattice is also beautiful and it takes less pastry. The lattice strips must be lifted a little higher than the edge of the pie. When the lattice is at a lower level juice boils up over it, it becomes soaked and often the pastry does not get to that luscious golden brown stage. When we developed the following recipe we brushed the lattice with milk and then sprinkled it very sparingly with sugar, and milk both aid browning very much. Two new features of this pie are the use of honey for sweetening and an egg in the filling for thickening the sauce and mellowing the flavor.

Rhubarb Honey Pie.

Two eggs, beaten; three-fourths cup honey, one-half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons flour, one-fourth cup sugar, four cups diced rhubarb (one and one-fourth pounds), pastry for nine-inch double crust.

Beat eggs until light. Add honey. Combine salt, flour and sugar with the rhubarb and toss to coat. Combine with the egg mixture. Pour into unbaked pie shell and top with strips of dough, crisscross fashion. Brush with milk and sprinkle with a bit of sugar, if desired. Bake at 425 degrees for 40 to 45 minutes.

Breakfast—Orange juice, soft-cooked eggs, raisin bread toast, jam.

Luncheon—Vegetable soup, bacon and lettuce sandwiches, canned pears, cocoanut cookies (leftover).

Dinner—Spanish rice, buttered green beans, cabbage slaw, French bread, rhubarb honey pie.

My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Martha Carr:

LAST summer I met a grand fellow and he and I had lots of fun, mostly with my girl friend and her date, who was a friend of his. He joined the Merchant Marine and we have written often. Lately his letters have become terribly sentimental and though he is only 16 and I am younger he keeps insisting that I wait for him. I keep telling him we are too young, but that makes no impression. Now he wants me to become engaged to him on his next leave though he does agree we are too young to marry just yet. I like this boy a lot but am not the least in love with him. How am I to get this over to him without hurting his feelings? Shall I disregard the part where he says we should become engaged, when I answer his letters? EDNA.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest, but of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

Your young Merchant Marine is lonely and homesick and quite likely to think himself in love just now. You are a wise girl to be keeping a level head, to realize you aren't in love with him and you are both too young for engagements. All you need do is tell him this just as you have said it to me, and explain further that you like him a lot, want very much to remain friends and hope that you'll be able to do so. Explain that being able to will depend on his being content to be friends, without sentimentality. You can't very well ignore the question about becoming engaged, so it would be better to say "No" and tell him the why of it, and let that be that.

Dear Martha Carr:

MY BOY FRIEND says he loves me very much, but I don't see how this can be true. He tells his sister everything that happens between us, all the words he says to me which mean so much, even our little quarrels and our kisses he has to share. She tells it all back to me. I accuse him and he fibs out of it. Shall I tell him how much I love him? He has never asked me to marry him. Shall I force him to tell me how much he really cares for me or must I sit around in my misery and suffer, waiting? V. M.

Everyone has contempt for the man or boy who kisses and tells. You would be wise, in the first place, to act in such a way that there is little to tell; in the second place better find another boy friend. To feel that everything you say and do is repeated must be very uncomfortable and why you should any longer feel you love such a boy is beyond me. If you do in spite of his unchivalrous conduct, at least don't tell him so. Don't sit around in misery, either, not for any boy. There are others you can find, I am sure, who are not the kiss and tell kind and you would do well to cultivate them rather than this present one.

IN ANSWER TO "Mrs. K. T.": I beg of you, don't shunt your young daughter around from school to school and camp to camp in her most critical years. A girl needs above all a sense of security, a feeling of being loved, and all that home implies. To do so would be to have her grow up bewildered, with a lack of adjustment to life and with complexes which might hamper her always. You love her, surely. All love means a certain amount of self-sacrifice, so surely you can sacrifice a little of your own pleasures and apparent desire for freedom in favor of a more normal child life for your growing child. There are circumstances, of course, when a child has to have such a life as you have outlined, but from what you tell me there are none such in your case.

IN ANSWER TO "Mrs. A. N. J.": I am afraid under the circumstances you won't be able to get a job just now, although of course, you can talk matters over with the United States Employment, 410 North Broadway. If you are unable to get along, get in touch with one of the social agencies, such as Social Security or the Salvation Army.

IN ANSWER TO "Mollie": My "Guide for the Bride," and "Showers for the Bride" will answer all your questions. Since you aren't a relative it will be all right for you to give the shower. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for these.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

MAKESHIFTS are at best just that. But now in wartime, when all possible saving of essential materials is demanded of every citizen, even letter paper that happened to be marked incorrectly should be used if possible and not wasted. "But how," asks a Mrs. John Visk, "can letter paper be used that was given to me and marked Mary M. Visk and a full address? I am a widow and as such I believe I am permitted still to use my husband's name."

You are right about this last and also it is true that unless you are a professional or business woman or writing to the tax collector, a bank, lawyer or organization where you are listed as Mary M. Visk, a titleless name is not in best taste. But when writing general answer notes, you could write "Mrs. John" in parenthesis below the printed "Mary M. Visk" and in this way use up the paper.

DEAR MRS. POST: Would it be permissible for me to choose our favorite patterns of silver, glassware, china, etc. and then let our relatives and friends know what these are, so that we won't be receiving everything unmatched?

Answer: It is absolutely correct for intimate friends and families to ask your mother what patterns you have chosen. If they ask her, she may show them the lists, on which items that already have been bought for you are crossed off.

DEAR MRS. POST: Is dark blue the only daytime suit coat is considered a suitable substitute for a man's formal day clothes? I mean, when a man is not wearing striped trousers and cutaway to some function at which there are sure to be some men so dressed, is dark blue the best thing for him to wear?

Answer: Oxford gray is even better than navy blue, but few men have oxford gray suits and nearly all have blue. In any case, he wears the darkest suit he has.

DEAR MRS. POST: I have often seen notices sent out by a firm of the death of one of its members. My question is would it be wrong for the family of a man who had hundreds of friends all over the world to send an announcement of his death to these many friends?

Answer: I think it would be entirely proper in this particular case, where the friends are separated widely and therefore could not find the news in their own papers.

Pruning Is Needed in Daily Lives

By Elsie Robinson

WE'VE been pruning the garden. Wow, what a job. At last you come down to what was once a carefully tended garden — or business—and find it's run amuck.

California gardens, for instance. Turn your back on them for a few weeks and you come back to find your carefully trained shrubs swooping up like vegetable giraffes—heliotropes and fuchsias webbed across your window, delicate vines swollen to the proportions of boa constrictors. Lovely mess. So you steel your nerves and hack away without mercy, or else your garden will be strangled by its own denseness.

That isn't just true of gardens. It's true of human beings as well. Of you. And of me.

HEALTHY life isn't just a process of growing. There are all kinds of growth, destructive as well as constructive. Growth that kills as well as growth that gives beauty. So life is a process of pruning as well as growing.

You've seen unpruned lives. They started out with healthy ambition and curiosity. They were all set for orderly and lovely growth. And then something happened. There was some neglect, some hurt, some laziness or stubbornness on their own part. An instead of going ahead they ran amuck. They became solitary and unsocial. They let their private peeves and prejudices multiply until no breath of progress could penetrate their inner darkness. And in that darkness the stagnation grew and grew until they were shut off from the wind and the sunlight and the starlight of normal existence.

We've all of us known times like that. Sometimes it came with grief or poverty, self-pity or rebellion. But always when it came, life went back to the jungle.

IF YOU want a rose to bloom you must cut it back every year, cut out the old wood and give the new shoots a chance. And by the same token if you want a life to bloom you must cut out its dead wood, lay it open to the saving service of conflict and criticism, let the new ideas, the new viewpoints have a chance.

It won't be easy. It may, indeed, be very painful to do this. For, of course, you won't believe that you need pruning. Demoralization is an insidious affair. A garden doesn't announce that it's going to heck . . . neither does a character. A garden is perfectly content to be comfortable in its matted darkness. So is a character. And the longer either a garden or a character remains unpruned, the tougher it will be to tackle,

Maybe you've vaguely wondered why you've lost your interest in life . . . why people don't seek your advice or respect your views. Then take a tip, my friend. Give yourself an honest once-over. Then get out your pruning shears.

Your Stars

WHAT TO EXPECT TOMORROW

Sun in Taurus.

General Tendencies.—Tomorrow is not a good date for travel nor for any changes, dealings with mechanical matters or chemicals. It seems to me that there is a large-scale explosive force hovering about these middle days of the week, and small folk like you and myself would do best to keep out of it. It would be all right for a battle, yes, and the aspects closely resemble those of one of the great Pacific conflicts. But that sort of thing does not fit into everyday life!

If Tomorrow Is Your Birthday.

Older people seem more important than younger friends in your life just now. You may profit from the former, but would be disturbed in some way by the latter. Money matters are fair; I'd say to wait before changing positions or investments. Unless you can manage to gain within two months then let offers of new developments strictly alone. There is an unseen element here which would cause you later trouble in your new location.

Tomorrow's Watchword. — At this time try to make an estimate of your worth to your community. Ask yourself if your immediate circle would be greatly changed, either for better or worse, if you were not there. Do not be too modest about yourself, but look at your influence fairly. "We are here to add what we can do, not to get what we can from, Life," said Sir William Osler. If you can say truthfully that you fulfill this ideal you are doing all that can be expected.

Cottons for Dress-Up Wear

Hope Skillman Demonstrates How This Material Can Rival Silks and Rayons

By Sylvia Stiles

HOW cottons can rival silks and rayons for dress-up wear on summer days was demonstrated in St. Louis last week by Hope Skillman, former St. Louisan, one of the nation's foremost fabric designers. Miss Skillman, who hasn't been back in town since the days of her debut 15 years ago, surprised her old friends who found it hard to realize that this poised fashion authority was the same frivolous teen-ager they had known.

Although she designs other fabrics, cottons are Miss Skillman's specialty and she is so convinced that they deserve more recognition than they usually get that she has made them sufficiently elaborate to be impressive for the most important of occasions. With the help of some of the leading dress designers she presents a collection of town cottons calling for the most handsome of accessories.

In an address before the St. Louis Fashion Group and in a presentation at a retail fashion show, Miss Skillman stressed the beauty of cotton and its practicability for hot weather wear. She advocated, especially, satin striped cottons and those with other satin weave combinations which, she says, are just as complicated to make as any brocade and deserve to be treated with the same deference.

Not only the weave of the cotton and the way a dress is made, but also the accessories that are chosen to go with it influence its distinction, according to this designer. She advises that women wear dressy hats adorned with flowers and veils with their town cottons, and that they choose their footwear carefully. Too many women, she believes, think that they must wear a pair of simple white shoes with a cotton dress and as a result their entire costume has a casual appearance.

"An elegant afternoon creation can be perfected by the right shoes, bag, hat and gloves," Miss Skillman tells us. "We need to solve the accessory problem if beautiful cotton clothes are to be beautifully worn." To prove her point she herself has selected a becoming brown cotton afternoon dress accented with a wide-brimmed brown straw hat, brown gabardine sandals and a matching gabardine bag.

Among her other afternoon suggestions is a novelty plaid cotton dress designed with a high-draped neckline and softly gathered skirt. It calls for black hat and bag to match its black patent leather belt. A satin-striped town dress, suitable for any daytime occasion, features a full peplum and looks best with big, dark hat and dark shoes. Strictly for business wear in town is a cord-striped cotton to take the place of the once-popular seersucker. The jacket fastens with jaunty bows instead of the usual buttons and the skirt has a fly-front.

Although satin weaves do much to give Miss Skillman's cottons a dressy appearance, they contribute to informal clothes, too. One of her materials which has a very wide satin stripe is used for a simple, one-piece frock with wide-shoulder line, no sleeves and a high round neckline. Some play dresses with matching shorts also are made from her novelty cottons, the stripes going in several directions to add striking emphasis to a color scheme.

Miss Skillman, who makes her headquarters in New York and owns her own fabric company, isn't going to be satisfied to convince women that cottons are the perfect answer to dress-up demands during the summer months. She's thinking up ideas for winter cottons, too. The next time she returns to the old home town she'll be armed with dark plaids for daytime and glistening evening stripes for the new crop of debutantes to wear.

To Your Good Health

PROPER elimination of the impurities of the body which is accomplished through the intestinal and urinary tract is of vital importance in the maintenance of good health. These two sewer systems must not be allowed to become sluggish for if they do, a train of symptoms will develop that are unmistakably toxic in character—headache, feeling of lassitude, lowered resistance, dizziness, restless nights, constipation, poor elimination of kidneys and a varied symptom-complex will ensue, and if allowed to progress may develop into a serious illness.

Not only does poor elimination invite trouble along the intestinal and urinary tract but it paves the way for other diseases to attack you. This is made probable by the toxic condition present which in time lowers your resistance for bacterial invasion, and thus makes you an easy prey to a host of maladies. Our bodies have many bacteria present but a good physical setup is bacteria-resistant. Good elimination is made possible by proper eating and exercise and the care of your digestive system, and the kidneys by the systematic drinking of water. Both of these important eliminative organs are distressingly neglected.

Proper eating of anticonstipating foods, slow mastication of the food, regular eating hours, and avoidance of over-indulgence of food coupled with exercise of some kind will create proper elimination of the intestinal tract. Disregard of the above rule will tend to induce improper elimination and thus invite sluggish and irregular emptying of the impurities directed toward the intestinal gateway. Most people fail to realize the necessity of water drinking. This is no doubt due to their lack of knowledge as to the function of the kidneys.

Normal kidneys may behave under too little water, but in turn may precipitate trouble at some future time. Then again if the kidneys are in trouble, flushing with water is essential. After all the kidneys carry off the impurities from the blood and it is most important that you keep them well emptied at all times. There are no doubt countless numbers of people that are poor water drinkers and still have good kidneys, but there are countless others that have been made an easy prey for infection by such a practice.

Appreciation of the fact that good elimination is essential should make one strive to aid the intestinal tract and kidneys by proper exercise and fluids. As in most everything you do there is a happy-medium—too much or too little is wrong.

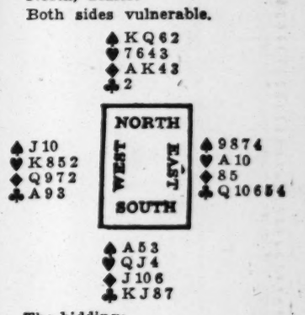
Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

WHEN a player performs as brilliantly as South did in today's deal, he earns not only points but applause.

North, dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.



The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	Pass	2 no-trump	Pass
3 no-trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

West, determined to preserve his honors in hearts, diamonds and clubs, opened the spade jack. The queen won, and East signalled for a continuation by playing the nine—a signal that South duly noted. A heart was led from dummy; East ducked, and the queen went to West's king.

West now led the spade 10; South won in his own hand and led the diamond 10 through West, who refused to cover because he was uncertain about who held the diamond jack. The 10 holding the trick, South now led the heart jack. East won and shifted to his fourth highest club. After some thought declarer put in the jack, and West won with the ace.

At this point a club return would have settled South's hash, but not knowing just what the club situation was, West could not be severely criticized for leading the heart five, to knock out South's marked nine.

Actually, however, South turned this lead to excellent advantage. East discarded a low club on the trick, and South was sure that he had the entire situation sized up accurately. He was positive that neither spades nor diamonds would break; but he was prepared to take care of that. He led to the spade king, forcing a club discard from West, cashed the diamond king (to remove East's last diamond), then gave East a spade trick. The forced club return, won by South, squeezed West so that he had to give up either his heart or his diamond stopper.
